BANKERS WARN BRITAIN TO BAR NEW ELECTION

Government Told Change Would Bring Perilous Drop in Pound.

MACDONALD ADVISED TO REIGN TWO YEARS

Bank of England Governors Visit Commons to Give Nation Advice.

London, Sept. 18 (Friday) (A.P.). The London Daily Mail this morning says the board of governors of the Bank of England have taken the "unprecedented step" of visiting the House of Commons to inform the prime minister that the national government must remain in power at least two years if a heavy fall in exchange is to be avoided.

The Mail for several days has been conducting an energetic campaign against the Conservative proposals for an early general election. Its story this morning was published under heavy headlines.

"The affairs of the nation reached a position of extreme gravity Thursday," it said. "Information was conveyed to the government from the city (London's financial centers) that a precarious exchange situation exists • • • and it would appear on reports thus conveyed to the government that the recent unrest in the fleet had a profound effect on British credit, and that the time has come when all other considerations save those of national existence must be put aside."

Definite Announcement Asked.

The board of governors of the bank, the paper said, asked the government to make a definite announcement that there would be no general election, and that the government remain in power for its full possible term of two years. It said that the board gave Prime Minister MacDonald "an alarming estimate" of the amount of fall in exchange which would follow any announcement that an election had been decided upon.

The Mail added that the cabinet met last night until a late hour and that Prime Minister MacDonald asked the members to come to a definite decision for or against an election.

The government warned British sailors tonight that further insubordination would be dealt with severely, but indicated that it would not prosecute seamen who paralyzed the Atlantic fleet for three days protesting against wage cuts.

Chamberlain Is Cheered.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, loudly cheered by all sections of the House of Commons, declared, "The past is past and it is to the interest of every one in and out of the navy to forget."

"I am not looking back," the first lord of the admiralty said, "I am

Pinchot Will Call Session on Relief

Governor Cites Failure of Hoover to Answer Term Request.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Gov. Gifford Pinchot announced today the Pennsylvania Legislature would be called into special session before the end of the year to act on the unemployment situation.

"I have asked for Federal relief for unemployment," the governor said, "and I have urged upon the national administration the calling of an extra session of Congress to provide that relief in time. My demand has apparently gone unheeded. Nevertheless, I maintain as firmly as ever that Federal aid is indispensable to meet the need in full."

Gov. Pinchot said he would recommend that the Legislature authorize issuance of long-term bonds, to be guaranteed, "contingent upon the adoption of a validating constitutional amendment" by the Commonwealth.

Spain to Rewrite Article of Law

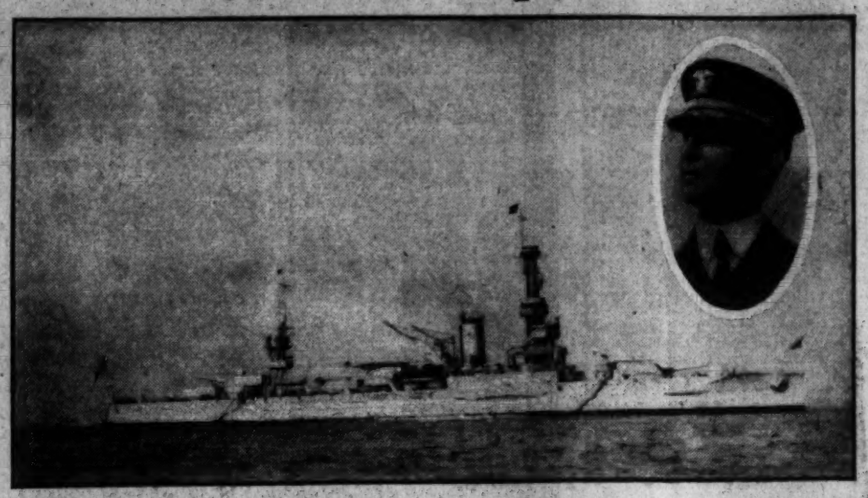
Portion Declaring Republic of Workers Offensive to Ministry.

Madrid, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The Chamber of Deputies voted by acclamation tonight to rewrite the entire first article of the proposed constitution, which contains the declaration that "Spain is a liberal, democratic republic of workers."

The Socialist bloc scored a victory last night by forcing through an amendment containing the phrase over the objections of the more conservative elements. Foreign Minister Alejandro Lerroux and his followers threatened to block future Socialist activities in congress unless the article was rewritten.

It is believed the rewritten article will omit the word "workers" or broaden the definition to include all classes.

President Will Sail on Battleship To Yorktown Sesquicentennial



The U. S. S. Arkansas, 19-year-old battleship, which will transport President Hoover and an official party to Yorktown, Va., where, on October 19, the President is to make a speech commemorating the surrender of Lord Cornwallis, 150 years ago. The Arkansas is the flagship of Rear Admiral Claude C. Bloch, shown in inset.

KANE KILLED WIFE, CORONER CHARGES

Officers Trace Letter From Woman Telling Him to Get Rid of Mate.

Hampton, Va., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The drowning of Mrs. Jenny Graham Kane in Chesapeake Bay last Friday was termed an act of premeditated murder in the official verdict today of Coroner George K. Vanderslice, which held her husband, Prof. Elisha Kent Kane, responsible.

The verdict was rendered only a few hours after the coroner, in opposing bail for Prof. Kane, said he knew of one letter and had possession of another written to Kane by a Betty Dodd, which he believed would establish a motive for homicide. The letter not in possession of officers, he said, mentioned getting rid of Mrs. Kane.

Judge C. Vernon Sprattley, before whom the application for bail was filed, delayed his decision until tomorrow morning.

Later this afternoon Coroner Vanderslice made public the letter in his possession, which bore the salutation "Dear Sashy" and asked "Do you still have any dreams as my ever being a part of your life?"

The coroner said the envelope was addressed to "Mr. E. K. Kane, University of Tennessee, Box 4104, Knoxville, Tenn.," and was forwarded to Hilton Village. The Kanes were staying with Mrs. Kane's parents in Hilton Village at the time of the drowning.

The coroner said the letter was mailed from the steamer America September 1. The missing letter, he said, was signed "E. H. D." He thought the woman writer was from New York. On the back of the envelope was the wording: "E. H. D., 150 Riverside drive, New York."

The official verdict was brief, saying:

"Mrs. Jenny Graham Kane came to her death about 11 o'clock a. m. September 11 at Grand View Beach from drowning at the hands of her husband, Elisha Kent Kane, a premeditated murder."

Dr. Evan O'Neill Kane, 71-year-old father of the young University of Tennessee professor, tonight said he was confident that the letters would not be of value as evidence in any court.

Prof. Kane, neatly attired, attended the hearings on his application for bail today when his attorneys asserted that he was being unjustly deprived of his liberty during the long inquest, which has lasted through four long sessions in as many days.

Immediately after the coroner's verdict was announced Commonwealth's Attorney Roland Cocke said he would seek a preliminary hearing

Dowager Queen Marie May Have Operation

Bucharest, Roumania, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Dowager Queen Marie, who has been seriously ill since the marriage of Princess Ileana, is reported to be gaining strength, but may have to submit to radium treatments or an operation.

Her physicians have held consultations as to which is the better course.

Executive to Speak and See Debated Cornwallis Fall.

President Herbert Hoover again is going to travel on an American battleship—this time on the U. S. S. Arkansas, flagship of the training squadron of the scouting force, United States fleet. The Arkansas, it was announced at the White House yesterday, will transport the President to Yorktown, Va., where on October 19, he is to make the principal speech in connection with the 150th anniversary of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis.

President Hoover, accompanied by an official party, the members of which are yet to be announced, and a limited number of reporters and cameramen, will board the Arkansas at Annapolis, Md., on Saturday, October 17.

From Annapolis, the battleship will steam out of Chesapeake Bay and loaf around off the Virginia Capes. Late Sunday night it will start for Yorktown. Anchor will be dropped in the York River on Monday morning, and the President and his party will go ashore in small boats. The return trip to Annapolis will be started the same day.

It is expected a tremendous crowd will attend the exercises at Yorktown, and considerable traffic congestion seems inevitable. By traveling to the scene on the Arkansas, the President will escape this.

President Hoover is scheduled to arrive at the Yorktown battlefield at 11 o'clock. He will make his speech shortly thereafter.

After luncheon, he will witness a reenactment of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis in 1781. For weeks, a controversy raged as to whether this tableau should be staged, some contending that it would be offensive to the British. Chided for such timidity by the British themselves and by

Salaries Restored By Film Producer

New York, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Increasing sales and a "general feeling of confidence in the future" today prompted Carl Laemmle, president, to abolish salary cuts of employes of Universal Pictures Corporation.

Mr. Laemmle, in announcing the return to previous standards, said he no longer saw the necessity to continue the wage reductions initiated last May.

In a letter to employes Mr. Laemmle said:

"After a careful study of the general business situation and Universal's expanding business, I have decided to abolish our former salary reduction and to pay you, beginning with the next pay day, on the basis of your former salary.

"I know this will be joyous news to you and I assure you it takes a load off my mind."

Man Admits Killing Police Chief Over Traffic Ticket

Bernardsville, N. J., Sept. 17 (U.P.). Edward N. Kettenring, 55-year-old father of two children, confessed today that he shot and killed Police Chief Charles B. Cavanaugh, because Cavanaugh gave his wife a summons in a minor traffic violation.

Kettenring, after he had dictated his confession, was arraigned before Recorder Arthur Palmer on a charge of first degree murder. He was held in the Somerset County jail without bail.

Cavanaugh, who was young and popular and who had led a fearless crusade against crime in Bernardsville, was shot to death the morning of September 8 as he returned to his home from a nearby fire.

The assassin concealed himself in a bed of flowers in Cavanaugh's front yard and after firing the shots, disappeared without being seen.

According to Prosecutor Clarkson Cranmer, Cavanaugh and Kettenring engaged in a lively argument after the traffic violation incident. Mrs. Kettenring had been one of two drivers involved in an inconsequential automobile accident for which Chief Cavanaugh gave her a ticket.

The evening of the same day Kettenring and Cavanaugh met and Kettenring, according to the prosecutor, gave the police chief a tongue-lashing.

Before daylight the next morning a fire broke out in the home of Samuel Pastrich, who lives near both Cavanaugh and Kettenring.

Kettenring, according to Cranmer, joined a crowd watching the fire and soon saw the police chief come from his home. He slipped away from the crowd, hid in the bed of flowers and waited for Cavanaugh to return to his home. He then shot the police chief and fled, the prosecutor said.

INDICTMENTS NEAR IN YACHT DROWNING

New York, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—A picture of the tragic events of a week ago aboard the cruiser Penguin, from which Benjamin P. Collings was thrown alive into a watery grave, tonight was projecting itself into the mind of the prosecutor of Suffolk County with such clarity that he said he expected it to lead to indictments.

Meanwhile, the victim, whose trussed-up and battered body washed ashore yesterday, was cremated. Examination of his lungs at the direction of District Attorney Alexander Blue established the possibly very important fact that Collings was not dead when his slayer or slayers shoved him overboard.

"Blue later announced he had engaged Felix di Martini, New York private detective, who appeared as an investigator for the defense in the Hall-Mills trial in which Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and two of her brothers were acquitted of the murder of her husband and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

"The introduction of Di Martini into this case," said Blue, "should be of great assistance."

Coroner William B. Gibson subpenaed eight persons, including Herbert Collings, brother of the slain man, to appear at an inquest tomorrow morning.

The district attorney planned to examine virtually every one associated with the case with the exception of the slain man's widow, whose "fantastic" story of the tragedy he says he has found hard to believe.

"I can not examine her before the coroner," the prosecutor said. "She has certain rights which must be protected."

He planned—but did not explain why—to omit questioning Barbara

Capital Girl Saved From Sea by Youth

Ocean City, Md., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Plunging into the ocean surf fully clothed, Lemuel H. Timmons, 17-year-old Ocean City youth, swam 200 yards through a choppy sea to rescue Miss Irene Friel, 22, of Washington, D. C., from drowning here today.

Miss Friel, guest at a local hotel, was caught in a strong offshore current while bathing and was swept seaward. Hearing her cries for help, Timmons went to her rescue. Heavy seas battered the youth as he strove to reach Miss Friel. After a battle he brought her ashore. She was unconscious and Dr. Clifford E. Schott worked for more than an hour before she revived.

Miss Friel, who is a nurse, lives in the Marquette Apartments, at 2115 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. She is employed in the offices of Drs. Conklin and Ong, in the Washington Medical Building.

Sze Again to Head Legation of China

Nanking, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Authoritative sources disclosed today that Alfred Sze, Chinese Minister to Great Britain, was slated to return to become Chinese Minister to the United States, succeeding Dr. C. C. Wu, who resigned recently and joined the insurgent government at Canton.

It was said that Nationalist government officials had tried to persuade W. W. Yen, erstwhile premier of China under the Peking regime, to accept the Washington post, but that Yen insisted upon retiring permanently from public life.

It is understood that Nanking officials already have asked Washington's approval of Sze.

BISHOP CANNON TO WAGE FIGHT ON ROOSEVELT

TO SUPPORT HOOVER IF WET IS SELECTED

New York, Sept. 17 (U.P.).—Bishop James Cannon, jr., will oppose the presidential boom of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt as determinedly as he fought Alfred E. Smith's candidacy in 1928, he announced tonight on his arrival from Europe aboard the line Mauretania.

The Virginia Methodist leader, whose activities in the last campaign are still under investigation by a congressional committee, declared that Gov. Roosevelt's prohibition views have made his candidacy, like former Gov. Smith's, unacceptable to the country's dry forces.

He will support President Hoover for reelection if the Democrats nominate a wet, he asserted, but prefers to see the Democrats put up William G. McAdoo, who, he said, he was sure could be elected.

Health Greatly Improved.

Ruddy, and greatly improved in health from his three months' stay in Europe, Bishop Cannon received newspapermen cheerfully in his modest quarters aboard the line. He was traveling tourist third class and his cabin mates were two college boys.

The bishop declined to talk at length on politics or of his plans for the presidential campaign next year, aside from saying that he would oppose anyone who was not wholeheartedly in favor of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act.

During his visit abroad he kept in touch with the activities of Senator Gerald P. Nye's campaign funds committee which, over his protest, has resumed its inquiry into his anti-Smith political activities.

Fails to Trace Funds.

Lately the committee has sought, without complete success, to trace thousands of dollars which were turned over to Bishop Cannon to organize the Southern drys against Smith.

"I didn't divert one penny of that money to my personal use," Bishop Cannon declared emphatically. "I would welcome a grand jury investigation to show that I am right, but I haven't been able to get one."

Bishop Cannon said he was willing to go before the Nye committee for further questioning, but refuse to speak further of the campaign fund matters until then.

Soviet Timber Officials On Trial for Big Losses

Moscow, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—A. P. Kanutin, head of Sevvostles, one of the largest Soviet timber trusts, was on trial with eight fellow officials of the trust in the Soviet supreme court today on charges of having caused a heavy loss to his organization through general mismanagement.

The trust, whose operations cover 22,000,000 acres and which employs 126,000 workers, is alleged to have lost more than 30,000,000 rubles by the close of the year 1929-1930 as a result of mismanagement.

Graf Starts Trip To South America

Friedrichshafen, Germany (Friday), Sept. 18 (A.P.).—The Graf Zeppelin, giant German dirigible, took off at 1:15 a. m. (7:15 p. m., E. S. T.) Thursday on a nonstop flight to Pernambuco, Brazil.

Fifty-three persons are making the journey, including passengers and crew. Capt. Ernst Lehmann is the pilot. Dr. Hugo Eckener is slated to attend the international conference at Innsbruck to consider a polar flight in 1932.

There are two Americans on the passenger list of ten, Harold Knight, of New York, and James McVittie, of Chicago. The trip is being made chiefly to carry mail and freight to South America. Because of the rush of goods to Friedrichshafen to be shipped on this journey freight rates have been reduced 50 per cent.

Atlanta Mayor Ousted As Bible Class Tutor

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The mayor of Atlanta has been ousted as teacher of the James L. Key Bible Class of Grace Methodist Episcopal Church here because he refused to stop criticizing the prohibition law. The class was named for the mayor when it was organized nine years ago. It has grown in membership from about 30 to approximately 250.

Sharp criticism was directed at the mayor because of his criticisms of prohibition during the recent American mayors' tour of France, but on his return home, members of his Bible class were prominent in the group which received him.

MAYFLOWER BONDS BRING FRAUD CHARGE

Special to The Washington Post.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 17.—Daniel J. O'Brien, president of the Mayflower Hotel Co., Washington, D. C., and six other executives were indicted today by a special Federal grand jury on charges of misusing the mails. The bills were returned in connection with the sale of second-mortgage bonds which were secured by the hotel company.

The six men named with O'Brien, all said to be officers and stockholders of the American Bond & Mortgage Co., of Chicago, are William J. Moore, president; Charles B. Moore, vice president; Charles C. Moore, vice president; Harold A. Moore, treasurer; Kenneth W. Moore, secretary and general sales manager, and Hayden W. Ward, vice president. They are residents of New York and Chicago.

Nine counts are contained in the indictments, charging misuse of the mails and fraud. The defendants were placed under $10,000 bond and bench warrants issued for their arrest.

According to the indictment, the Mayflower Hotel in March, 1928, was refinanced by a first and refunding mortgage of $7,500,000 and a second mortgage of $2,400,000.

"The defendants well knew the fact to be that the Mayflower Hotel was, and from its beginning had been, a losing venture and would produce no profits with which to pay second mortgage bonds at maturity or at any other time," the indictment charges.

Testimony was given to the grand jury by western Pennsylvania residents who bought the hotel's second mortgage bonds.

Louis T. Lobel and other agents of the Department of Justice conducted the investigation which resulted in today's indictments. Although several of the defendants have been named in other indictments returned in Boston and New York, today's action was the first to involve O'Brien. He has continued in his duties as manager of the Mayflower since the hotel went into receivership several months ago.

The American Bond & Mortgage Co. has engaged in "one of the most

American Missionary, Attacked by Lion, Dies

Cape Town, Union of South Africa, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The Rev. Myron Taylor, a member of a mission operated by the American Brethren in Christ, died today at Choma after a furious struggle with a wounded lion.

The beast had escaped from a trap and the missionary fired at it three times with his rifle, but missed. The lion charged and Taylor's gun jammed. His native crew fled and the lion leaped upon the missionary.

POLICE BEATING QUIZ IS HALTED ABRUPTLY

Indications Are That Only Few Underlings on Force May Be Indicted.

The parade of witnesses in cases of alleged police brutality and third degree practices halted abruptly late yesterday afternoon with every indication that little will be done beyond the possible indictment of a few underlings on the force, unless the grand jury itself decides to push affairs to a more definite conclusion.

The Department of Justice, which was given the task of uncovering the facts behind complaints that prisoners had been savagely attacked in police precincts, declared that its work was finished and the department only had to make a voluminous report to the District Commissioners before the investigation was officially marked "closed."

United States Attorney Leo A. Rover said the jury had been presented every case of alleged brutality which could be brought before it with any hope of court action, and that nothing was left for his office to do in the affair. While Mr. Rover declined to state definitely how many cases had been considered by the jury, it is strongly indicated that out of the 50 instances of reported brutal practices by police, only 13 were actually made into jury presentments Wednesday and yesterday.

Mr. Rover said members of the jury had made no intimation that a special report would be made on the third degree investigation, or that additional witnesses, who might throw some light on whether high police officials knew of, or sanctioned brutal practices, would be called.

The jury has a general knowledge of the approximately 47 remaining cases of police methods which were not actually presented to it, Mr. Rover said, but whether it would call witnesses in these instances to gain a clearer picture of the situation was absolutely up to the jury itself. There was no indication yesterday that any such action would be taken, he said.

At any rate, all action appears to be halted until next Wednesday when indictments—if any—are returned. The jury at that time will return its regular routine indictments and any assault charges against police it may make.

The jury considered five cases Wednesday, hearing approximately 35 witnesses. It returned to its task yesterday with approximately 65 witnesses left to be called in the re-

Spanish Mob Dispersed After Communist Parade

Saragossa, Spain, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—One man was killed and several wounded in Malon today when a mob of unemployed fought with the civil guard.

The guard had attempted to disperse a parade whose ranks cheered for communism and shouted insults to the Spanish government.

Mother and Infant Drown On Woman's Birthday Trip

Members of the Fire Department Rescue Squad worked over Mrs. Wimbley's body for more than an hour in an attempt to revive her, while her husband, exhausted from efforts to save his wife and stepchild, looked on.

The husband, H. C. Wimbley, 32-year-old war veteran and former real estate salesman, of 305 C street northwest, brought his wife and baby to Washington only two days before, to celebrate her birthday here.

Mr. Wimbley has been unemployed for about two months, and told his wife he was without funds to give her a birthday present. She suggested a fishing trip on the canal, instead, and he consented.

Accompanied by a friend, John Crowder, 24, of 305 C street northwest, they had rented a canoe at Capper's Boathouse, near Chain Bridge, at noon, and for more than two hours carried out the plan.

Mrs. Wimbley, who could not swim, was alone in the canoe with her child against the advice of her husband, who warned her the light craft would easily capsize, when the accident occurred. Hearing a dog barking between the canal and the river, he said, he went to investigate, leaving his wife and stepchild on the bank. Mr. Crowder, also inquisitive about the barking dog, followed him a few steps.

Mr. Wimbley said he returned just in time to see his wife and the stepchild in the canoe in midstream.

COUPLE FOUND DEAD WITH BOY IN BEDCHAMBER

HUNGRY CAT POINTS TRAIL FOR NEIGHBORS

Three members of a family—father, mother and 14-year-old son—were found dead yesterday afternoon in a gas-filled bedroom on the second floor of their home at 4824 Forty-first street northwest, in what police term a triple suicide pact.

Elaborate preparations were made before Capt. Serge N. Petrenko, associate mechanical engineer at the United States Bureau of Standards, and his wife, Mary, a Russian translator at the Department of Agriculture, went to the room of their son, Vadim to await death by asphyxiation. It is believed the boy was asleep when his parents completed their plans for the suicide.

From a note found in an adjoining room it was learned that the tragedy was enacted some time Tuesday. Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt said the trio had been dead for at least two days.

The note, dated September 15, read as follows: "I, S. N. Petrenko, did it with the consent of my wife. The reason for my act does not concern the Police Department. Please do not ask my children. We are taking with us our little boy to save him from this cruel world. Please notify immediately A. Krynitsky, Bureau of Standards." It was signed S. N. Petrenko.

This note, addressed to police, and four others were discovered in nearby room. The other notes, sealed, were not opened. One addressed to "Our daughter, Miss Adriadna Petrenko," another to Sr. Petrenko, jr., a son, and two more written in Russian.

The other two children, Adriadna, 18 years old, and Serge, jr., 17 years old, probably escaped the fate of their small brother only because they were away from home visiting friends at North Beach, Md.

The tragedy was discovered by neighbors shortly after 2 o'clock. Residents across the street said that Mr. Petrenko was on his vacation and they thought he had taken his family to the seashore. A small kitten belonging to the family wandered about the neighborhood apparently in search of food. A strong odor of gas was detected by a friend who went to the rear of the Petrenko home to feed the kitten.

Warning on Stairway.

Police were summoned and Patrolman O. G. Clay, of the Fourteenth Precinct, forced open the front door.

On the stairs leading to the second floor was a note written in red pencil. It read: "Please do not light matches."

The strong gas fumes made it impossible for police to make their way to the second floor until a number of windows had been opened.

Two large rubber tubes running up the stairway were traced to the kitchen, where they were fastened to the open valves of a gas stove.

The bodies were found in a rear room on the second floor. Young Petrenko, clad in pajama trousers, was lying on a bed. One end of the rubber tube was placed under his head.

Boy Apparently Asleep.

Clasped arm in arm, Capt. and Mrs. Petrenko were lying on a mattress on the floor. The end of the other tube was between them. Mrs. Petrenko wore a house dress while her husband was in his underclothes. The tubes entered the room through two holes bored in the bottom of the door.

Vadin, a first-year student at Western High School, had apparently retired. A lamp was burning beside his bed, indicating he had probably read himself to sleep. Although old enough to understand his parent's actions, Coroner Nevitt expressed doubt that the boy was aware of the suicide pact. Rather than tell him, it is believed, his parents waited until he was asleep, then went to his room and calmly awaited death.

That the couple had planned the suicide for some time was evident by

TEXANS IN CONFLICT ON REDUCING COTTON

Long Plan Beaten, Leaders Seek Agreement on Some Substitute.

Austin, Tex., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—After decisively rejecting the plan of Gov. Huey P. Long of Louisiana, advocate of no cotton planting in 1932, Texas legislators tonight were in disagreement over provisions of suggested curtailment measures.

Compromise steps were being taken, however, and a free conference committee was expected to be named tomorrow to draft a bill upon which both the House and Senate would agree.

The House late today passed a curtailment bill which would restrict cotton planting to one-third of the cultivated area. The vote was 86 to 32.

A coalition Senate bill was amended to restrict planting to one-fourth the land in cultivation. The Senate measure, however, has not been subjected to a final vote.

That body voted 21 to 9 against an amendment to the coalition bill which would have substituted prohibition of cotton planting to the provision for a limitation to one-fourth the cultivated area. Passage of the reduction measure was regarded as certain. The House yesterday killed the cotton prohibition plan, 92 to 38.

The Louisiana Governor's defeat in Texas was somewhat tempered by the South Carolina Senate's action today in approving a bill to prohibit cotton growing in that State in 1932. The bill was sent to the South Carolina House and that body passed it on second reading. It must come up for a third and final reading.

Gov. Long announced at Baton Rouge his refusal to declare void the Louisiana law prohibiting cotton growing next year, explaining he wished Louisiana to "stand fast" in the event other States still might adopt the cotton prohibition plan.

The Louisiana executive explained that he has until January 15, 1932, to repeal the statute if other cotton States do not enact similar legislation. Previously Gov. Long had accepted the defeat of his program in Texas, the largest cotton-growing State, as meaning the death of the no-cotton plan.

Man Held in Auto Death After Jury Frees Him

Although a coroner's jury last night exonerated him of blame in the death of Irene Diggs, colored, of Marlboro, in an auto accident, nevertheless Milton Wimsor, also of Marlboro, is being held for action of the grand jury on a manslaughter warrant.

Wimsor was ordered held by State's Attorney Alan Bowie after the jury returned a verdict of unavoidable accident. He is now free on bond of $1,000, which he posted after the crash Wednesday night. Testimony at the inquest showed that Wimsor's auto struck the woman on a turn just inside the limits of the court house town.

Financier Reveals Plot at Extortion

Nashville Man Says Note Asked $20,000 on Threat to Bomb Home.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—kAn extortion plot against Leslie Cheek, Nashville financier, in which threats were made that his home would be bombed and relatives would be injured unless he paid over $20,000, was disclosed by members of his family today.

The plot had its beginning six months ago, when arrows within circles, all done in red paint, were found on the stone posts at the entrance to the Cheek estate. Ten days ago, the family dded, Cheek received a letter saying the writers were those who placed the markings on the posts and steps. Fuor days later the second letter came, demanding $20,000. Cheek was instructed to draw the money from a bank at 11:30 a. m., September 14, and deposit it at an old tree.

The instructions were complied with, but no one has approached the hiding place, members of the family disclosed.

Royce Presented Mackay Air Medal

(Associated Press.)

Maj. Ralph Royce, of Hancock, Mich., yesterday was presented the Mackay medal for the most meritorious flight made by an Army officer during 1930.

The presentation was made by F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War for Air. Maj. Royce's name will be inscribed on the Mackay trophy, a huge silver cup offered in 1912 by Clarence H. Mackay.

The prize winning achievement was a midwinter trip by the first pursuit group from Selfridge Field, Mich., to Spokane, Wash., and return in January, 1930, developing valuable information concerning the use of planes under severe winter conditions.

TYPOGRAPHICAL MEN NAME LONG BEACH

California City Wins Session for 1932 Over Offer by Washington.

Boston, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The International Typographical Union today voted to hold its 1932 convention at Long Beach, Calif., choosing the Pacific Coast city in a second vote after a three-cornered deadlock in which Washington, D. C., led Long Beach and Asheville, N. C., but lacked the necessary majority.

The convention delegates approved, after some discussion, the resolution committee's adverse report on a resolution which would empower the executive council and president to abrogate union agreements on any or all newspapers of a chain which had a strike or lockout at any of its units.

In response to a charge that no organizaton efforts are being made in many sections of the country, President Charles P. Howard said assistance of the general body never was refused any local union that was willing to initiate the organization work and willing to give assistance to the general officer sent to aid them. He said the general body's activities could be helped greatly if local unions would make the preliminary surveys necessary before any effective organization work could be done.

Resolutions calling for an investigation into the funds invested by the union and the changing of investments from securities to real estate were rejected after much discussion.

Slain Man's Widow Pleads Not Guilty

Mrs. Olga Ziegler's Alleged Aid in Crime Also Enters Denial.

Hackensack, N. J., Sept. 17 (A.P.). Calm and apparently unconcerned, Mrs. Olga Ziegler today pleaded not guilty to the charge of murder of her husband, while George Flanard, her alleged partner in the crime, fidgeted and smiled nervously in entering the same plea. Judge J. Wallace Leyden ordered both held without bail for the action of the grand jury.

Flanard, 21-year-old former employe of Ziegler, confessed, police said, to having shot and killed Ziegler from ambush. Ziegler was insured for $15,500, with his wife named as the beneficiary. He had been married 16 years.

Defense attorneys sought unsuccessfully to have the prosecutor's detective, Lieut. Nathan Allyn, reveal details of the death-plot confessions which the 38-year-old widow and Flanard reputedly signed.

Canada Will Ship Gold To Cut Fund Discount

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—In an effort to redeem Canadian currency, which has been at a discount in New York for the last few days, a shipment of gold will leave the country today or tomorrow, it was learned tonight.

Control of Canadian currency rests with the banks which will ship the gold, understood to be worth about $1,000,000. The narrowness of the world market was blamed here for the discount rate.

Union Man Advised For Tariff Board

Woll Has Asked Hoover to Name Ornburn to Dennis Vacancy.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover has been asked by Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, to appoint I. M. Ornburn, of Connecticut, head of the Cigarmakers' International Union, to the Tariff Commission succeeding the late Alfred P. Dennis, of Maryland. No action has been announced.

John B. Colpoys, a leader in local unions, said Woll laid the suggestion before the President on the basis of the Hawley-Smoot tariff act's title as a measure "to protect American labor," and directly after the new act went into effect a year ago. He submitted the names of three Democrats and as many Republicans.

MOTHER AND INFANT, IN CANOE, DROWNED

Mrs. Wimbley stood up to cast her fishing pole, he said, and the boat went over. Crowder leaped into the canal with his clothes on, and the husband, pausing only to strip off his coat and shoes, followed.

The husband said he dived beneath his wife's large white panama hat as it came to the surface, missed her body and, as he came up, saw her rise to the surface about 10 feet away, but sinking immediately. Neither he nor Mr. Crowder saw the baby come up at all.

A few minutes later Mr. Crowder returned to shore and ran for help. The husband pulled the canoe ashore, emptied the water out of it and resumed the search. Curiosity impelled him to pull up the fishing pole, one end of which was projecting above the surface. He felt a weight at the other end. It was his wife, clutching the pole in a death grasp.

Delay in Arrival.

Unaided, he dragged her ashore and had begun efforts to revive her when Mr. Crowder returned. Due to a misunderstanding over the telephone, police and fire rescue apparatus first went to the foot of Reservoir road, about 2 miles below, and were late in arriving.

While police and firemen dragged the canal for the child's body, the rescue squad worked over Mrs. Wimbley until Dr. J. Rogers Young, of Casualty Hospital, arrived and pronounced her dead.

Mr. Wimbley, the dead woman's second husband, was married to her in Atlanta, Ga., a year ago. Her first husband died in an accident at Sparrows Point, Md., about three years ago. Since Mr. Wimbley has been out of work his wife made her home with her father at Dendron, Va.

Insisted on Trip.

Mr. Wimbley said he recently returned to Washington to "settle a veteran's bonus claim" and an insurance claim for a stolen car after visiting his father in Oklahoma. The first of the week he drove to Dendron to see his wife and brought her back with him Wednesday.

"She said she wanted to be here on her birthday," he said.

He said he was with the Sixth Regiment of Marines overseas during the war.

As it appeared cloudy yesterday morning, he told Mrs. Wimbley they had better not go up the river, but she had insisted, he told police.

"Despite the fact that she couldn't swim, she seemed to have no idea how dangerous it was in the canoe. Once or twice when I was in it she rocked it a little to make the baby laugh. I have no idea why she went out alone."

The gold wrist watch on Mrs. Wimbley's arm stopped at 2:20 p. m.

Indian Is Selected For Field Service

(Associated Press.)

Henry Roe Cloud, full-blooded Winnebago Indian, yesterday became field representative in the Indian Service, the first of his race to occupy a prominent position in this office. Roe Cloud is expected to furnish the already reorganized Indian office here with the point of view of his people on current problems.

He has behind him a considerable career as an educator and helped to draft a survey on Indian administration produced in 1926 and 1927 by the Brookings Institution upon which the reorganization was based. His first assignment will be to visit Indian schools and implant in their executives something of the racial outlook.

He was for sixteen years head of the American Indian Institute in Wichita, Kans., which he founded as a nonsectarian school for Indian boys. Roe Cloud began his education in the Government Indian School and continued through Yale, where he took both bachelor's and master's degrees, completing his studies at Oberlin and Auburn.

WHEELER AND BYRNS FOR BACHARACH TAX

(Associated Press.)

The proposal to meet the Treasury deficit by increased taxes on large incomes was indorsed yesterday by Senator Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, and Representative Byrns (Democrat), Tennessee.

The plan, put forward recently by Representative Bacharach (Republican), New Jersey, thus far has had more advocates among the scattering congressmen on Capitol Hill than the general sales tax urged by Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania.

Both Wheeler and Byrns disapproved the Reed plan. Wheeler said it would put an additional burden on persons with small incomes. Byrns' comment was similar.

The Tennesseean, ranking Democrat on the last House appropriations committee, said he did not favor a general tax revision, but thought levies should be increased enough to take care of current governmental operating expenses.

He criticized recent issues by the Treasury of $1,600,000,000 and said it was "economically unsound and politically immoral" to make future generations pay for "present extravagance."

Senator Wheeler, who arrived in Washington today after a trip through the South and Northwest, said he believed additional taxes were necessary not only to meet the deficit, but to provide relief for the unemployed and in drought areas.

Virginia U. Officers Present Budget Report

Charlottesville, Va., Sept. 17 (A.P.). University of Virginia officials presented their reports for capital outlay before the governor's advisory commission on the budget today, although warned in advance that the condition of the treasury is such that their extensive building program is doomed for at leats two years.

In addition to asking for $1,170,000 for building purposes, the university requetsed $366,800 for operating purposes for the bicentum, $178,900 in 1931 and $207,900 for 1932. Gov. Pollard indicated that while a large percentage of the operating expense requested muts be provided, the State's financial condition would make the building program impossible.

Film Appearance Seen For Aimee McPherson

Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 17 (A.P.). Billie Dove, film actress, writing in the Evening Express today, said that Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton and her new husband, David H. Hutton, soon will enter motion pictures.

The evangelist and her husband, who is a singer at Angelus Temple, religious citadel of Mrs. McPherson-Sutton, will produce a picture, Miss Dove said, and will costar in it.

Liquor Still Blasts Fire Dozen Homes

Explosions Are Laid to Rivalry Between Bootlegging Groups.

Los Angeles, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Explosion of two large liquor stills in a warehouse here late today scattered flaming debris which started fires in a dozen or more nearby dwellings and sent hundreds of persons fleeing for safety.

Several firemen were slightly burned by geysers of flaming alcohol and gasoline, but first reports indicated no one was killed.

After preliminary investigation by Federal prohibition agents, police and fire department officials, Chief Field Agent Thomas Nee, of the Government prohibition bureau said rivalry between two bootlegging organizations was responsible for the blast. Nine fire companies were called before the flames at the warehouse and the neighboring residences were extinguished.

REFORM BILL PASSED BY HOUSE IN HAVANA

Measure to Go to Senate; Would Halt Unrest, Machado Says.

Havana, Cuba, Sept. 17 (U.P.).—The constitutional reform bill, designed to meet in part the demands of Cuban revolutionary elements, was passed tonight by the House of Representatives. It will go to the Senate for action.

It provides for election of a new president, vice president, senators, congressmen and municipal officials in November, 1932. They will take office the next day.

The reform bill, introduced with approval of President Gerardo Machado, will rectify some changes made in the constitution under the present regime to prolong tenure of office.

The bill was approved as introduced with the exception of elimination of clauses enfranchising women and authorizing complete autonomy of Havana University.

A vice president will be appointed by the supreme court in February of next year, to assume office immediately, if the bill receives favorable action by the Senate. At present the constitution does not include this office. The secretary of state automatically assumes the office of president in event that office is vacated.

A complete new political census and reorganization of all political parties will allow all factions to enter the election in 1932. At present only the Liberal, Conservative and Popular parties are recognized. The National or antigovernment party is unrecognized and therefore not allowed a ballot.

President Machado time and again has expressed the opinion that the bill would end the political unrest in Cuba.

Antiadministration leaders have been of the opinion that it does not allow sufficient time for the political census and party organization.

Alabama Will Sue On Shoals Power

Move to Force Federal Payment of License Tax Is Planned.

(Associated Press.)

An injunction to restrain the Federal Government from selling electric power from Muscle Shoals until it pays a license tax to the State of Alabama will be sought in the near future in the Supreme Court by Thomas E. Knight, attorney general of the State. He said yesterday that the Secretary of War and "all other agents participating in making the contract for the sale of power" probably would be named defendants.

In a suit two years ago for $1,000,000 back taxes, Alabama asked the United States Court of Claims to collect from the Federal Government. The Court of Claims decided against the State and when Alabama appealed to the Supreme Court last year, that tribunal dismissed the case on the ground that the Court of Claims was without jurisdiction in it.

"We will ask the Supreme Court directly now," Knight said, "to enjoin the Federal Government from operating the plant until it pays the tax imposed for the manufacture and sale of power."

Cicycle-Street Car Race Cause Injuries to Two

A colored youth and an elderly man were injured yesterday as the result, according to a police, of the former trying to race his bicycle against a street car on Wisconsin avenue. Samuel Kemper, 23, 1614 Fourteenth fractures of skull and jaw and a fractured collarbone. John Quinn, 65, 2304 Thirty-eighth street, escaped with minor lacerations.

Kemper is said to have knocked Quinn down near Thirty-seventh street and Wisconsin avenue in trying to pass the car, for which the pedestrian was waiting.

Illinois' birth rate for 1930 was 16.7, lowest in all time, but it topped the death rate, which was 10.9, also a new low.

Unsettled Isle Only Spot Without Publicity Man

By JOHN J. DALY

THEY call it the Machine Age, and it is—also the Age of Publicity; mechanized publicity.

Hardly any achievement gets anywhere these days without publicity.

The fliers, having tackled the Pacific, drop upon an uninhabited island, grope about till they make a radio contact, and send this message: "Have publicity man put on job."

The island being totally uninhabited, was the only place on earth where there was no publicity man handy.

• • • •

NOTHING can be done without the services of a publicity man, in this Machine Age—which is the age of machine-made fame.

Napoleon, crossing the Alps, was handicaped because no publicity man could make the grade.

Dante, writing the Divine Comedy, lost potential sales, when sales would have done him a world of good, because there was no publicity man on the job.

Shakespeare, struggling along, had a good troupe of actors trying out his comedies, but missed much patronage because of poor publicity.

• • • •

IN the earliest settlement on the Palatine Mount, the Romans, a simple and primitive people, took years to establish the city of Rome, even with the help of Romulus and Remus; they lacked first-rate publicity.

Caesar's imperialism, Cicero's statesmanship were really dimmed, never reaching full luminosity, because there was no publicity man around, unless Lucretius, the poet of the Ciceronian age, might be called a ballyhoo artist. Great Julius, realizing the value of publicity, ballyhooed his own military maneuvers in his account of the Gallic wars.

Fortunate for the world that publicity has reached its present proportions. The world, up until this age, never knew what it missed—so Washington crossed the Delaware totally ignorant of what might have been done to rouse the public had a great publicity staff attended his journey, flashing to the home papers pictures of his ragged regimentals.

• • • •

NOW, however, the publicity man has come into his own, and no man, however, humble his station, can blame any one but himself if he is not properly publicized; provided, of course, he can pay the publicity bills. These boys do not work for glory.

A good publicity man, and the unknown of today becomes the front page hero of tomorrow, to be superseded the next day, of course, by another hero apotheosized by a higher-powered publicity man. The front page is like the shifting sands of the seashore—it changes with every outgoing and incoming tide—and a place thereon is insecure unless the publicity man keeps telling the wild waves what to say as he prints in the sands the magic marks that confer imperishable fame upon his client—till the tide comes in.

BRITON'S VISIT STIRS GENEVA ARMS TALK

Italy May Submit Counter-Proposal to French Plan for Naval Program.

Geneva, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Belief that some important development in disarmament discussions might be imminent was aroused here by word that Robert Leslie Craigie, British naval expert, would arrive in Geneva tomorrow.

Authoritative quarters gave no explanation for his coming, but informed persons suggested his mission might have two possible objects.

One possibility was that the British negotiator might be coming because the Italians wished to make a counter proposal to the recent French proposal regarding Franco-Italian naval construction programs, a counter proposal in which British advice and collaboration would be needed.

The other suggestion was that foreign Minister Dino Grandi, of Italy, wished to develop before the disarmament committee of the League of Nations tomorrow the Italian proposal for an "armaments truce." Viscount Cecil welcomed this proposal for the British government and Mr. Craigie's advice probably would be desired if Signor Grandi went into technical detail as to how it might be realized.

Not Much Optimism.

There was not much optimism, however, that any practical advance toward solution of the disarmament deadlock would be realized soon.

While the League of Nations assembly continued its committee debates on world economic needs, the league's finance committee approached the completion of its program today for setting Austria on her economic feet.

The question of a commissioner to represent the league in supervising reconstruction measures has not yet been considered officially, but the impression grew in informed quarters that Norman Davis, American member of the finance committee, was likely to get the nomination.

The committee planned to wind up its study of the Austrian situation Saturday, when the name of the supervising commissioner will be announced.

Economy Measure.

The reconstruction program for Austrian finances includes drastic economy measures and formidable tax levies.

The league's experts will require several more weeks for their study of the Hungarian situation and no possibility was seen of tying the two reconstruction programs together, although financial stabilization of the two states within two years was regarded as a probability.

The possibility that Great Britain may adopt a protective tariff caused anxiety among delegates to the assembly today.

Dr. Hans Posse, speaking for Germany, saw a "dangerous tendency" toward higher protective systems, and said "the ground trembles under our civilization."

Basel, Switzerland, Sept. 17 (A.P.). The Bank for International Settlements notified the central banks of eleven countries today that all concerned had signed the recent agreement dealing with maintenance of foreign credits in Germany for six months.

40 Horses to Attend Widener Fete at Hotel

New York, Sept. 17 (U.P.).—Forty race horses are to be among the guests of honor at a banquet tomorrow night in the Biltmore Hotel.

The dinner is in honor of Joseph H. Widener, millionaire sportsman, and will be given to him by his associates.

The horses are to be placed in stalls arranged around the dinner table and will be served their own dinners. Later they will parade around a specially built runway.

NAVY OFFICER DIES IN FALL AT HOSPITAL

Comdr. John H. Blackburn, Retired List, Plunges From Walter Reed Window.

Commander John Hall Blackburn, U. S. N., retired, died yesterday forenoon a few minutes after he jumped or fell from a third-floor balcony at Walter Reed Hospital. The officer was 50 years old. He entered the service in 1898.

Commander Blackburn had just left the dental clinic, attended by Pvt. Paul Clark, when he stepped onto the balcony "for a breath of air" before returning to his ward. Clark said he looked aside for a moment and when he turned around the officer had disappeared.

Walking to the 39-inch railing and looking below, Clark saw the patient's form sprawled on the ground.

The retired officer was pronounced dead by Capt J. M. Hargraves, of the hospital medical staff. A special board will investigate the fatality.

During the World War Commander Blackburn was executive officer of the transport Leviathan when that vessel, now a palatial liner, took thousands of American soldiers overseas. He was born October 25, 1880, in Indiana.

He was stationed at Walter Reed Hospital as a Veterans' Administration beneficiary and was admitted for treatment on March 17 with a fracture of the jaw received in a motor accident in San Francisco, where he was on duty several years ago as a recruiting inspector.

Commander Blackburn is survived by his wife, Mrs. Emma B. Blackburn, who is in Washington, and a son, John H. Blackburn, jr., of Burlingame, Calif.

New Mexico has 162 new laws passed by this year's Legislature and approved by Gov. Arthur Seligman.

HOOVER TO TRAVEL IN U.S.S. ARKANSAS

Representative Sol Bloom, of New York, who is the impresario behind the George Washington Bicentennial celebration, the Yorktown Sesquicentennial Commission finally decided to include the surrender scene in next month's exercises.

President Hoover has traveled on three American battleships in as many years. As President-elect, he went down the west coast of South America in one, and up the east coast in another. Last March he traveled to Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands in the U. S. S. Arizona.

The Arkansas, as flagship of the training squadron of the scouting force, carries the rear admiral in charge of that squadron—Claude C. Bloch. The skipper of the Arizona is Capt. P. W. Foote. The President probably will use Admiral Bloch's quarters.

Commissioned September 17, 1912, the Arizona was the first 12-gun dreadnaught of the American Navy. Her service in the Atlantic battleship squadrons of those days saw her at Vera Cruz, and later, with the British grand fleet in the North Sea.

The Arkansas was present at Scapa Flow November 21, 1918, when the German high seas fleet was surrendered to the allies. After escorting President Wilson in the transport George Washington into Brest, France, the Arkansas, in company with five other American battleships serving abroad, sailed for home December 14, 1918. On their arrival December 26, the ships passed in review before Josephus Daniels, then Secretary of the Navy.

The Arkansas was modernized at the Philadelphia Navy Yard in 1925-1926. Blisters were installed under water as a protection against torpedoes and bombs; her cage mast was replaced by a tripod mast; new boilers were installed, and one of her two smokestacks was removed.

In October, 1930, she was removed from the active list of the Navy. Her officers and crew were reduced to 35 and 463, respectively, and she was placed in the East Coast Training Squadron. The Arkansas is the only battleship in all the American Navy in active commission now mounting 12-inch guns, all others mounting 14-inch and 16-inch guns.

BOARD TO CONTINUE WHEAT LIQUIDATION

Rejection of "Walla Walla" Plan Draws Criticism of Its Sponsors.

(Associated Press.)

The policy of gradual liquidation of surplus wheat stocks will be continued by the Farm Board until the last of the more than 200,000,000 bushels acquired in stabilization operations has been swept from the bulging storehouses.

This became apparent yesterday in the board's rejection of the "Walla Walla" plan for relieving wheat farmers' low-price distress, but it brought a sharp criticism by the plan's sponsors, who asserted the Federal agency "will wait indefinitely for the perfect plan while the wheat farmer perishes under surplus production."

Representative Summers (Republican), Washington, chairman of the Pacific Northwest group sponsoring the "Walla Walla" plan, made this statement before leaving the city. He added that members of the board were "fine gentlemen individually who are overworked and overcautious in a time of dire distress."

"The board," he said, "does not seem to grasp the economics of the wheat situation as completely as the wheat grower, the country banker and the big business men who have passed on the plan."

The board rejected the proposal as not likely to work to the advantage of the farmers and because, it said, it lacked authority to put such a plan into effect. Under the plan the surplus would be sold to the farmers who would refuse to plant next year the amount of their purchases.

Nearly 50,000,000 bushels has been disposed of by the board in trades and sales with foreign governments in the last few weeks, and several more deals are in prospect, Chairman Stone has said.

Approximately 190,000,000 bushels remains of the original stabilization holdings. Under its July 1 policy of selling 5,000,000 monthly this year on domestic markets, 45,000,000 bushels will have been sold by next July 1. In some quarters it is believed that 50,000,000 bushels more can be sold to foreign governments before that date.

POSTMASTERS TOLD TO WORK FOR G.O.P.

Appointive Office Heads May Mix in Politics Freely, Brown Declares.

Omaha, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Postmaster General Brown tonight reminded postmasters outside the Civil Service they have the right to engage in political activities.

He opened a prepared address before the convention of National Association of Postmasters with political observations and then continued with an analysis of postal finances.

"As the period approaches which comes every four years when public attention is focused for a time upon national politics," Mr. Brown began, "spokesmen for themselves and for various groups, partisan and otherwise, are prone to be generous with their observations with respect to the duties, obligations and limitations of postmasters in matters political.

"The statutes which forbid political activity on the part of governmental employes are limited in their application to members of the classified Civil Service.

"The laws of our land place no restrictions whatever in the particular mentioned upon presidential officers, a term which includes postmasters of the first, second and third classes."

Mr. Brown, who has been mentioned in Republican ranks as a possible successor to Senator Fess, of Ohio, as national committee chairman, said that so long as such postmasters "discharge their official duties efficiently, they retain the right to engage in civic and political activities and the right to speak their minds freely upon public questions."

An increased postage rate he pronounced as the "only practical means of balancing the postoffice budget." But pending its enactment, he said retrenchment was a patriotic duty in speeding up the Nation's economic recovery.

Mr. Brown outlined President Hoover's general program of no new projects, no salary raises except as required by law, and no new positions—a policy planned in view of the Federal deficit.

In concluding, he cited the 8 per cent decrease in mail volume, the first widespread decline in postal business, and said:

"After all, it is the taxpayers' money we are spending, not our own. Large Treasury deficits mean extensive Government borrowings and must ultimately lead to increased Federal taxes."

FORMER SENATE DRY ASKS BEER AND WINE

Elkins Says Experiment of Prohibition Has Been Proved Failure.

Immediate convening of Congress in special session to legislate relief for unemployment and meet the general business situation of the country, was declared yesterday by former Senator Davis Elkins (Republican), of West Virginia, to be urgently demanded by present conditions.

"The administration has hesitated about long enough," said Elkins, "in facing the facts of unemployment and the causes which produced it. It can not, in my judgment, do what should be done without Congress. Congress should be in session right now.

"Some of the things it should do are:

"Vast sums of money hoarded in the vaults of banks and trust companies should be released. There are many lawful and safe and sound ways to put his money into useful circulation. One way is for the banks to distribute by extra dividends to their stockholders some of the huge profits piled up in their reserve. It is about time, it seems to me, for the banks to do some melon-cutting on a wholesale scale for their vast army of stockholders.

Urges Wine and Beer.

"I do not question the jurisdiction of Congress. National banks are the creatures of Congress. The principle that creatures are not superior to their creator is firmly fixed in our system of laws.

"Congress should authorize the sale of beer and light wines. The prohibition experiment has gone on long enough to prove that it can not do the things which were promised for it when the law was passed. It has brought great trouble to the moral, business and taxation structures of the country, and rebellion against the law, and the results incident to its unsuccessful enforcement are an evil influence among the people, from one end of the country to the other."

When Elkins was in the Senate he regularly and consistently voted for all prohibition bills. West Virginia voted itself "dry" as early as 1912.

Favors Rail Program.

"Congress should pass a law to combine the railroads into systems along the lines laid down in the plan supplied to the Interstate Commerce Commission by a committee of experts appointed for that purpose," he continued. "Financially weak railroads, whose continued operation is necessary for the service of the public, should be helped by some form of subsidy. It is being done for shipping and mail plane contractors.

"The Sherman antitrust law should be revised and brought up to date. It might have suited the United States when it was enacted by the Fifty-first Congress 42 years ago, but it is a hindrance to the development of industry as it has disclosed its trend for the past quarter of a century. The production and marketing of basic commodities are hindered, not helped, by the Sherman law."

Gunman Thwarted In Sacrifice "Rap"

Witnesses Pick Youth as Bandit, Despite Killer's Admission of Crime.

Ossining, N. Y., Sept. 17 (U.P.).—Efforts of Francis Crowley, doomed slayer of a Long Island policeman, and Gerald Weed, convicted holdup man, to obtain the freedom of Patrick O'Brien, 19, by taking the blame in a crime for which O'Brien was convicted, proved futile today.

Four witnesses, brought to Sing Sing Prison, each picked O'Brien out of a group which included Crowley and Weed, as one of the men who held up a Manhattan drugstore. None of them identified either Crowley or Weed.

Due to a certain physical resemblance between O'Brien and Crowley, considerable faith had been placed in the latter's assertion that O'Brien was innocent.

Bok Estate 23 Millions; Much Is Left to Charity

Morristown, Pa., Sept. 17 (U.P.).—Edward Bok, editor and philanthropist, who died in January, 1930, left an estate of $23,718,981, according to a transfer inheritance tax appraisal filed today.

Bequests listed in the document include $3,327,211 to relatives, friends and charities, given in 1916 and ensuing years; $2,000,000 to the American Foundation, Inc., which handles most of the Bok philanthropies, including the Philadelphia award and the $100,000 peace award; $239,480 to the Philadelphia Orchestra, $150,000 to Princeton University, and $105,000 to the Knox County Hospital for a nurses' home.

The GIRL About Town

REPRESENTATIVE Edith Nourse Rodgers flew in here the other day to read her mail. Then she boarded her plane, was back in Massachusetts in a few hours to inspect the medals she is distributing to the makers of the best leather, woolen and tin articles manufactured in her district. She waved a greeting to her veteran friends as she flew over Walter Reed. The men adore her there and call her "The Angel of Walter Reed."

WHAT irony of fate it is that George Christian, secretary of President Harding, who had been out of a job himself for so long—that is, of the kind he wanted—now should be headsman at the Merchant Fleet Corporation and swinging the dismissal ax there fast and furiously! Washington has been nothing but a see-saw for George, who is entirely too good-hearted to relish his present task.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon since his return has been peering into the corners of his big shop, like a good housewife, to see if any dust accumulated in his absence. The Secretary should keep a sharp lookout for the deficits. But, after all, America is solvent and we can take care of our deficits and depressions well enough if the whole world does not load theirs upon us as well.

Isn't it nice that there are so many young people at the Navy Yard officers' quarters just now? Navy yards, officers' quarters and young people all go together so well. There is a very pretty young miss in the quarters of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Henry V. Butler—their granddaughter, Ann Smith, slender and rather tall, with roguish brown eyes and lots of fluffy brown hair. Then there is Mary Elizabeth Berrien, lovely daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Frank Dunn Berrien, a debutante of this winter.

British Liberals Oppose Election

Party Meeting Says Regime Must Last Until Crisis Is Passed.

London, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Liberal party members of Parliament at a party meeting in the House of Commons tonight voiced a strong and unanimous hostility to the proposed early general election.

Sir Herbert Samuel, home secretary, presided, and he and other speakers argued that there should be no election until the purpose for which the National government was formed has been achieved. That purpose, the speaker said, was to restore confidence in the pound sterling, and they added that the government has yet to accomplish its task of securing the safety of the national financial position.

It was understood that the views expressed at the meeting, although not embodied in a resolution, would be conveyed to the prime minister. The tariff question was not discussed.

Reduced Arms Expenses Is Held Japanese Need

Japan must continue her peaceful relations with the United States, retrench in military expenditures and sharply restrict population growth if it is to avert serious financial difficulties, Dr. Harold G. Moulton, president of Brookings Institute of this city, declared yesterday.

Constable Slain, 2 Hurt In Fight After Robbery

Clay, W. Va., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Constable W. M. Arthur, of Clay, was killed and two men whom he and other officers sought to arrest on robbery charges were wounded in a fight at Dorsee, near here, today.

Whit Runion suffered a broken leg and lost two fingers when the officers fired at him. He was taken into custody. French Schoolcraft, who, the officers said, fired the shot that killed Arthur, escaped and was hunted in nearby woods. The officers said Schoolcraft was wounded.

BODY TO SEEK FUNDS FOR NEEDY TO MEET

Group O. D. Young Heads Under Gifford, to Have Session Today.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover's unemployment relief organization will swing into operation today with a meeting of the committee appointed to stimulate the raising of relief funds, headed by Owen D. Young.

Young, chairman of the board of the General Electric Co., has called his committee together to plan for the national appeal for local relief funds, from October 19 to November 23.

The meeting today will be the first group activity by the organization Walter S. Gifford, national relief director, has created since his appointment nearly a month ago.

Young's committee was the first chosen by Gifford. Since then three other groups have been selected to handle various phases of the problem.

18 in Group.

The Young committee is composed of eighteen members, most of whom have agreed to attend the meeting tomorrow, including Pierre duPont, of Wilmington, Fred Fisher, Detroit; Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles; Walter Teagle, New York, and William Allen White, Emporia, Kans.

Gifford's organization was further augmented yesterday by the appointment by President Hoover of fifteen additional members of the advisory committee set up to assist him. This brought the total membership of the advisory group to 99.

Five of the new members were designated as State representatives, making a total of 37 States which are now represented in the organization.

Work Held Success.

Among those appointed to the committee were Harry Chandler, president of the American Publishers Association; Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers Association; M. H. Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting Co., and W. S. Paley, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Secretary Doak, of the Labor Department, said yesterday the Federal employment service was proving a success.

"The service is working hard and it is getting results," Doak said. "In a time which in a sense is considered jobless, there are nevertheless jobs. The thing is to find them and to connect the job-seeker with them. The Federal Service is successful in doing this."

The Associated General Contractors of America said yesterday its governing board would meet September 30 to consider practical means by which the construction industry may lead the country out of the depression and afford unemployment relief.

Will Study Conditions.

A. P. Greenfelder, of St. Louis will make a 3,500-mile tour of Eastern, Southern and Midwestern cities prior to the meeting to study conditions.

President Hoover also made public a telegram from Gov. Case, of Rhode Island, assuring him that State could take care of its own unemployment problem next winter.

Gov. Case said he was mailing a full statement of his plan for caring for the jobless. Half a dozen other State governors have sent the President similar assurances.

The President made public a telegram from Norman C. Ball, editor of the Clarion Republic, of Clarion, Pa., saying no outside aid would be needed in that section and that relief needs would be less than anticipated.

2 Youths Arrested On Holdup Charge

Two youths, who are alleged to have staged a holdup at the point of a pistol in Montgomery County, are being held by police of the Thirteenth Police Precinct for Montgomery County police. They were arrested early yesterday after a lookout had been broadcast by Montgomery County police.

Those being held are Philip Baynard, 5528 Thirteenth street northwest, and Harry V. Hazel, 3513 Thirteenth street northwest. They are alleged to have held up Leslie S. Rohn, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Robert Howard, 919 Sixth street northeast, while the latter two were riding in a machine operated by Baynard near English Village, Md., according to county police of the Bethesda substation.

Rohn and Howard are said by police to have gone riding with the pair after they had formed acquaintanceship at Sixteenth and I streets northwest. When they reached English Village, one of the youths produced a pistol and held them up, relieving Rohn of a watch valued at $45. Then the guests were set afoot on the road. They were picked up by a passing motorist and taken to the Fourteenth Precinct police station, where they reported the robbery.

Rockville Phones To Be Modernized

Company Prepares Plans for Submission to Town Officials.

Replacement of the antiquated telephones at Rockville, Md., with a modern battery system is being considered by officials of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. The company plans to present to town officials, business and civic organizations and citizens a plan whereby this can be accomplished without increasing the cost to the individual subscriber.

While complete details have not been made public it is understood that the plan calls for substituting two-party lines for subscribers who do not wish to pay additional rates for single party lines. The rates for single lines will be increased. Those who accept two-party service will continue to pay the same rate they are paying for the hand crank type phones now in use.

Phone officials believe the improved service will win the approval of the residents. No reduction in toll rates between Washington and Rockville is contemplated, it was pointed out, as the toll charges of the entire country are based on a standardized scale, officials said.

maining eight cases scheduled for presentation.

Of the thirteen cases, only in one instance was there duplication of charges against a policeman, officials indicated last night. One case was presented without much hope of indictment, but to give a better picture of the situation in the Police Department, it is understood.

Prisoners Are Witnesses.

Six prisoners were the leading witnesses at the start of the grand jury session yesterday morning. Three of these were brought to the Court House from the District Jail and three from Lorton Reformatory. Some of these witnesses may have brought headquarters detectives into the investigation.

The prisoners questioned are Francis De Sales Carman, Charles E. Smith, William Sullivan, Arthur Henry Bellowe, Volle L. Jackson and James L. Strange, the last two colored.

Carman and Smith are serving three-year terms at Lorton, having been jointly convicted for housebreaking and larceny in connection with a filling station robbery last May. The two made statements formerly that they were beaten and kicked by arresting policemen, and Carman charged that he was beaten at the Third Precinct Station some time before, when arrested in connection with another charge.

Five-Year Term.

Policemen Ferdinand P. Martin, Irving Rosenberg and Rupert McNeil, of the Third Precinct, testified against Carman and Smith at the grand jury hearing in their case, court records show.

A five-year term on five separate counts of house breaking and larceny was given Sullivan. Testimony against him was given to the grand jury by Headquarters Detectives A. T. Fihelly, N. S. Hopkins, B. C. Kuehling, Charles E. Warfield, Michael Dowd and Leo Murray and Policemen Elmer L. Musselman and Harry A. Reed, of the Seventh Precinct.

Bellowe was indicted December 12, 1930 on testimony of Lieut. E. W. Thompson. He is serving a year and a half sentence at the District Jail for false pretenses, forgery and uttering.

Jackson is serving a three-year term for grand larceny. The name of the arresting officer in the case is Frank E. Dodson, of the Fourth Precinct, court records show.

Testified Against Strange.

Policeman Henry C. Houck, of the Second Precinct, testified against Strange on charges of assault with a dangerous weapon. He said that Strange stuck a pistol against his abdomen when he attempted to make the arrest.

Most of the witnesses called in the investigation yesterday were colored. There were a number of colored children called.

Records of Casualty Hospital also were brought before the grand jurors yesterday by Dr. William Bowman, an interne at the institution.

Department of Justice officials said last night that their report, which will be presented to Acting Attorney General Thacher and the District Commissioners, was practically completed. The report will cover every specific case of alleged brutality uncovered in investigation by the undercover men, and also will touch upon the situation generally.

It is believed the report will find its way into the hands of the Commissioners next week.

Falls Church Cash Balance Is $1,799

The annual report of Treasurer J. C. Parrott, of Falls Church, Va., shows that during the fiscal year ended August 31, 1931, the town collected $31,013.79.

Taxes collected during that period amounted to $19,768.90, delinquent taxes, $413; penalties, $340.87; fines in town police court, $2,157; permits, $236; water relief, $819.62; reimbursements for water accounts, $749.46; bank loan $5,000; miscellaneous receipts, $69.46 and $1,571.49 was carried forward.

At the same time the disbursements for the year amounted to $29,215.05. This was divided as follows: $1,007.32 to the three wards; $5,000 loan repaid with $73.33 interest; $1,000 school bond retired and $3,360.50 paid on school indebtedness; $3,500 for school maintenance; $6,386.06 for roads and public works; $1,680 for town salaries; $1,299.92 for street lights; $499.86 for fire protection; $300 for town library; $2,903.05 for contingent and miscellaneous expenses; $1,386.35 water relief by means of army water tanks; $736.95 advanced in anticipation of the sale of municipal water bonds; $65.75 contingent expenses of the mayor; and $15.76 miscellaneous expenses.

The balance left in the second ward road account is $154.45 and in the third ward account $107.08. The cash balance for the town, as of September 1, was shown as $1,798.74 to start the next year.

Hyattsville Post Elects.

William T. Luman, an employe of the General Accounting Office, has been elected commander of the Hyattsville Snyder-Farmer Post, No. 3, of the American Legion for the next year. Other new officers are Kenneth A. McRae, vice commander; James W. Rogers, adjutant and treasurer; Thomas Walker, historian; Dr. Robert W. McCullough, chaplain, and Fred Rheem, sergeant at arms. The installation will take place October 7.

Personality Contest Postponed.

Owing to stormy weather last night, the personality contest, sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary to the Clarendone Fire Department, which was to have been a feature at the Arlington-Fairfax Volunteer Firemen's Association carnival being held at Ballston, will be featured tomorrow night.

BRITISH THANK U.S. FOR BELIZE RELIEF

Ambassador Sends Formal Message of Appreciation to Stimson.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Adams yesterday dispatched to Navy units the joint commendations of himself and the British government for relief work in the recent hurricane at Belize, British Honduras. He relayed the following message from the Brish Ambassador at Washington:

"I have the honor, under instructions from his majesty's secretary of state for foreign affairs, to request you to convey to the United States Government the grateful thanks of his majesty's government in the United Kingdom for the generous offer of assistance in the disaster in British Honduras.

"The timely help rendered by United States ships and airplanes and by the American Red Cross is very gratefully appreciated by his majesty's government and by the Governor of British Honduras, from whom I have also received a message to this effect this morning. I shall be grateful if you will kindly convey the thanks of his majesty's government and the Governor of Belize to the United States Government officials concerned, to the American Red Cross and to the Pan-American Airways Co."

26 Americans Leave.

The departure of 26 Americans from Belize for New Orleans was reported to the State Department today.

The dispatch, from Vice Consul Ott, said they sailed yesterday morning aboard the steamship Parismina and that other Americans would leave September 19 for New Orleans.

The home addresses of only 8 of the 26 en route were available at the department—J. M. Otero, West Tampa, Fla., and A. Gould, New Orleans.

South Dakotan Dies.

The Navy Department was informed that Roy J. Miller, of Erwin, S. Dak., had died of injuries received Wednesday in the crash of the Navy airplane that was bearing relief supplies to Belize, British Honduras.

The three other members of the crew of the plane either were killed in the crash or died shortly afterward.

The Red Cross prepared yesterday to purchase more than $2,500 worth of Clothing in New Orleans to be sent to Belize, British Honduras, recently stricken by a hurricane.

Gov. J. A. Burdon, of Honduras cabled the Red Cross cash would be of no use to him, but that clothing was needed badly.

Full-Route Name For Road Sought

Hyattsville Club Wants to Standardize Designation of Baltimore Boulevard.

The Exchange Club, of Hyattsville, Md., has started a drive to standardize the name given to the Baltimore boulevard, pointing out that it has different names in Hyattsville, Laurel and Washington.

In Washington the road is known as Bladensburg road, in Hyattsville a part of it is called Maryland avenue, and in Laurel it is called Washington avenue. It was pointed out that the boulevard actually runs to Fifteenth and H streets northeast, and that there is no reason for changing its name as it crosses the District line.

The action of the club was precipitated by a request of the mayor and council of Hyattsville that another section of the road in that town be called Rhode Island avenue. The club also went on record as favoring a uniform numbering of houses in Hyattsville, as in some cases the numbers increase from north to south, and in others, from south to north.

Central Business Men Vote Police Confidence

The "strong indorsement" of the Central Business Men's Association was given the District Police Department in a resolution adopted at a luncheon meeting of the association held yesterday in the Hotel Logan. The resolution expressed the confidence of the association in the integrity and probity of the department as a whole.

Twenty-two merchants were admitted to membership at the meeting at which Arthur C. Smith, president, was in the chair.

GANDHI DISPLEASED BY LONDON MEETING

Conference Leading Practically Nowhere, Mahatma Says in Complaint.

London, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Mahatma Gandhi today protested that the proceedings of the federal structures committee of the round table conference were leading "practically nowhere." The committee, the Indian Nationalist leader declared, has become a "debating society." The deliberations are "interminable."

Since Monday the mahatma has sat with his legs tucked under him during the sessions, listening to much debate, occasionally sipping goat's milk and saying nothing except for one address. A feeling of oppression has been growing on him from the very beginning and already there has been talk that he considered withdrawing.

The mahatma asserted at today's meeting that the committee seemed to be composed "not of the chosen ones of the nations they should be representing, but of the chosen ones of the government."

Seem "Interminable" to Him.

His second reason for complaint was that "These proceedings seem to me to be interminable and to be leading us practically nowhere. If we go on at this rate I do not know that we shall proceed beyond having discussed threadbare the various points raised."

His third "gentle, humble complaint" was against "His Majesty's advisers," who, he said, failed to lay their cards on the table and to "give the members of the committee a lead."

He appealed to those in positions of responsibility to let the committee know what they would do with India if they were the arbiters of its destinies. Then, he said, the committee would have a basis for discussion from which conversations could continue to a useful end and a decision.

After voicing his protest, Mr. Gandhi for the first time entered the debate on the form of the federal legislature, which the committee had been discussing. He argued for adult suffrage without qualifications of wealth, class or literacy.

Can Not Wait Forever.

"I am not enamored of the doctrine that the voter must have at least knowledge of the three R's," he said.

"I want for my people knowledge of the three R's, but if we have to wait until they get it before they can be qualified for voting we shall have to wait until the Greek kalends (forever) and I am not prepared to wait all that time."

Mr. Gandhi said the all-India National Congress would never agree to special representation for any classes except Moslems and Sikhs, to which it has become reconciled, and that Europeans, Christians and all others must submit themselves to the qualifications of adult suffrage just as the most humble Indian.

Takes Committee by Surprise.

The mahatma's speech took the committee by surprise. At its conclusion some members questioned him about what he meant in mentioning women in the projected Indian legislature. He replied that he would boycott any legislature which did not contain some women.

The mahatma declared himself for a one-chamber legislature, a popular body directly elected, which, he said, was best suited to the needs of India, "the poorest country in the world."

Sunday Work on Home Brings Man to Court

A carpenter of Oxon Hill, Md., who was arrested for working on his house on Sunday is the latest victim of Maryland's ancient blue laws. He is Harold Denyer, who will be tried today in Marlboro police court on the charges in a warrant sworn out by T. W. Stubblefield, the man's neighbor.

Sheriff W. C. Hopkins said that Stubblefield complained to him about Denyer's Sunday work. The sheriff told him to swear out a warrant, which he did before Judge Horace Taylor. Denyer is now free on his personal bond. He said he was putting the finishing touches on a house he had built some time ago.

BRITISH SAILORS BALK AT WAGE CUT

Britain's smiling sailors aren't smiling any more. They are angry over recent wage reductions which amount to as high as 25 per cent. The wage agitation in the Atlantic fleet was the subject of conferences between Sir Austin Chamberlain (left), first lord of the admiralty, and commanders of the fleet. Sir Michael Hodges, commander in chief, was ill and unable to attend.

SHARP DECLINE SEEN IN FOREIGN TRADE

Unfavorable Trade Balance Is Reported for First Time Since 1926.

(Associated Press.)

Figures showing sharp declines in this country's foreign trade last month and in income tax receipts this month were released yesterday, as officials in other Government quarters noted signs of improvement in some industries.

The Commerce Department reported an unfavorable trade balance for the United States of $1,000,000 during August, the first time imports have exceeded exports in any month since April, 1926. Imports for August were valued at $166,000,000 and exports $165,000,000.

The balance in August, 1930, was favorable by $79,348,000 and for the first eight months of 1931 exports exceeded imports by $214,153,000.

Income Tax Payments Fall.

Treasury officials saw in the $19,496,353 income tax receipts for the first half of September an indication that the month's collection would be the smallest for any corresponding month in ten years.

The bulk of these payments, $18,106,867, was made on September 15, the quarterly payment date. The total for the month to that date based on uncompleted tabulations was $2,000,000 less than collected in the same period of last September.

These figures, as well as the Treasury deficit of $463,171,554 on September 15, were made public as Commerce and Farm Loan Bureau officials were watching what they believed to be unmistakable indications of improvement in other lines.

Farm Loan Bureau officials contended farmers have progressed toward ultimate economy with a large area in the West and Middle West showing a small profit this year. Low prices, however, have kept the farmers' purchasing power down, they said.

Hopeful Signs Are Seen.

Other departmental observers saw hopeful signs in what they described as the elimination of overstuffed inventories, maintenance of the strength of the general banking structure, the partial arrest of commodity price declines, and an improvement in the rubber industry.

An air of optimism has become apparent in railroad circles here, despite the great drop in railroad revenues. There is a feeling in these quarters that the Interstate Commerce Commission will see fit to grant higher freight rates requested by the roads, or at least part of the 15 per cent horizontal raise applied for.

With the roads forced to effect greater efficiency and economics these unofficial observers see great benefit resulting when the tide of traffic again swings upward.

BAND OF ENGLAND WARNS BRITAIN AGAINST ELECTION

looking forward, confident that we will go forward together in the service of our country."

Chamberlain's declaration climaxed a day of rapid developments in which the coalition government of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald sought to prevent the dissatisfaction over pay cuts from spreading to other branches of the navy, to police, school teachers and various civil servants.

Fleet Starts Home.

The Atlantic fleet, en route from Scotland to its home ports for investigations of complaints of hardships caused by the pay reductions, was the center of controversy in the Commons. W. H. Hall, Laborite, said that "what has been described as passive resistance" was universal throughout the ranks.

Mr. Chamberlain took exception to this statement, saying: "It is not fair to many sailors who remained perfectly loyal."

"Practically the whole body of petty officers remained at their posts of duty," he said. The naval ratings who refused to work showed no disrespect for officers, and there had been no violence of any kind, he pointed out.

First Lord Explains.

The first lord then explained that, while the recent resistance might be condoned, an order had been issued to the fleet: "Any further refusals of individuals to carry out orders will be dealt with under the naval discipline act."

He said the fleet had been assured that complaints of hardships would be investigated.

Sir Hubert Duff Cooper, financial secretary for the war office, told the Commons that the pay cuts "have been accepted in all ranks with a spirit worthy of the best traditions of the army," but he added that a special committee of the army council had been established to investigate all cases of special hardships due to reductions.

Police Sound Warning.

The London police periodical, the Police Review, said editorially, "Britain would not be grateful to any government which in the zeal for economy, spreads discontent and dissatisfaction among police." School teachers also have been protesting by demonstrations and parades against the reductions of their pay under the cabinet's economy program.

The commanders in chief of the home ports of the fleet, which are Portsmouth, Devonport and Thenore, were summoned by the admiralty to discuss plans for investigation of the sailor's grievances on Friday. The commanders are Admiral Sir A. K. Waistrell, Admiral Sir Hubert Brand and Admiral Sir R. W. Tyrwhitt.

At Devonport, in response to the admiralty's suggestion, hundreds of sailors in the royal naval barracks submitted particulars of their complaints to Commodore N. F. Laurence, who passed them on the admiralty board.

The cabinet held its third meeting in two days on the problem of a definite solution.

Would Accept General Cut.

Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald told A. V. Alexander, former first lord of the admiralty, that the former Labor government had been advised that the navy would loyally accept the pay cuts provided every one else was cut and provided there was "an adequate" reduction in the dole to unemployed.

The Laborites caused an uproar by attacking Mr. MacDonald's explanation. W. J. Brown asked the prime minister whether "police, teachers and civil servants must infer that a strike is the only weapon * * *" The rest of his question was drowned out by the shouts of Conservatives.

Mr. Alexander previously had asked whether Mr. Chamberlain was aware that the Labor cabinet was "warned specifically by the admiralty of the danger of what has since occurred."

Red Paper Suspended.

Berlin, Sept. 17 (A.P.) — The president of police today suspended the Communist newspaper Rote Fahne for four weeks because of a dispatch printed in the paper addressed to the British workers, sailors and soldiers, and specifically to the crews of the battleships, congratulating them on behalf of revolutionary German workmen.

The dispatch urged the British sailors to "disobey and disarm the officers and chase them from on board."

The telegram as published concludes with "cheers for the mutiny of British sailors and solidarity of the revolutionary workers of all nations and the Communist world revolution." It was signed by the central committee of the Communist party of Germany.

RESCUED SEA FLIERS MAY TRY HOP AGAIN

Moyle and Allen Planning to Return to Japan for New Start, Is Report.

Seattle, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Possibility that Don Moyle and Cecil A. Allen, California aviators forced down by fuel shortage off the Siberian coast last week and missing until yesterday, were planning another attempt to span the North Pacific in a single hop, was seen in dispatches received here today.

May Return to Tokyo.

Later, in communicating with another Russian vessel, the Buriat was overheard mentioning Tokyo as a possible objective for the fliers. This might indicate, aviation men pointed out here, that the fliers were considering returning to Japan for another try at the nonstop flight.

The plane and the fliers were reported by the Buriat to be in "perfect condition." A storm raging around Navarin Island will have to subside, the Buriat said, before the American airmen will take off.

Reports received by the United States Weather Bureau here indicated weather along the route over the southern part of Bering Sea was unfavorable for flying, but that it was clear at Nome, farther to the north.

The fliers would encounter headwinds should they fly toward Nome, but would be able to refuel at that point for a flight by the inland route through Alaska, Yukon Territory, British Columbia to Seattle.

Put Ashore in Village.

Their plane has figured in the transpacific ambitions of several sets of fliers. Originally built for Harold Bromley, it was abandoned by him last year after he and Harold Gatty flew 1,000 miles from Japan and were forced to return when a collector ring on the motor burned out.

Thomas Ash tried the ship out early this summer but decided it could not make the flight.

Allen and Moyle spent a month rebuilding the ship before they took off from Samushiro Beach, northern Japan, September 7.

LINDBERGHS TO FLY TO CHINA TOMORROW

Nanking Plans for Simple Welcome; Fliers May Go Over Flood Region.

Nanking, China, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—A simple welcome was planned today by the capital of flood and war racked China for Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, who are expected to fly here Saturday from Fukuoka, Japan.

Fair weather and moderate winds were hoped for and the flight of 800 miles over the Eastern Sea was not expected to exceed six hours.

Disappointment was expressed that unfavorable weather had caused the Lindberghs to postpone their start from Fukuoka from Friday to Saturday, as Chinese officials were eager to honor them.

If the famous fliers fly directly to Nanking they will traverse the vast flooded North Kiangsu Province basin, scene of the calamity of August 25, where more than 100,000 persons lost their lives in the overflow of the Grand Canal. That area still is a huge welter of human misery, while Nanking itself is eloquent with evidences of China's travail.

A large portion of Nanking within its walls of 32 miles circumference—the longest city walls in China—also is submerged. Thousands of refugees are hudled upon high ground, with scanty food and shelter.

The Nationalist government's hostelry, where distinguished visitors usually are housed, is so badly flooded the Lindberghs must be quartered elsewhere. Therefore, they will be house guests of American Consul General Willys R. Peck and Mrs. Peck.

The Lindberghs' visit to Nanking is expected to be brief, but they have not announced their next stop.

INDICTMENTS NEAR IN YACHT DROWNING

Collings, 5-year-old daughter of the slain yachtsman, who was found drifting seaward alone in the Penguin after her father had been killed and her mother allegedly abducted.

The prosecutor would give no hint whether the "picture" reflected the story of Mrs. Collings which he refused to accept in full a few days ago—that two men, one elderly, the other a youth, boarded the yacht at 10 o'clock on the night of the crime while the Penguin lay at anchor in Long Island Sound, offered her husband $100 to take a wounded companion to Norwalk, tied and threw him overboard because he refused, and then abducted and subjected her to attack by the older man, finally marooning her in a motorboat in Oyster Bay.

In announcing that the autopsy showed definitely that Collings died of drowning, and not from blows from some undetermined instrument which fractured his skull, authorities said the yachtaman undoubtedly was unconscious when he was thrown overboard.

Mrs. Collings has related hearing her husband in a series of shouts describe the actions of his assailants in tying him up and throwing him overboard.

Department Officers Named.

The following officers have been elected by the Sandy Spring Volunteer Fire Department: Maurice J. Stabler, president; Francis Miller, vice president; Maurice C. Brown, secretary; Carl Beall, treasurer; William John Thomas, chief; Robert Kemp, assistant chief; M. J. Stabler, A. D. Farquhar, Thomas Hyde 4th, S. J. H. Brown, W. J. Thomas and H. H. Adams, executive committee.

the preparations made. Freshly pressed and neatly folded clothes were found across a bed in an adjoining room. These, it is believed, were what the victims wished to be buried in.

Resents Native Hostility.

Everything in the house was placed in order. A box containing a black dress, recently purchased from a downtown store, was on a table in a front room. A note, written in Russian to the daughter, was attached to the box. "Choose what is best," it read.

Police are at a loss as to the motive for the suicide pact. Capt. Petrenko, friends said, often expressed resentment at "people's attitude because he was a foreigner."

Capt. Petrenko was born in Russia in 1881. He came to this country in 1919 as a member of the Russian artillery commission.

He was naturalized in 1921. He was educated in the Russian military schools and was for a number of years connected with the artillery school of Grand Duke Constantine at Leningrad. He was awarded his civil engineer's degree from the college of civil engineers at Riga.

A captain in the Russian imperial army, he saw active service in the war with Japan and was wounded. Friends declared the wound had never healed. It was believed to have become painful lately and may have hastened his decision to end his life.

Reports of conditions in Russia had recently worried Capt. Petrenko and he had often talked of his friends in the homeland.

Member of School Faculty.

Both Capt. and Mrs. Petrenko were widely known here. For ten years he had been a member of the faculty at the foreign service school at Georgetown University and his wife was known as an accomplished linguist.

Mrs. Petrenko was a native of Leningrad. She was born in 1892 and educated in the public schools there. She attended Riga College and there met her husband. She entered the service of the Department of Agriculture in 1926 in the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils. She was entered on the files as a Russian interpreter, available on call.

Pennsylvania Bears Cause Little Trouble

Harrisburg, Pa. (U.P.).—Abundance of natural food is keeping Pennsylvania bears from carnivorous feeding, according to the State Game Commission.

During August the commission received only two claims for damage to live stock by bears, one for two cattle in Elk County and the other for two lambs in Lycoming County.

Destruction of farm crops by deer also was reported declining. Oats and buckwheat fields suffered principally from marauding deer, 82 of which were killed by farmers during August to protect crops. The total killed for August, 1930, was 167.

30 Lashes Is Sentence Of Man Who Beat Wife

Salisbury, Md., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—A sentence of 30 lashes at the whipping post was pronounced in Circuit Court here today on Clarence Cell, 40, a carpenter, who admitted beating his wife. The prisoner was delivered to the sheriff who was instructed to carry out the sentence before noon tomorrow.

Wicomico County officers said it was the first sentence of the kind to be pronounced in the county. In Baltimore City last spring a sentence of 10 lashes was imposed on a wife-beater and carried out in the jail yard. Before that, however, the whipping post had not been used in Maryland in several years. Wife beating is the only crime in Maryland punishable by whipping.

Improved Water Noted in Suburbs

Strong Taste Is Almost Entirely Eliminated in Montgomery.

Decided improvement in water furnished consumers in the suburban area of Montgomery County, Md., by the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission was noted yesterday. The strong taste which had caused a number of complaints was almost entirely eliminated and the small area in which the water had a brownish color reported that the water had cleared up.

Chief Engineer Robert Morse, of the sanitary commission, declared yesterday that the taste in the water was due to the lowered level of the Burnt Mills reservoir, which resulted in stagnant water at the bottom of the reservoir to be served. This was eliminated by using about 75 per cent of water from the District of Columbia system. The commission is planning an increase in the water supply, but has not made public its plans, Mr. Morse said.

The coloring of the water in a small area in Silver Spring was due to the influx of District water, which changed direction of the flow in the water mains and loosened up whatever rust or scale there was present in the pipes, he said.

Bernard W. Fling Weds Girl From Lee County

Word of the marriage of Bernard W. Fling, of Silver Spring, Md., and Miss Ruby Smith, daughter of J. M. Smith, clerk of the circuit court for Lee County, Va., was received last night.

The romance had its inception while Miss Smith was employed as a temporary worker at the Census Bureau in the last census enumeration. Mrs. Fling is a graduate of Berea College in Kentucky and a member of Kappa Pi Omega Sorority.

10 Conduct Check Of Fairfax Traffic

County, Refusing to Give $1,000 Aid, Assigns Officer to Aid.

Ten men have been posted throughout Fairfax County under the supervision of the United States Bureau of Public Roads, in cooperation with the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, to aid in a traffic count, for which the county has refused to appropriate $1,000 requested as its share of the expense of the survey in the Washington metropolitan area.

Instead, the county will furnish one man to assist in the work for six months, his work to be confined solely to the county. County Engineer F. N. Larkin has assigned Policeman Lewis L. Finks to the position.

Finks will check traffic at one of the ten stations each day for the next six months. As motor vehicles of all kinds pass, the license numbers and State from which they come, the direction of their travel and observations of weather conditions are made.

early next week and would continue to oppose release of the professor on bond.

The text of the letter made public follows in part:

"On board S. S. America September 1, 1931.

"Sashy, dear, have you read in the news that the U. S. lines are more or less on the rocks and that this ship is to be laid up this trip? This throws about 500 people out of work on her, including me. But I am not going over my bridge with worry until I need to because I may get a break somewhere still with the company. And really no one knows anything definite until we arrive tomorrow. In any case it gave me opportunity to see Berlin four days and fly to Paris in a twelve-passenger Fokker which consumed 6½ hours. Had eight days in Paris. I do think it the most expensive city I ever visited as a tourist. I am very keen on Hamburg. The night life is as gay as Paris but much more perverted. I saw no night life in Paris. Can you imagine that, but I am told it is much bolder and gayer than in Paris. There were numerous times, Sashey, when I wonder if you and I would ever get leisure to do some of the 'Old World' places together. The good and the bad, which reminds me of the inclosure, it fits you so admirably. Do you still have any dreams of my ever being a part of your life? If you ever got rich would you take me to the 'unusual' and would we do the 'unusual?' Where is she? I can't understand how come she stayed home a year. Do you still intend to stick to it?

Still Feel Close.

"And how about the book? Surely you are devoting your time through it strictly, but surely—is the dedication still to E. H. D.?

"What are you doing with your days this summer, Sashey. I really don't believe I let a day go by without thought of you. We were once so close—and—still feel close to you. If you were not now at her home you could easily drive to Washington and I could take a bus there. I like the buses. I would adore seeing Washington under your tutorlege—but I suppose this can not be. Gee, Sashey, where da days go? Is there a heaven for good days, a hell for bad ones, purgatory for the merely dull. Seven of them passing every week to where, and why?

"'Sashey—I've meant to ask you so often how is the Colitys. Are you as nervous. How is your work?

"Will you take this letter and answer all my questions—soon and by air mail?

"Did you mean it that you would give me a cigarette case? You may be sure I would hold on to it this time. Any way, it shows you keep your promise. * * *

Interesting Books.

"My sister drove to California this summer. Told her to look you up if she passed your way. Have you read any interesting books? You know the kind I mean. Well, dear, this is a long letter from Betty, who still holds you very, very dear to her heart."

New York, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The address, 150 Riverside drive, used by "E. H. D." in a letter to Prof. Elisha Kent Kane, held in Hampton, Va., in connection with the death of his wife, is that of a hotel.

Hampton officials said the initials were those of a "Betty Dodd," but employes of the hotel said no woman of that name or initials had been there recently. They expressed the belief some one casually entered the hotel and used its stationery.

WATER POWER AND COAL.

What is the relative importance in the industrial world of the United States of electrical energy derived from water power that several aspirants for presidential honors and a minority party should try to magnify it to the dimensions of a national campaign issue? From the prominence given the question of Government ownership of water power projects the average reader would be given to understand that American industry was in danger of being robbed of its major source of energy. In reality water power furnishes less than one-twelfth of our power supply.

In his recent address to the American Bar Association Gov. Ritchie made effective reply to the advocates of Federal operation of hydraulic power developments, such as Gov. Roosevelt, Gov. Pinchot and Senator Norris, as contrary to the spirit and policy of the Nation, and he warned against experimenting with power development, which is an industry still in the making.

This is a point well worthy of consideration, since water power today furnishes only 8 per cent of the requirements of American industry. From the standpoint of importance in providing power coal is still eight times as necessary as turbines. Industrial power in the United States is derived from the five important sources in approximately the following ratio: Soft coal, 55 per cent; hard coal, 8 per cent; petroleum, not including gasoline used in automobiles, 20 per cent; natural gas, 8 per cent, and water power, 8 per cent.

So, it is evident, that whatever attitude is taken with regard to the development and marketing of water power, its relative importance may readily be overestimated. No less an authority than Prof. Steinmetz said that if every drop of rain falling in the United States could be harnessed it would not provide enough power to take the place of the energy produced from coal. The necessity of finding some solution for the chaotic condition of the bituminous coal mining industry is of greater importance to the welfare of Americans than Federal participation in hydraulic enterprises.

Anthracite coal mining is older, and after years of tribulation has organized itself just as the steel industry has done. Wages are fixed by mutual agreement and working conditions are settled. The trouble in the bituminous fields is not found among the employes of the 1,500 companies operating with modern equipment and producing 80 per cent of the soft coal, but among the 4,500 small mines producing 20 per cent and finding it difficult to meet competition except by cutting wages. Abandonment of 2,000 mines from a former total of 8,000 and a reduction in the number of miners from 750,000 to 500,000 has not been sufficient to stem overproduction and demoralized prices in the face of competitive fuels.

Soft coal operators appreciate the necessity of organization and regulation of the industry, as has been done successfully in the Pennsylvania hard coal fields. The greatest stumbling block so far has been the inability to hold the hundreds of individual small mine operators in line. They form the disturbing element that so frequently unsettles both labor and market prices, not only among themselves, but the larger concerns as well. With its continual troubles from strikes, lockouts and price cutting it is time soft coal took a lesson in cooperative organization from the industries with which it is so closely allied—hard coal, steel and railroads.

HEAVY FIRE LOSSES.

With the approach of Fire Prevention Week, October 4 to 10, the National Board of Underwriters circulates figures on the loss of life and property that should make citizens realize the necessity of exerting themselves every week in the year to minimize the heavy fire losses due to carelessness. The total yearly sacrifice reaches startling proportions. Over 10,000 deaths result annually from fires, while the direct loss amounts to $500,000,000. Including the cost of fire-fighting organizations the total fire tax greatly exceeds $1,000,000,000.

Every 24 hours in the United States 1,114 dwellings suffer from fire losses, or at the rate of 1 every minute and a half; 12 public buildings burn, 155 mercantile buildings have fires, 132 farms suffer loss and 6 churches or chapels are totally or partially destroyed. More fires occur in the winter than in summer and there are one-third more fires at night than in daylight hours, due naturally to fires and lights that are not properly guarded.

A heavy increase in fires is noticeable immediately after closing hours in industrial and mercantile establishments, estimated as high as 35 per cent. This is attributed largely to negligence on the part of employes, who in their haste to close up and get away, leave fires of various kinds in dangerous condition. The greatest loss from preventable fires is attributed to matches and the carelessness of smokers. The ruin they cause amounts to $35,000,000 a year.

The Nation's fire bill last year, if evenly divided, would cost every person $4.16. Owing to an efficient fire force in Washington the rate is considerably less for losses suffered by residents of the District. People are being educated in many ways to use care with fire, but the level of losses remains very high. New hazards, new property and a constantly changing list of new property owners make efforts at fire prevention a never-ending struggle.

A NEW CRIMINAL CODE.

The American Bar Association will perform a useful service if it follows up energetically the consideration it gave at its national convention to the necessity that exists for a comprehensive revision of the criminal code. The reports of the Wickersham commission and expressions from leading jurists all point to the necessity for action in this regard if society is to be afforded proper protection against the terrors of modern gangdom. The criminal today, with money at his command never known before, is able to take many advantages of our antiquated legal machinery.

What is needed is not more amendments and modifications, but a complete revision of the code. Procedure today is based upon the old common law, altered and changed in many attempts to meet radically different conditions, but still containing so many loopholes that the criminal finds it comparatively easy to force delays and all too often to escape punishment entirely. The conflict between the laws even of adjoining States is frequently a handicap to justice.

In presenting the necessity of correcting this evil to the Bar Association one report pointed out that many concepts which had their origin in the social, industrial and political conditions of two or more centuries ago are still employed, though they are poorly adjusted to modern conditions, and it is maintained that "proper readjustment can not be made through the haphazard action of legislatures in amending existing laws."

Not only the Bar Association, but the American Law Institute and the Association of American Law Schools recognize the urgent necessity of the adoption of a criminal code that will eliminate present glaring deficiencies. It will be the most efficacious step that can be taken to rid American cities of the disgrace of gang rule and court defiance. The responsible legal bodies of the Nation will perform a most useful and necessary service if they exert their influence to advance this cause.

MAUDE ADAMS.

Occasionally a rumor creeps into print to the effect that Maude Adams will return to the stage. For thirteen years this actress has been in retirement. Yet there is more interest in her career than in that of later players. It was announced last year that Miss Adams, whose name is indelibly associated with the J. M. Barrie plays, notably "Peter Pan," would return to the stage in an American comedy, and under the direction of a celebrated New York impresario. That promise failed of fulfillment.

Now comes word that Miss Adams will take to the footlights this season in "The Merchant of Venice," in which she will play Portia opposite Mr. Otis Skinner's Shylock.

There is a consummation not only devoutly to be wished, but one possible of attainment. Miss Adams as Portia, in the stately robes associated with that character, could not fail to charm. Though she has never played the part, she might easily make the ideal Portia, as she undoubtedly would have been the perfect Juliet had she assumed that role.

Whatever the outcome, the fact that America's favorite actress is considering a return to the stage will delight her old admirers and give the new generation a standard by which to judge dramatic genius.

AUCTION BRIDGE SURVIVES.

American bridge teachers, about to assemble in convention, are beset with the devilish question: What to do with auction bridge?

Professional contract bridge players, it seems, have been bombarding the teachers on their way to New York, pleading for the annihilation of the old form of the game.

Ely Culbertson, the bridge expert, received a radio message while on the high seas—and although Mr. Culbertson was seasick and weary at heart over the choppy voyage, he dispatched a snappy answer to Bridge Headquarters, Inc., telling the great exponents of contract bridge—Sidney Lenz, Milton Work, et al.—where to head in, where to get off; for Mr. Culbertson, of the old school, is still strong for auction bridge. Said he: "Exponents of contract bridge should get the Soviet government to embody their official contract system in the five-year plan. Maybe that will help the world depression."

This is cruel, but it will bring balm of Gilead to the hearts of those baffled by the scoring board for contract bridge, at the same time soothing the sensibilities of loyal devotees to the more leisurely auction bridge and its simpler scoring system.

WOMEN WORKERS.

"The increasing number of women in industry has done much to change the aspect of American life. Women fill jobs that should rightfully go to men; they prefer factory work to raising families; the emancipation of women has taken them out of their homes." These familiar statements should be examined in the light of the census figures for 1930, as compared with those of the prewar or even the Victorian period.

At the beginning of the present century women made up 19 per cent of the working population, whereas today women constitute 22 per cent. In 1880 the percentage was 15. But the increase in feminine wage-earners over the last half century is not enough to warrant the idea that this factor is largely responsible for a momentous change in American life. It is surprising to find that women have captured only seven more jobs out of every 100 available than they held during the conservative eighties.

The war is frequently blamed for development of the independent spirit which drew women into industry and kept them there. Yet even the influence of those years brought only a small increase in the ratio of women workers to men. Men continue to do most of the world's work outside of the home. In a typical group of wage-earners the increased number of women is so slight as to be unnoticeable to the casual observer.

At the present rate of increase of women workers it will be 200 years before they will equal the number of men workers.

It's a poor day when Wall Street does not announce that a "constructive statement" is about to come from President Hoover, to the effect that beer is good for the depression.

SOL BLOOM

By WALKER S. BUELL, Washington Correspondent of the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

From an office hung with portraits of George Washington of every size and kind, and crowded with statues, busts, statuettes, plaques and stained-glass portrayals of the Father of His Country, a human dynamo is radiating patriotic currents to every crossroads in the United States of America.

I do not mean figuratively to every crossroads, but literally to every cross-roads. This office, a sort of George Washington Old Curiosity Shop, which is the center of the labors of 125 busy people in surrounding rooms, is in active correspondence with every American community, down to villages so small they are listed as having but eight or ten inhabitants.

The group of offices occupying much of one floor of one of the newest and finest office buildings in the Capital City is the headquarters of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, which is planning the Nation-wide celebration in 1932 of the 200th anniversary of the birth of the first President.

Behind a desk piled high with books and papers in extravagant confusion sits the dynamo, business man, showman, salespsychologist and congressman who is the Big Operator, doing things which probably no other public man would dream of, because no other has the same background. This is Sol Bloom, 61, although he looks 51; member of Congress from the Nineteenth New York District, Democrat, life member of Tammany Hall, the man who built the Midway Plaisance at the Chicago World Fair in 1893, who built his first theater when he was 17, who with the exception of Frohman and Brady is said to be the oldest showman in America, who is a retired real estate and construction man of large means and who has a vision for this George Washington anniversary large enough to make you dizzy.

This is Sol Bloom, who has thought of everything, from having George M. Cohan write a song, "Father of the Land We Love," to arranging for the placing of a copy of one of the best Washington portraits, not in every schoolhouse in America, but in every room of every schoolhouse in America.

Spouting information like a machine gun and moving energetically, Bloom conducted a visitor through one branch after another of his group of offices. He passed through the publicity room, where a staff turns out reams of material which at first found its way chiefly to waste baskets, but which now, as shown by large wall charts of daily and weekly press clippings, is finding its way into an astounding number of thousands of news columns. He led the visitor through the historical department, where four historians check every single fact regarding Washington before it is incorporated in the vast and growing list of the commission's publications, pamphlets and handbooks.

At one door Bloom paused.

"This girl is blind," he said, quietly. He passed into a room where a young woman, blind, was listening to another reading from a book. This young woman selects what most appeals to her of the readings and they are printed by the Braille system so the sightless will have their part in the bicentennial observance.

In another room colored prints were being made of colonial uniforms, historically correct in every detail, for use in the department of pageants. In another, in a large filing case, is a collection of every known song, solo, cantata and chorus of colonial times, a collection which one historian forecast it would be impossible to make.

Finally, we moved into a large office stacked to the ceiling with packages of supplies, stationery, mail bags filled to overflowing and numerous filing cabinets.

"Name any town in America," snapped Bloom, like a magician asking you to watch carefully to see he has nothing up his sleeve.

"Painesville, Ohio," I retorted.

"Painesville, Ohio," barked Bloom at an office girl, who shot out an arm, opened a drawer and handed Bloom an envelope. There it was, everything about Painesville on a bicentennial questionnaire form—name of the city manager, leading citizens, organizations of every kind and persons who head them, schools and all other information useful to the commission.

"We can give you the facts about any city, town or village in America in ten seconds," said Bloom, with the satisfaction of the magician who has successfully taken the bunny out of the hat.

At the end of 1 hour and 40 minutes, which seemed about 10, I emerged from the confusion of paintings, portraits, busts and plaques of George Washington, saying to myself, "What a man!"

Strangely enough, and not unpatriotically either, I was not thinking of the Father of His Country.

I meant Sol Bloom.

POST HASTE.

The Texas Legislature is to be felicitated upon its dignified restraint in calling Gov. Huey Long just a "consummate liar."

Gov. Long becomes a member of the United States Senate in December. Possibly his experience with Texas solons may be useful as a demonstration that insulting a legislative body with criminal charges is not the surest way of having it adopt his pet measures.

With the great General Electric Co. taking the lead it is a vindication of our contention that out of the depression there will surely come better industrial planning and better relations between employers and labor.

Have the British authorities become so ingenuous as to believe they can "readjust" proposed wage cuts in the Navy and have "strikes" stop there?

The Chilean government suppresses a naval mutiny opposing pay reductions and executes the leaders; England capitulates the first day. What world is this, please?

"Barkis is willin'" to join a naval holiday party. It doesn't sound exactly like an American slogan. Are we tired initiating moratoriums?

Senator Fess says he didn't say that Congress would revise the prohibition laws within 60 days after it was demanded by the Legion, but it sounded natural.

Tomorrow Chairman Fess opens the Pennsylvania campaign with a keynote speech. May his tuning fork be well censored.

If the farmers would turn down every third row as fast as the Farm Board turns down everything there would soon be no overproduction.

Senator Sheppard is coming back this winter to land on wine bricks and to make the buyer as guilty as the seller. All the kick has worn off his original eighteenth amendment glory.

Local ground rules have been arranged for Gandhi's visit to the king, but think what a suspension of decolletage edicts would be required to admit him to one of Queen Mary's audiences.

Buffalo made a test to see if there was cash about. Everybody, from street cars to department stores, reduced prices for one day and took in $5,000,000. Our spendthrifts have become thrifty spenders.

Talk of a second debt postponement before a fourth of the first period has elapsed does seem to be crowding the mourners a bit.

THE CROW.

The crow has humor. Now and then
I'm sure he laughs aloud
Seeing the foolishness of men
Who seem so very proud.

For yesterday I know that he Gave me a hoarse guffaw
As perched upon a towering tree
My fit of rage he saw.

That inky bird with humor keen
Unquestionably hissed
Because upon the eighteenth green
A two-foot putt I missed.

I know those little beady eyes
That moment flashed with glee
As he let loose those jeering cries
To mock the pride of me.

"Haw-haw," he shrieked. "If trifles small
Can trouble mortals so,
Give me a life 'mid pine trees tall;

A Woodpecker Called a Thrush Must Still Peck Wood for His Rations

By ROBERT QUILLEN

BILL JONES was an American citizen who had corns on his hands and bitterness in his heart.

Bill was a brick mason and a good one. When times were good and many people were building houses, he had work to do and earned good wages; but his car was a cheap one, he lived in a shabby little house, and he envied the people who had soft jobs and lived on the fat of the land.

"Darn this system," said Bill. "It isn't right for a few slick schemers to grab everything and boss the land while I slave for them to get a bare living. Private ownership is wrong. Everything should belong to the people."

A cop heard him and said: "Cussin' the Government won't get you nowhere. You've got to organize to get results."

So Bill began to make stump speeches urging the workers to start a revolution and seize control of all private property.

"Down with capitalists and bosses!" he cried.

The people listened and liked it. The idea of living in a land of equality where everything belonged to everybody and no man was richer than another appealed to them as an ideal arrangement.

There was a revolution—bloodless, but wholly successful. Mass meetings selected delegates to a national convention and the convention chose five sensible men with horny hands to direct the affairs of the country.

Bill was happy. The people owned everything and he was one of the people. The curse of capitalism was gone. Men were free and equal.

One day an agent of the committee of five came to see Bill and said: "Well, we're getting everything organized and working smoothly and it's time for you to get busy and do your bit."

"Fine," said Bill. "I want a desk job."

"Sorry," said the agent. "Desk jobs are for trained executives."

"And I want a big house and a fine car," said Bill.

"Still sorry," said the agent. "Those things are for the comrades who have the big jobs."

"Then where do I come in?" Bill demanded.

"You," said the agent, "will lay brick."

"Darn such a system," growled Bill.

PRO AND CON

Democratic Machine Upset.

Detroit News.

There are welcome signs of a political awakening in the South. This political rebirth was noticed when Virginia, North Carolina, Florida and Texas fell off the national Democratic bandwagon in 1928 and voted for Republican electors for the first time since the "reconstruction" days. Whatever the motives of the majority may have been, that vote of 1928 was a vast surprise to those who had predicted that the South must always remain a Democratic pocket borough, since the Democracy was the "white man's party." It proved that when the voters were sufficiently aroused, they could not be controlled either by habit or shibboleth.

Now comes Mississippi, which for years has been a battleground between factions that catered to ignorance and prejudice, but which has turned at last against both the machine in power and the machine constructed to replace it. The State of Vardaman and Bilbo has repudiated the ideas and the customs for which these men stood, and has nominated for governor on the Democratic ticket (and nomination is equivalent to election) an independent who dared fight both the Bilbo organization and the one framed to replace it, but to keep its program and its methods. He bears the Democratic name of Mike Sennett Conner.

Forgotten Meanings.

"Politics" is defined by Webster as "the art of science of government." What a blessing it would be if we could use it in that sense and be understood.

Is Al a Contender?

Houston Post-Dispatch.

The refusal of Alfred E. Smith to allow a New York newspaper to eliminate him as a prospective Democratic candidate for President will clear the way for some lively political speculation and perhaps for the beginning of another Smith-for-President boom.

It has been rumored for months that the Roosevelt boom finds little favor in the Smith camp. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who took over Smith's old office at Albany, is a wet, but he is not quite as wet as the former governor. Smith probably is disturbed also by Gov. Roosevelt's attitude toward Tammany Hall.

These may be the reasons for the apparent estrangement between men who should be close political, if not personal, friends. It is equally possible that the reason for Smith's coolness is a lurking ambition to make another race for President.

Leaders of Discontent.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

There is a tendency in politics to capitalize on economic depression, especially among those political leaders who are better showmen than statesmen. This is conspicuously the case with William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, governor of Oklahoma, and there are certain to be others in the agricultural States of the Middle West before the 1932 campaign is far advanced.

In substance the case of these men is built on the theory that bankers and leaders in business are in a giant conspiracy to defraud the common people; that only by stripping them of their means can we hope to recover prosperity to the common man. This conspiracy theory goes back in history a long way, and it still lacks adequate proof.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Economic Issue Must Predominate in Campaign, Says Virginia Democrat, Who Objects to a Government Ownership Candidate.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Gov. Ritchie's Atlantic City address assailing Government ownership of public utilities is sound and should meet the approval of every thinking Democrat of this country. It should also put a quietus to the boom of a certain other prominent Democrat who is known to favor such socialistic views on this question. Nothing would be more suicidal for the Democratic party than for it to nominate as its candidate for President in 1932 a man who favors Government ownership of public utilities. I, for one, a lifelong Democrat, would certainly either vote the Republican ticket or else go fishing on election day rather than cast my vote for such a candidate.

On the other hand it was perhaps unfortunate, at least for the governor, that he indicated in his address that the prohibition issue should not be subordinated to economic issues. There is no doubt that prohibition has played an important part in bringing on the many ills of the Nation with which we are now confronted, and that a modification to permit light wines and beer would do much to cure the present unstable and unsatisfactory conditions and prepare the way for real temperance. But a large portion of the voters are not yet convinced of this fact, largely because of the misleading and wholly incorrect propaganda broadcast throughout the country by such organizations as the Antisaloon League. Eventually those who now believe in the virtues of prohibition will come to know the truth and will then see to it that this monster piece of legislation is either repealed or modified.

However, the time is not ripe for such a move. The present economic condition demands precedence over all other issues, and any candidate who does not recognize this fact should not be even seriously considered for the nomination in 1932.

VIRGINIA DEMOCRAT.

Dr. Bleacher Recalls Boyhood Baseball Thrills, and Feels Them Still in Stubborn Games, Regardless of Small Crowds.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In the case of seasoned fans the thrill of baseball is not necessarily greatest at games where the presence of an eager holiday crowd lends color and animation to the pastime. On a day when the weather is threatening, with a small attendance, the game which unexpectedly becomes a battle royal is something for the seasoned fan to talk about.

Those cash customers miss a whole lot who become so pennant crazy that they can not get full enjoyment out of any stubbornly contested game. Even if the home club is a tailender, the hot game which develops into extra innings is calculated to make an old timer sit tight in the spell of unadulterated baseball excitement.

On such occasions my thoughts have turned before now to the diamond of boyhood in the village outskirts, with its stubbly outfield, including the picturesque old apple tree which marked the home run boundary. Add to the score or so of rural rooters a bunch of cattle and an old farm horse behind a pasture fence in place of the modern big league multitude, and the picture is complete. The similarity of the sporting thrill of then and now is proof that man is immortal.

Any faithful rooter will understand. Free from the distractions of a crowded stadium, the baseball devotee whose kid complex is properly developed gets an old familiar kick out of a close cold-weather thriller which makes an overcoat superfluous.

It is the next best thing to being seated once more in the resounding old wooden stand, which we would have blushed to call a stadium, in the days when young Walter Johnson used to stand pennant-winning champs on their heads—when every cash customer was a rabid fan and hard-boiled umpires were in all their glory.

HENRY WARD BLEACHER.

Suggests Formal Observance of Fiftieth Anniversary of President Garfield's Death.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: If a semicentennial of a great man's death and the centennial of his birth are of importance, then there should be some notice taken of the fact that Saturday, September 19, will mark the fiftieth year after the death of James A. Garfield, the twentieth President of the United States, and that November 19, of this year, will be the one hundredth anniversary of his birth.

President Garfield met his death blow at the hands of an assassin in this city on July 2, 1881, and died at Elberon, N. J., on the 19th of the following September. One of the most eloquent orations ever delivered in the United States Senate was that of James G. Blaine in homage to the memory of Garfield.

It will be proper and fitting if exercises of some sort are held here and at Elberon to mark the semicentennial of the passing of this great man, who was one of the Presidents to die the death of a martyr, and whose life, following the hard path from the humblest poverty and privation upward to various honors, culminated in the greatest of all possible promotions to any man, the chief magistracy of this country.

Republics are said to be ungrateful, but a country like the United States can not afford to ignore the anniversaries of the birth and death of one of its noblest sons, whose example shines and will shine forever as a beacon of hope to the poor and struggling boys of all climes to show what an American President did with his meager opportunities, through the exercise of indomitable will and with right living.

BAR GROUP RECORDS DRY LAW OPPOSITION

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Prohibition had its brief moment at the American Bar Association convention today when the subject was dismissed with the official reading of the association's year-old poll favoring repeal.

It was the first time the vote obtained in a referendum last October had been given to the association in convention assembled and was proffered without comment. The convention took no action, nor did it discuss the vote, which showed almost 14,000 members favoring repeal and 6,240 opposed.

Charles A. Boston, president of the association, has explained that the vote disposed of prohibition so far as association action was concerned. The presentation of it to the convention was taken as explanation of the fact that prohibition is not mentioned in the program; that the association regards the question as having been settled.

Meanwhile, William Draper Lewis, director of the American Law Institute, in an address, called "criminal justice in this country a "national disgrace." Mr. Lewis said the lawyer had a greater responsibility for reformation of this condition than has any other class.

The American Law Institute is participating in a scientific study of the criminal codes with a view to restating the law as a basis for readjustment of the law.

The advice of George Washington to the first Continental Congress that public distilleries be built to make liquor for the Revolutionary Army was related to the association by Mr. Boston in his opening address to the convention. Mr. Boston suggested that if that advice had been followed America probably would have no prohibition problem.

The National Association of Women Lawyers, meeting here, elected Olive Scott Gabriel, of New York, president; G. Gullock, of Los Angeles, vice president, and Grace Rohleder, of Washington, treasurer.

Missing 2-Year-Old Girl Is Found in Attic Closet

Boston, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Patricia Kirby, 2-year-old daughter of Tom Kirby, former national amateur light heavyweight boxing champion, was found today in an attic closet three doors from her home while a widespread search, begun when she disappeared Tuesday, was being extended throughout the city.

A police investigation was started immediately, however, after Dr. William P. Johnston, called to examine the child, had expressed the belief that Patricia had been well cared for; that she showed no need or desire for food, and that she probably had not been in the closet more than a few hours.

Poisonous Fumes Kill Two Men Painting Tank

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Two men were killed by poisonous paint fumes today and two others overcome, one of them seriously, while painting the interior of a huge water tank 145 feet above the plant of the Todd Protectograph Co.

An inhalator crew made its way with difficulty to a small platform encircling the 100,000-gallon tank and worked without success to revive the men who had succumbed.

Camera Permits Study Of Sun's Huge Flames

Lancaster, Pa. (U.P.).—Development of a new camera will enable students at Franklin and Marshall College here to study flames 400,000 miles long thrown off by the sun.

William F. Long, teacher in the astronomy department of the college, plans to arrange the camera to photograph the sun flares, which are 16 or more times as high as the earth is wide, he said.

A telescope with 40-inch defractors will be used. The camera will be attached to the telescope. Exposures will be made for a hundredth of a second or less. Sun spots may also be recorded in the photography process.

Hogs Lowest in 23 Years.

Chicago, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Hogs today sold at the lowest price in more than 23 years. It was the minimum September quotation for 30 years, the culmination of five successive days of decline brought about by excessive supplies. Choice shipping hogs brought only $5.90 a hundred, while other kinds of selected animals sold at $5.70 to $5.85.

Bergen, Norway, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The submarine Nautilus, on her way home from her polar voyage, will arrive here Saturday, she informed the marine station today by radio. The message said the Nautilus would stay here two days to take aboard provisions.

REPUBLICANS DEFY ROOSEVELT ON AID

New York Senate Passes Bill to Spend $20,000,000 on Idle Relief.

Albany, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Threat of a veto by Gov. Roosevelt and the advice of their own State chairman today failed to deter the Republican majority in the New York Legislature from putting through the Senate an unemployment relief bill contrary to the wishes of the Democratic executive.

The Senate, holding its 28 votes intact, pushed over the Republican $20,000,000 distress measure, that the Democratic executive said he would veto. The Democrats solidly disapproved, but they were three votes short. Tomorrow the Assembly minus two bolters from the neighborhood of the State chairman, W. Kingsland Macy, is set to enact the bill. Adjournment of the extraordinary session convened on August 25 is scheduled for tomorrow night.

Mr. Roosevelt, however, has other ideas if he adheres to his declaration of a few days ago to reconvene the Legislature to again submit his unemployment bills. The legislative tug of war is largely over who will spend the unemployment money. The governor proposed a commission of three "outstanding citizens" to administer the relief money. He would have them unfettered. The Republican program permits the governor to name the administrators, but subjects them to some supervision by the State Welfare Department.

The governor also believes the Republican bill would give the relief workers a "blank check" on State finances and that several times the $20,000,000 might be expended and some of it diverted away from its intention—employment of public work and food, shelter and clothing for destitute for whom no work can be provided.

Senator John J. McNaboe, New York Democrat, introduced in the Senate today a reference to Mr. Roosevelt's consideration as a Democratic nominee for the Presidency, when he declared:

"Your State leader, Mr. Macy, told you to go along with the governor. Whom are you repudiating? Is it your State leader, or are you trying to stem the ever-increasing tide that is bearing the governor of this State toward the White House?"

Limitation of Liability Denied Vestris Owners

New York, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Federal Judge Goddard denied today limitation of liability to the owners of the steamship Vestris, which sank November 12, 1928, with large loss of life.

The decision affects 600 claimants who have brought suit for sums aggregating $5,000,000. The owners, Liverpool, Brazil & River Plata Navigation Co., Ltd., and Lamport & Holt, Ltd., sought to have their liability limited to $90,000, the value of the cargo sunk with the vessel.

Five Reported Lost With Ship.

Hamburg, Germany, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The motorship Ernestine, bound from Skien, Norway, to Flensburg, Germany, was reported to have sunk today, with the loss of its crew of five.

Four Killed as Plane Falls.

Wales Takes up Cycle; May Launch Society Fad

London, Sept. 17 (U.P.).—The Prince of Wales, expert horseman and skilled aviator, was reported today to have adopted a "push bike" as his latest mode of transportation.

Society circles of London's West End were surprised by messages from Biarritz, saying the prince was bicycle riding in France but it was admitted that society would be ready to follow his lead if he brings his "bike" back to England.

It was pointed out that the British heir could greatly increase the business of bicycle manufacturers by reviving the prewar sport and that he might do it for that reason.

Artillery Maneuvers To Be Held in Fairfax

Coast Artillery troops from Fort Totten, N. Y.; Fort McClellan, Ala., and Fort Monroe, Va., are conducting maneuvers this week and next throughout Fairfax County in connection with which more than 200 miles of telephone and telegraph wire have been laid along the Leesburg-Alexandria pike, the Lee-Jackson highway and other roads in the county.

Rare Drug Keeps Sick Woman Alive

Addison's Disease Yields to Doses of Cortin, but Supply Is Limited.

Chicago, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Snatched from death last week by a new treatment for Addison's disease, a destitute mother improved tonight while the medical world watched this latest use of endocrine extracts in treating the ailment.

Mrs. Andrew Nelson's six children and her unemployed husband hoped and prayed by her bedside. They also wondered where they could continue to get the rare extracts doctors say is necessary to prolong her life.

Her life is dependent, doctors say, on cortin, obtained from the adrenal glands in cattle, and thus far cortin is a product only of medical school laboratories and not to be had commercially.

It was from the laboratories of Dr. F. H. Hartman, of the University of Buffalo, that the cortin first administered to Mrs. Nelson when she was believed to be dying was rushed by airplane last Thursday. More has since been obtained both from Buffalo and from the Mayo Hospital at Rochester, Minn. The hospital now has about ten days' supply on hand.

Poles Plan Shaft to House.

Warsaw, Poland, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The city council has accepted an offer by Ignace Paderewski to erect a monument here in honor of Col. E. M. House, who was President Wilson's close personal friend and advisor.

Pope and Mussolini To Sacrifice Leader

Church and Fascist Pact to Be Sealed as Duce Visits Pontiff.

Vatican City, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Premier Mussolini's impending visit to the Pope, which will symbolize the accord now existing between them, is to be accompanied by the sacrifice by each of them of one of his active leaders in the controversy over the Catholic Action organization.

Signor Mussolini's contribution to peace, it was said today in responsible Vatican quarters, will be the "resignation" of Maj. Giovanni Giuriati, guiding spirit of 3,000,000 Blackshirts.

Maj. Giuriati is to abandon the secretaryship of the Fascist party, as head of which Signor Mussolini enjoys the title, Il Duce. The Vatican already has announced the Pope's peace offering in the removal of Father Enrico Rosa as head of the Catholic publishing house. Father Barbera, who is more friendly to Fascism, has been appointed in his place.

Mate of Pauline Lord, Of Stage, to Ask Decree

Reno, Nev., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—O. B. Winters, husband of Pauline Lord, stage star, has established divorce residence here.

It was learned today Winters will charge extreme mental cruelty. Negotiations for a property settlement are understood to be under way.

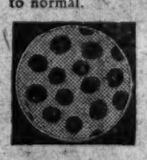
"I want to tell you — that red-blood-cells are the very foundation of sturdy health"

Why you should be interested in your Blood Count

It is important to know that the red-blood-cells are the "ships" that sail in the blood stream and carry nourishment and oxygen to all parts of the body . . . they build and sustain—they also remove impurities from the tissues.

Whenever the number of red-blood-cells is materially reduced, lowered vitality ensues and the system becomes more susceptible to the ravages of various diseases. It is a great protection to health and physical well-being to keep the red-blood-cell count up to normal.



(Left) Microscopic view of healthy red-blood-cells. The blood stream should contain about 5,000,000 of these cells to the cubic millimeter. They carry nourishment and oxygen to every part of the body—they also remove impurities from the tissues.

(Right) Weak red-blood-cells—only 60 per cent of normal strength—they lack the power to resist infection and disease or to rebuild flesh and to carry away the impurities. Such a condition is often responsible for body weakness, paleness, sallow complexion, pimples and boils.

Don't let them count you out!

—lets pause a moment to give those vital red cells the consideration they deserve. They mean so much for better health and happiness.

It is not fair to expect one to like work or to enjoy play with a "lowered" blood count.

Time drags when we don't feel well . . . the mind just won't function . . . melancholy and the blues overtake us.

So often the reason is simple—that good body of ours has "run-down" under the strain of our way of living . . . pressure of work and worry.

If this is your trouble, why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning . . . so are pimples, boils and paleness. A general run-down condition means a lack of normal resistance to infection and disease. A lagging appetite often leads to underweight and ill health.

You cannot be low in strength and be happy—let's be happy. "Don't let them count you out" when more red-blood-cells will give you that New Strength to "carry on."

For generations S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a good trial.

You should know that S.S.S. has the distinct advantage of being composed of fresh vegetable medicinal ingredients in concentrated form . . . it is Mother Nature's formula.

Arrangements for the affair are being cared for by the membership committee of the League of Republican Women.

Assisting Mrs. Doak, who is a member of the membership committee, will be Mrs. Edward E. Gann, Mrs. Virginia White Speel, national committeewoman for the District of Columbia; Mrs. Ellis A. Yost, director of the women's division of the Republican national committee; Mrs. Luther Reichelderfer, vice president of the women's organization, and other prominent Republican women.

The party will be held from 3:30 to 6:30 p. m., at Mrs. Doak's home, "Notre Nid," located at the Virginia end of Chain Bridge, in Fairfax road.

Mrs. Stimson Departs For Summer Home.

Mrs. Stimson, wife of the Secretary of State, left Washington yesterday afternoon for her summer home, Highold, at West Hills, Long Island, to remain a week or ten days.

Mrs. Robert Davis, wife of Col. Davis, retired, arrived in Washington yesterday by airplane from Little Silver, N. J., to spend the winter with her daughter, Miss Edwina Davis. Mrs. Davis was accompanied by her other daughter, Miss Dita Davis. They will become established in an apartment at the Cairo.

Mrs. Robert McCormick was among the passengers aboard the Paris, arriving in New York yesterday. Mrs. McCormick will probably come to Washington later in the month and will make a brief visit in her Chicago home before opening her house in Massachusetts avenue.

Mr. H. V. Sanford, of Knoxville, Tenn., is a guest at the Mayflower with his daughter, Miss Polly Sanford, and Miss Alice Shaw. They have been at Nantucket for the summer and are now on their way to Tennessee.

Two Popular Diplomats Are Transferred

Putlitz Is Promoted to Haiti; Dew Returns to London.

Transfers, inevitable in diplomatic life, will take from Washington two popular young diplomats, one from the German Embassy, and the other from the British Embassy. Preparing to leave for Haiti around the first of October is Herr Putlitz, first secretary of the German Embassy.

He has received promotion to the position of charge d'affaires and will assume the duties of his new post in Haiti early in October. In the meantime, Herr Putlitz is arranging for the moving of his lares and penates from his home in Nineteenth street. He will ship his car and his furniture by boat from New York, but he will go to Haiti via Key West and Havana.

The personnel of the British Embassy staff will be altered this winter by the absence of Mr. A. R. Dew, third secretary of the embassy, and one of the youngest of the British diplomats in Washington. He has returned to London. The name of his successor here is being withheld awaiting official confirmation.

The Venezuelan Minister to Rome and Senora de Grisanti and their family, who have been at the Italian Lido, are now at Milan visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Congright, the latter formerly Senorita Grisanti, daughter of the Minister and Senora de Grisanti. Senor Grisanti was formerly Minister to the United States.

Dr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Rinehart are in New York.

Miss Jardine Guest In Washington.

Miss Marion Jardine, daughter of the United States Minister to Egypt, and Miss Louise Brooks, granddaughter of Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury, of Philadelphia, and daughter of Mrs. Lionel Atwill, are guests of Dr. and Mrs. William C. Gwynn and their daughter, Miss Louise Harrison Gwynn. Miss Brooks arrived yesterday and they will be week-end guests. Dr. and Mrs Gwynn will entertain at a dinner and theater party tonight for the young people.

The marriage is announced of Miss Mary M. Steffey to Mr. Cecil H. Spedden, both of Baltimore. The ceremony was performed in the home of the brother-in-law and sister of Mr. Spedden, Mr. and Mrs. L. K. McDorman, 5620 Colorado avenue, yesterday at 1 o'clock by Judge Robert Mattingly in the presence of the members of the two families only. After a wedding breakfast Mr. Spedden and his bride left for a prolonged motor trip and will be at home later in Roland Park, Baltimore.

Mrs. Harry R. Fulton and her subdebutante daughter, Miss Carrie Roper Fulton, entertained at luncheon yesterday in the annex of the Cosmos Club in honor of Mrs. Omee Brosher and Miss Jameson Brosher, who will spend this winter in Washington. The company included Mrs. Percy Quin, Mrs. Eugene O. Sykes, Mrs. Garland Fulton, Mrs. J. K. Crain, Mrs. J. W. T. Duval, Mrs Louis Caldwell, Mrs. L. L. Harter, Mrs. P. D. Carson, Mrs. Cecil A. Beasley, Mrs. Thad Brown, Mrs. Thomas Stevenson, Mrs. R. A. Lacey, Mrs. A. C. Dillman, Mrs. Charlton Clark, Mrs. Irene Moore, Miss Constance Russell, Miss Virginia Price, Miss Mary Williams, Miss Mal Sykes, Miss Virginia Dillman, Miss Maxine Duval, Miss Betty Clark, Miss Doris Harter and Miss Peggy Wilson.

Dr. Harry M. Robinson, of Baltimore, who is en route to Europe, is staying at the Hotel Astor, New York.

Dr. and Mrs. G. Stuart Roth, of Syracuse, N. Y., are guests at the Powhatan.

Old Colony House Will Be Restored

Misses Wetmore Leaders in Saving Rhode Island Governor's House.

Miss Edith Wetmore and Miss Maud Wetmore, daughters of the late Senator George Peabody Wetmore, of Rhode Island, have been leaders in the effort to restore and preserve the Old Colony House at Newport. Mr. Myron C. Taylor has been their assistant and through voluntary donations Miss Wetmore announced this week that the house, which was built in 1739, will be completely restored. All the governors of Rhode Island were inaugurated in this house until 1900, the late Senator Wetmore having been one of them. Public receptions were given in it to Presidents Washington, Adams, Jackson and Grant; Gen. Lafayette, and Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry, and from its balcony the Declaration of Independence was read. Mr. William Fitzhugh Whitehouse is president of the commission for the restoration and Mr. Frederic Rhinelander King has donated his services as architect. Mr. Taylor, who has done so much toward completing the fund, is a descendant of William Coddington, one of the settlers of Newport in 1639, and who was one of the earliest of the Colonial governors of the State.

Mr. R. O. Johnson, of Roanoke, Va., is at the Potomac Park Apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis Elkins, of New York and Washington, and their three children will come to Washington this week, after spending the summer at their home in Margate, N. J.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

What Could Be Sweeter?

DEAR Frances McDonald: I ordinarily do not read your column with any regularity. However, on reading "Observant Tom's" enlightened discourse recently, I feel called upon to congratulate you for at last printing a letter that is a welcome relief from the absurd idiocies that readers continually deluge you with.

While it is true that the gentleman's letter is uncannily accurate in its portrayal of modern marriage, I am sure that he is being over-optimistic in predicting its downfall within ten years. Man has shown himself throughout the ages capable of enduring almost any hardship or outrage for unbelievable lengths of time, and I see no reason why he will come to life and display human intelligence within so short a time as ten years.

Undeniably, present-day marriage is an intolerable nuisance and heinious affront upon the delicate sensibilities of man, and almost any relief from it would be a godsend for the average man. I myself have evolved two possible solutions of the problem that might relieve man somewhat of the monstrous burden that now shackles him body and soul and drives him to distraction.

My first plan proposes an immediate abolishment of marriage altogether, relegating it to the trash pile along with such extinct institutions as respect for law and personal liberty. When, under this system, a child is born he would immediately be turned over to a Government institution, established for the sole purpose of raising children, where, under the careful tutelage of trained experts, he would be properly brought up.

In case the child-welfare societies, ecclesiastical organizations or other such mountebanks raise such a holy furore over this sensible proposal is that it is rejected, I have a substitute to offer. I propose that after a man has endured wedlock with the same woman for one year he be extended the courtesy of being allowed to discard her if she has not measured up to his estimate of satisfactory womanhood, without having to support her in luxury the rest of his life, as he does under the existent idiotic divorce regulations. In case, by some unheard-of miracle, he does not tire of her in a year, I would have her put on probation for another year, and so on until he did have enough of her. MARTYRED MAN.

What could be sweeter? The man supreme arbiter of woman's fate! What a world that would be for "martyred men!" But nothing like that is going to happen. Woman brought man to whatever point of civilization he has attained. She set him to work. She forced him to some semblance of orderly existence, and when any changes are made in his program she will make them. She may decide upon probation for him. She may some day demand that he prove his right to posses any woman—even for one year. She may make him prove his worthiness for parenthood. She may yet make his civilization an accomplished fact instead of a pretty illusion. Give her time and she will adjust this marriage business, and when she does let the pale martyrs watch out.

Indoor—Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

AS THE AUTUMN APPROACHES.

THE Scotch plaid days of autumn will soon be here, when we must begin to think about lifting and storing bulbous and tuberous-rooted plants for winter. This work must be done with care. Dahlias should be carefully labeled, having the name firmly attached to the main stem. Cut off the tops about a foot from the ground. Rake the tops into piles and burn them. This prevents the spread of blight or disease and also destroys any insect eggs.

When digging the tubers use a digging fork and lift them so as to avoid injuring them; and let them dry out for a few hours. The best place in which to store them is one that is dry, but not too dry, and well ventilated. Each of the large commercial growers has his own manner of storing dahlias. In fact, they usually store them in rooms built for the purpose.

In the average home it is a case of making the best of the places at hand, which resolves itself into placing the tubers in the cellar. They usually keep or winter well in barrels or wooden boxes. These containers must be lined with newspaper. Always aim to get rid of as much moisture as possible before storing the tubers. Then cover them with dry soil or sand.

Dare Interprets the Mode

New York, Sept. 17.

HO hum, tight hip lines!

Hum ho, normal waist lines belted there!

Oh—er, well, you say it—corsets that do either one thing or the other, but not both!

Meaning that if a corset restrains the hips so that you can wear the tight hip yokes successfully, it pushes up a lot of excess baggage on even the most youthful figure, right to above the corset and where the normal waistline with its waistline belt should be.

That is, all but the single, one-piece corsets that attach right to brassieres do. And these are a little hard to find and very expensive. But you have to wear one, I guess, however expensive, with the new styles if you would be lovely and modish.

The corset, then, that is the most perfect of perfect for the modern 1931 figure, is the type illustrated today. Either all in elastic, not rubber, or elastic and satin fronted. The brassiere attached, and made of heavy lace or knitted, and the straps, sh-h-h-h, elastic, too! Then you can have the smooth, tight hips demanded of fashion, the slender and yet not confined waistline, and the general grace possible only to either naturally beautiful figures or figures whose smart owners are wise enough to encase them in such a garment.

S-o-o-o, now prepare yourself for a shock! For this is the prize leaflet of the year, now honestly! A leaflet telling you—guess? Yes, believe it or not, but you have to, because it's true—telling you how to make a corset like this! And it can be done at home because I have just made one and am wearing it now—and it is as practical and smart and useful as my $60 Paris one that wore out • • • and that's exactly the reason why you can make yourself a corset today—because my Paris one did wear out, and I wasn't there to get a new one. So o-o-o I made one, or the maid-of-all-suffering did—with my instructions.

So if you would like to make a corset like the one illustrated for you today, that does the most gorlicious things for your figure you can imagine, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrations, and go ahead and make for a few dollars a corset that does the most flattering things for your figure that you can imagine!

• • • •

Hints From a Happy Housewife.

"At last," writes sister Dionne, "I've discovered the way to keep crystals as bright and sparkling as they were in the jeweler's showcase the day I bought 'em! As soon as they get dull and dirty looking, fill your washbasin half full of lukewarm water, make a good thick suds of a mild soap, add the juice of half a lemon and a heaping teaspoon of baking soda, and put in all your crystals, whether they're strung on silk or wire. Slosh them up and down gently for two or three minutes, rinse them off in two rinsings of lukewarm water. Then wrap them up in a bath towel, pat them dry, and there you are—scintillating just like new, and much slower to dirty-up again after this kind of beauty treatment.

• • • •

Here's your last, last chance to get autumn, 1931, collar and cuff information! The leaflets have melted away like snow in July, so you'd better send your stamped, self-addressed envelope off immediately to the Dare department of The Washington Post for your copy of the few remaining collar and cuff leaflets.

Au revoir!

WEATHER CONDITIONS

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Washington, Thursday, Sept. 17—8 p.m.

Forecast for the District of Columbia and Maryland—Generally fair and slightly cooler Friday; Saturday, increasing cloudiness, followed by showers Saturday night or Sunday; gentle northwest and north winds, shifting to easterly Saturday.

For Virginia—Generally fair and not quite so warm, probably scattered thundershowers in south portion, Friday; Saturday, increasing cloudiness, followed by showers Saturday night or Sunday; gentle to moderate southwest, shifting to northeast or east winds.

The disturbance that was over the upper lake region Wednesday night has moved rapidly eastward to Quebec and the North Atlantic States. Father Point, Quebec, 29.56 inches, with a trough extending southwestward to Kansas. Wichita, 29.86 inches. Pressure is low and falling almost generally from Alaska southeastward over the Pacific States and the Plateau region. Bethel, Alaska, 29.60 inches, and Boise, Idaho, and Kamloops, British Columbia, 29.68 inches. The northeastern high-pressure area is now centered east of Newfoundland, Foxo, 30.26 inches, and another that extends from Alberta and Saskatchewan to the upper Lake region is moving slowly eastward. Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, 30.24 inches. Showers have occurred in the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States, the lake region, the upper Ohio Valley, and in portions of Nebraska, Kansas and New Mexico, while generally fair weather prevailed elsewhere. The temperature has risen in the Middle Atlantic States, and it has fallen almost generally from the Rocky Mountain region eastward to Michigan and Ohio. The weather is still unseasonably warm, however, over middle and southern sections east of the Rockies. At Wichita, Kans., the temperature reached 100 degrees, and at Oklahoma City, Okla., 98 degrees, this afternoon, the highest of record so late in the season.

General forecast for Atlantic States, lower lake region, Ohio Valley and Tennessee—Fair weather will prevail almost generally Friday, and in the Southern States Saturday, but increasing cloudiness in the middle and northern sections Saturday will likely be followed by showers in the Ohio Valley and the lower lake region Saturday afternoon or night, and in the Middle Atlantic States and eastern New York Saturday night or Sunday. The temperature will not change materially, but it will be slightly lower in the Ohio Valley and the lower lake region Friday, and in the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States by Friday night.

District Air Legion Head Gets Advanced License

When J. Elmer Kries, president of the District Air Legion, received his license as a limited commercial pilot yesterday he became the possessor of a double distinction. He is the first legion member to qualify for this license in a legion ship and the first to have built up flying time of 100 hours by using planes belonging to this flying club exclusively.

"Ted," as he is familiarly known, joined the air legion in 1929, taking his ground school course under Lieut. Noble C. Shilt and flight instruction from Lieut. W. C. Buell. He made his first solo flight early last year.

The fearless Lion Park "Lions" will hold a grid practice Sunday morning at Washington-Lee High field.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

By ELY CULBERTSON

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

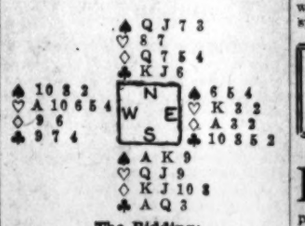
THE IMMATERIAL TRICK.

IT is the mark of a good Contract player to place but little value upon an immaterial trick. In the process of becoming a good Contract player one learns that several immaterial tricks may be sacrificed if as a result of such sacrifice there is a chance that a material trick can be gained. The material trick for the Declarer is the one that makes the contract. The material trick for the defending player is the one by which the contract is defeated. The sacrifice of an immaterial trick to gain several material tricks later is a device too little used in defense, particularly by players who have not had the benefit of competition against those more expert in play.

I had a letter the other day in which the writer said that while she enjoyed my articles very much, some of the problems of play presented were too difficult for her to apply. The story of today's hand is so simple that it should be readily assimilable by the novice at the Contract table, but still is not applied nearly frequently enough. Many a game has been made that should have been defeated because the defending players were too anxious to cash their apparent tricks, forgetting, or disregarding, the fact that honors are given to protect your low cards and to make them into trick winners, rather than trashing them as discards on the Declarer's established low-card tricks. The play of hands at no-trump involves the element of time; that is, the success or defeat of such contracts generally depends upon which has been able first to establish low-card-tricks.

Both sides vulnerable. South Dealer.



The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
1◇(1)	Pass	2◇(2)	Pass
3NT(3)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—South elects to bid his shaded diamond holding rather than no-trump, because of the dangers of notrump bidding, particularly when vulnerable. While he expects to play the hand at notrump, if his partner is strong enough to make a response to his bid, he puts in a "Stop loss" order by first showing the suit, even though its strength is not quite up to par.

2—North has a choice between a bid of one notrump and two diamonds. The heart weakness is the deciding factor in passing the decision back to the Opening bidder.

With 5 honor-tricks and balanced distribution South, assured of a favorable diamond situation, bids for game in notrump. The distribution is such as to make the prospect of taking 9 tricks much more attractive than to attempt to take 11.

West opened his fourth best heart. His hand contained no trick-taking possibilities outside the heart suit. There was an outside chance that the defending players might make 4 heart tricks and then all that would be necessary to defeat the contract would be for East to find another trick somewhere. Against this possibility lay the fact that West's hand is devoid of entries save in the heart suit itself. Things looked a little better for the defense when East put up the King and won the first trick. He returned the 3 of hearts. The Declarer had played the 9 on the first lead and on the return played the Queen—a recognized false-card by the Declarer. This, to East, definitely placed five hearts in the West hand. If South held four hearts including QJ 9 4, he would play the 4 to the first trick as the false-card of the 9 would mean the sacrifice of a second stopper in the suit.

West now made the decisive defensive play. The deuce of hearts was still missing and to take the heart return and then clear the suit would establish two good hearts in his hand, it is true, but they would be as unattainable as the moon as far as defeating the Declarer's contract was concerned. To refuse to win the trick might conceivably mean that South would take all the remaining tricks and thus score an additional 50 points in the honor column, but from West's standpoint that was wholly immaterial. If East can not win a trick before the Declarer has scored nine, then game and rubber are gone and an extra trick is not at all vital when measured against the rewards of a defeated contract.

Refusel to win the second round of hearts gave to the defending players their only hope of success. Declarer saw his danger and attempted by the only means at his command to snatch the needed trick if his opponents were not alert. He could count 4 sure spade tricks, 3 club tricks and had already taken a heart. He needed but one diamond for game and rubber. He led the club 3 from his own hand, playing the King from the Dummy, and then led a small diamond from the Dummy toward his own reading. East, however, was not to be deceived. He played the Ace and returned a heart. Thus East and West secured 4 heart tricks and 1 diamond, defeating the contract 1 trick. Had West taken the second lead of hearts and cleared the suit, Declarer would have made 10 tricks instead of 8.

TODAY'S POINTER.

Partnership morale in Contract will always be maintained at a very high level if the following rule is obeyed to the lettter: "Never reproach your partner if there is the slightest thing for which you can reproach yourself." Most disasters could be avoided by a good player himself if he took care to foresee partner's possible mistakes.

When partner makes an error his mind is often too preoccupied to dwell carefully on the new hand dealt and a second and a third mistake of even a more serious nature is apt to follow unless some precautionary measures are taken at once. The best plan is to be deliberately slow for a while and to cheer your partner up until he completely recovers. The same plan should be followed after a large penalty sting.

What Today Means to You

"VIRGO."

IF September 18 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., from 3 p. m. to 4:45 p. m., and from 9 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger hours are from 1 p. m. to 2:45 p. m., and from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m.

The planetary configuration of September 18 indicates an opportunity for travel and advancement of business interests, although there is some danger of underhand dealing on the part of associates to be apprehended. A revival of old friendships is denoted; social activities promise success.

Children born on this September 18 will be studious, industrious and painstaking. As they develop, these early tendencies will be accentuated, and an exceptional degree of good fortune is assured them, unless, before making good, they get tied up in love entanglements, of which there is a strong indication.

You, if born on September 18, have a peculiar temperament, and one that is difficult to comprehend or diagnose. Your methods are not frank and open. You work very much in secret, and are never happier than when engaged in some intrigue. There is nothing dishonest about your actions. What, however, another can obtain by above-board means, you only secure by secretive and baffling ways. You are always afraid to let your left hand know what your right hand does.

You are a fatalist, and, no matter what happens, find consolation in the belief that it cannot be helped. You forget that, as Lucullus says, "we are our own fates: our own acts are out doomamen." You crave power, not that which brings you notoriety, but that which enables you to "pull wires" in secret.

Your nature is not a very kindly one. You are inclined to be hard and cold and this militates against you, especially in social circles. Notwithstanding—or because of—the sternness of your character, you are loyal and sincere to those whom you favor. Your ambition is liable to become a tyrannical master, and make of you a megalomaniac. In the home, you will never find real happiness unless you are "It"—with a capital I. You will never be willing to act as a partner; you must be the whole show.

Boom in Sugar Costly to Kansas

Bond Issues Still Outstanding to Help Pay for Sweet Sorghum Mills.

Topeka, Kans., (U.P.).—Kansas once undertook to become a great sugar producing State, although it takes the oldsters to tell about it. Taxpayers, however, to this day have a pungent reminder of it, if they should care to check the records closely enough. Back in the 80s a sugar boom was ballyhooed and there are still bond issues outstanding designed to help pay for sugar mills.

W. E. Atchison of the State Board of Agriculture ran across the records of the event. The Government helped build two of the factories, at Fort Scott and Ottawa, by direct appropriations. A State and Federal bounty was paid for sugar produced in Kansas.

Sweet sorghums had been introduced following the Civil War, and seed was brought from the East. In 1880 there were 40 varieties of sweet sorghum growing in Kansas. The bounty was cut off by the State Legislature, and the sugar boom collapsed. Few of the mills were in operation more than three years.

A CLEAN SLATE and a good bill-of-health

THE long summer playtime is over. Tan-cheeked and robust, your children return to school. How can you preserve their vacation-energy, stored up during the holidays? Sleep. The right foods. And plenty of milk.

Milk is our most valuable protective food, and it is particularly needful for youngsters who play and study hard all day. Four delicious glassfuls a day will keep your children strong and alert all winter.

So start the children's school at home with this health-lesson: Four glassfuls of Chestnut Farms Milk every day. Watch their eyes twinkle at its taste. Watch their bodies grow, and see their grades improve.

METHODISTS PLAN ROANOKE MEETING

147th Session of Baltimore Conference Will Open on September 30.

Special to The Washington Post.

Roanoke, Va., Sept. 17.—Bishop Edwin D. Mouzon, of Charlotte, N. C., will preside over the 147th session of the Baltimore conference, here, one of the two oldest conferences in the Methodist Episcopal Church South, when it convenes September 30 for a week-long review of Methodist activities. The coming session of the conference is the eleventh to be held in Roanoke.

Bishop Mouzon succeeds as presiding officer of the Baltimore conference the late Bishop W. B. Beauchamp, whose death occurred June 28. A memorial service during the conference session will honor the Methodist leader who last year for the first time served the Baltimore conference as president.

Officers of the conference in addition to Bishop Mouzon include: The Rev. H. M. Canter, Staunton, Va., secretary; the Rev. J. Harry Smith, Lexington, Va., statistical secretary; the Revs. C. R. Curtis, Annapolis, Md.; J. H. Haley, Marlinton, W. Va.; C. J. Clark, Bruceton, Va.; J. H. Bean, Vinton, Va.; N. C. Rice, Greenville, Va.; L. B. Bobbitt, Jarrettsville, Md., and C. E. Brandt, Aberdeen, Md., assistant secretaries; and the Rev. W. G. Winton, Front Royal, Va., assistant secretary in charge of minutes.

Prior to the opening Wednesday of the conference session, Bishop Mouzon will confer with his cabinet, composed of presiding elders of the eight districts in the conference, as follows: The Revs. E. G. Regester, Alexandria district; T. J. Lambert, Baltimore district; D. L. Blakemore, Lewisburg district; C. M. Hesser, Moorefield district; W. F. Locke, Roanoke district; H. M. Canter, Rockingham district; J. H. Balthis, Washington district; E. L. Woolf, Winchester district.

The presence of connectional representatives from staff headquarters in Nashville, Tenn., Atlanta, Ga., St. Louis, Mo., Louisville, Ky., and Washington, D. C., is expected to add interest to the conference session, since these visitors will speak in behalf of denomination-wide causes of missions, Christian education, hospitals, temperance and social service, church extension and finance.

32 Sent to Prison From Martinsburg

Parade of Guilty Pleas Greets U. S. Judge in West Virginia.

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 17.—There was a procession before Federal Judge W. E. Baker here this afternoon with pleas of guilty when court opened and when the day was over 4 had been sent to Atlanta for prohibition violations; 4 for Mann act violations; 2 to Leavenworth for narcotics law violations, and 1 to Atlanta for transporting a stolen car from one State to another. In addition, 21 had been sentenced to various jails for liquor law violations.

In the case of J. Fred Carnell, a cripple, of Keyser, confessing to sale of beer at his restaurant, Judge Baker imposed a $1 fine. When the man said he was without money to pay both fine and car fare home, Judge Baker paid the fine.

Judge Baker announced the October term of court in Wheeling would be shortened one week because he was called to sit with the United States Court of Appeals at Charleston during the time scheduled for the first week of the Wheeling term. The grand jury at Wheeling will not convene until October 26.

Maryland Campus Has New Buildings

Field House for Women Is Completed; Four Others Nearly Finished.

College Park, Md., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—One new building and four others well on the way to completion greeted students returning to the University of Maryland for the 1931-32 season, the largest of which is the new horticultural building, one of the largest on the campus.

The field house for women is the completed building, and was ready for use when the women gathered for the start of the academic year. Of the other four, the women's dormitory and the addition to the engineering building are farther advanced, though the horticultural building and the new men's field house are well under way.

The women's field house, a one-story structure, will be used temporarily for dormitory purposes, until the dormitory is completed. It contains one large room for basket ball and other pastimes and smaller rooms for offices and physical education purposes.

Bodies of Two Victims Of Gas Are Cremated

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Sept. 17.—The bodies of Mrs. Belle A. Hummelshime, 72, and her son, Brewster "Bruce" Hummelshine, 50, formerly of Cumberland, who were found dead in the gas-filled kitchen of their home at Port Washington, Long Island, N. Y., Tuesday, were cremated at Fresh Pond, L. I., this morning.

According to a note by Harold B. Hummelshime, he caused the death of his mother and himself by turning on the gas, although the authorities are under the impression he did not know his mother was in the house when he decided to kill himself. Ill health and failing income are given as the cause. Hummelshime was a member of the bar here and a former city attorney of Cumberland.

William Meacham Weds Miss Margaret Henkel

St. Petersburg, Fla., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—William Shands Meacham, editor of the Danville Register, Danville, Va., was married to Miss Margaret Ball Henkel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Marshall Henkel, of Danville, here today at St. Petersburg Episcopal Church.

The wedding was performed by the Rev. Dr. Henry S. Whitehead and was attended only by the immediate family.

Ten-Week Season On Ducks Asked

Norfolk Body Proposes Three Days' Shooting Out of Each Seven.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—A resolution favoring a ten weeks' duck shooting season, with three days' shooting each week, was adopted by the Norfolk chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America today.

Copies of the resolution, setting forth the position of the association on the Presidential proclamation limiting the 1931-32 season to 30 days, were forwarded to Washington tonight by H. A. Renner, secretary, and to the national headquarters in Chicago, seeking the latter's support in efforts to relieve the situation which affects natives usually employed as guides in this section.

The board discussed means of overcoming loss of revenue occasioned by a limited hunting season. It decided to make a survey of bass fishing areas in the back bay area with a view toward getting a longer season. It was explained that increased bass fishing, with native guides for out-of-State sportsmen, would tend to create a new source of revenue to offset the loss of duck shooting.

Bass Fishing Data Given in Virginia

Richmond, Va., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Commissioner Hart, of the State Game and Inland Fisheries Commission, has been notified by local game wardens that bass fishing opposite and above Lynchburg is good, but that the Shenandoah River south of Bixbees Ferry to the North Carolina line is cloudy, making fishing unfavorable.

W. E. Calohan, game warden at Rustberg, advised the commissioner that catches opposite and above Lynchburg are better than usual. Accommodations can be found for fishing parties in Lynchburg and adjacent counties, he said.

J. V. Renalds, warden of Page County, said that the water of the Shenandoah from Bixbees Ferry to Overall is good, but south of Bixbees Ferry to the North Carolina line the water is cloudy, making fishing favorable in only about half the district. Without rain, however, he said, the water in the south half should be clear by the end of the week.

Virginia Painter's Body Is Recovered in Water

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., Sept. 17.—The body of Gus D. Boutchyard, 42, sign painter, who fell from the city water works dam Tuesday and was drowned, was recovered floating in the old canal early this morning a short distance below his home. Boutchyard was a native of Stafford County and his body was sent there today for burial.

Boutchyard is survived by his widow, who lives here; his father, John W. Boutchyard, Falmouth, Stafford County; three brothers, Warren, Hagerstown, Md.; Elias, Falmouth; Ira, Fredericksburg; Mrs. Harry Snellings and Miss Elaine Boutchyard, Falmouth.

Virginia Supreme Court Adjourns

Injunction Case Against Norfolk Is Postponed on Request.

Staunton, Va., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals adjourned its September term today, after handing down a long list of opinions during the day's session.

Opinions handed down today included: Per curiam: D. M. Chichester and others vs. M. R. Remy, chairman of the Democratic committee of Stanford County and others. Upon petition for mandamus, mandamus awarded. By Justice Robert L. Browning: Clyde B. Lanham vs. Morris Bond, Corporation Court of City of Alexandria. Judgment reversed and remanded.

U. D. C. Chapters Mark 400 Confederate Graves

Richmond, Va., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—More than 400 grave markers for Confederate Civil War dead have been placed this year by the United Daughters of the Confederacy chapters throughout the State, Mrs. Charles William Schaadt, State chairman of the work, has announced.

With each marker, Mrs. Schaadt obtained an accurate record of the soldier, and a full war record, including a history of his descendants, and any connections they may have had with wars since 1861. A copy of these papers will be filed in the reference archives at the Virginia State Library, she said.

Mrs. Schnibbe Buried In West Virginia Plot

Winchester, Va., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The body of Mrs. Minnie Kiester Schnibbe 62, wife of George W. Schnibbe, who died here early yesterday, was interred today in the cemetery adjoining Mount Zion Methodist Church in Hampshire County, W. Va.

Funeral rites were conducted by the Rev. Ernest Dolan. Mrs. Schnibbe is survived by her husband, two brothers and one sister.

West Virginia Bankers Choose Convention City

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Sept. 17.—Fairmont was chosen as the convention site of the 1932 West Virginia Bankers Association executives of that body decided here today. Dates previously agreed upon are May 26-27.

Standing committees were also appointed. Homer Genhart, secretary, of Huntington, reported that five students are taking courses in West Virginia under the association's educational fund and that several more are being aided in study of agriculture.

Postmaster Is Appointed.

James T. Crittenden has been appointed postmaster at Ruark, Middlesex County, Va., in place of Alfred W. Ruark, resigned.

AID IN BICENTENNIAL SOUGHT OF COUNCIL

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Dan S. Hollenga, business manager of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, appeared before the city council yesterday to urge its cooperation in formulating plans for the Bicentennial celebration in 1932. Five major celebrations, he said, are contemplated for Alexandria—February 22, May 14, the dedication of the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Temple; July 4, Labor Day and Thanksgiving Day. In addition a large number of conventions will be held. He urged early appointment of a mayor's reception committee, and suggested an appropriation of $5,000 as an entertainment fund to take care of the distinguished visitors to Alexandria during the year. Mayor Ticer assured him that his recommendations would receive due consideration.

The financial report of the city for August showed a cash balance on hand August 1 of $16,513.40; budget receipts of $14,559.40; other receipts not estimated in the budget of $19,680.64, or total receipts from all sources of $50,753.44. The budget disbursements were $45,139.85; other disbursements not estimated in the budget of $3,788.76, or total disbursements of $48,928.61, leaving a cash balance August 31 of $1,824.83.

Loan Plan Held Over.

A resolution authorizing a temporary loan of $95,000 for the general expenses of the city, pending collection of taxes for the current year, was placed on its first reading and held over under the rules. Purvis Taylor, city collector, stated that tax bills amounting to $44,373.20 for real estate and $30,444.13 for personal property, or a total of $74,817.42, had been or were ready to be mailed out.

An amendment to the zoning ordinance was placed on its first reading and held over pending advertisement and public hearing, covering a section in Del Ray on Bellefonte avenue, presented by W. H. Raymond; property at the southwest corner of Patrick and Wilkes street, required for a filling station; property at 415 Wolfe street, required for a tearoom, by J. R. Travers, and property at 511 Oronoco street, for an antique shop, by Councilman Weil. A hearing on this amendment will be held at 8 p. m. October 5.

Station Permit Denied.

Application of A. Mendelson for a permit to erect a gasoline filling station at the northwest corner of King and Harvard street was denied on the ground that the council felt, on account of the traffic conditions at this intersection, that it would be dangerous to the lives and property of residents of the neighborhood.

The city manager was authorized to attend the convention of the International City Managers' Association, in Louisville, Ky., October 7 to 10, 1931.

A communication from Eugene Simpson regarding a sidewalk from his property at 106 Upland street, George Washington Park, to King street, was referred to the city manager for consultation with other property owners.

A resolution appropriating $11,733.39, to pay to the Department of Agriculture the city's proportion of the cost of paving Washington street, was held over under the rules.

The city manager formally notified the council of the dismissal of former Police Capt. W. W. Campbell, for conduct unbecoming that office, effective July 31, and the appointment of John S. Arnold to the vacancy, effective September 4.

Councilman Arthur Herbert offered a resolution, which was adopted, extending the thanks of the council to the members of the city zoning commission, George E. Garrett, Robert L. Kane, Nicholas J. Lawler, B. B. Ezrine and John U. Reardon, for their efficient work, enabling the city to adopt a comprehensive zoning ordinance.

Candy-Selling Group Is Ordered to Stop

A number of persons who have been staging a candy selling campaign in Montgomery County, Md., purporting to be for the benefit of blind veterans, have been ordered to cease their activities in the county by Chief of Police Alvie A. Moxley.

Numerous complaints had been received by the police department that residents had been called on the phone and asked to purchase a pound of candy for the benefit of blind veterans. When the candy arrived at a price of $1.50 a pound, it was found to be of inferior quality, the residents complained. The group had no connection with any soldier or civilian organization, it was learned by police.

Road Work Suspended Pending Investigation

Richmond, Va., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Work on the State highway between Marion and Sugar Grove has been suspended by the State Highway Department pending an investigation of certain criticisms as to the material and construction methods used on the job.

Highway department officials said today that the action was taken as a result of an article appearing in the Marion newspaper last week. No official report has been made thus far.

Mrs. Skaggs' Trial In Night Session

Defense Attacks Testimony in Perjury Case at Norfolk.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—A night session of corporation court, where Mrs. Dorothy Skaggs is being tried for alleged perjury, was being held tonight to hear witnesses from North Carolina, who, according to defense attorneys, would contradict testimony of other witnesses that Mrs. Skaggs was in North Carolina on the night of last January 6, when, she claims, she was assaulted in Upton's lane, Norfolk, by William Harber, Negro.

Two Commonwealth's witnesses were heard today and the defense began building its testimony to fight the evidence introduced by the State Tuesday and Wednesday.

The jury was taken to the scene of the alleged attack on Mrs. Skaggs late this afternoon. Indications tonight were that the trial will not be finished before Monday afternoon.

Durham Woman Killed By Auto in Danville

Petersburg, Va., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Mrs. Myrtle Pegram, 38, of Durham, N. C., was run down by an automobile and fatally injured here late today. She died in a hospital with a fractured skull a short time later.

A. J. Young, 21, of Dinwiddie County, driver of the machine, was arrested on a technical charge of manslaughter and bailed for a hearing next week. Witnesses said Mrs. Pegram stepped from the sidewalk directly into the machine. She was visiting a brother in this city.

Intense Heat Pushes Warrenton Corn Crop

Special to The Washington Post.

Warrenton, Va., Sept. 17.—Intense heat for the past week or more here has hastened the corn harvest. One of the largest crops in the history of the county is now being cut and farmers estimate corn this year will not bring over $1.50 or $2 per barrel, the lowest price in years.

With summer wheat selling around 40 cents and corn at the above price, the farmers will be hard put to it to make expenses this year. Both the wheat and corn crops have been unusually heavy.

Virginia Apples Bring Good Liverpool Prices

Winchester, Va., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Virginia apples shipped to England recently continued to bring good prices at the regular weekly auction yesterday in Liverpool, according to cable reports received last night. The range for 'King Davids was $5.76 to $7.68 per barrel. Jonathans, $6.24 to $7.68; Bonums, $5.88 to $7.44, and Grimes, golden, $3.96 to $5.40.

The Virginia fruit has commanded good prices since the opening of the export season some weeks ago.

GRAND ARMY NAMES TOWN COMMANDER

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The sixty-fifth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic closed today after Samuel P. Town, of Philadelphia, was chosen commander in chief, and Springfield, Ill., was selected as the 1932 meeting place.

The Rev. Frank Huston, of Knightsville, Ind., was chosen commander in chief of the Sons of Union Veterans. The Ladies of the G. A. R. named Mrs. Helen Lehman, of Jersey City, N. J., national president. Mrs. Annie Poole Atwood, of Wollaston, Mass., was elected national president of the Woman's Relief Corps, and Mrs. Harriett J. Goetz, of New York, was chosen president of the Daughters of Union Veterans.

After Town received 293 votes to 218 for Harding Merrill, of Wichita, Kans., and 35 for Maj. Emmett Taggart, of Akron, Ohio, Town's election was made unanimous.

The new commander has long been prominent in G. A. R. affairs, and in Pennsylvania and Philadelphia public affairs. He enlisted when he was 18 in the Pennsylvania cavalry and served in the Shenandoah Valley campaign under Sheridan.

The closing session this afternoon was devoted to completing committee reports and to elections of other G. A. R. officers. James E. Jewel, of Fort Morgan, Colo., retiring commander in chief, was presented with a medal.

The Civil War veterans passed four resolutions, which asked that Congress grant all veterans over 80 years $100 monthly; pensions be given a veteran's widow if the couple had been married five years; the United States Navy be built to the limit under the London Naval Treaty, and that New York be criticized for its failure to fulfill its promise in completing Grant's tomb.

Alice Carey Risley, of Columbia, Mo., president of the National Association of Army Nurses of the Civil War, said today that her group would be disbanded. Four members remain, with Ella Torrance, of Minneapolis, advocate.

Among other officers elected by the Daughters of Union Veterans were Grace Hurd and Nan Slattery, of Washington, who were named to the council, and Hermione Dutton, of Washington, who was chosen to serve on the legislative committee.

Infantile Paralysis Slumps During Week

(Associated Press.)

A decline in the number of infantile paralysis cases was shown this week as the Public Health Service received reports of 1,160 cases this week as compared with 1,370 last week. For the corresponding week a year ago, the number was 491.

In New York City, the disease had dropped from 347 to 254 cases; in New York State from 207 to 176.

COMPROMISE URGED ON CHURCH DIVORCES

Bishop Asks Ecclesiastical Court for Considering Remarriage Question.

Denver, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—A compromise proposal on questions of marriage and divorce confronting the Protestant Episcopal Church was presented in the house of bishops of the general convention today.

The Right Rev. Charles Fiske, Bishop of Central New York, advocated the establishment of ecclesiastical courts to consider questions of the annulment of marriage. In one sense, the proposed Fiske Canon would be more rigid than the present regulations, which allow a priest to remarry the innocent party to a divorce granted on grounds of adultery.

Priests would not be allowed to marry any person party to a prior marriage until the case had been passed upon by the church court, under provisions of the resolution introduced by Bishop Fiske, who does not favor further liberalization of the divorce and remarriage regulations.

Referred to Commission.

The proposal was referred to the commission on divorce and marriage, which has yet to make its report to the convention. It was considered likely that Bishop Fiske's proposal would be incorporated in the report.

In the main, the commission's report is understood to contain the same revolutionary suggestions which already have stirred sharp debate. Principal points of the proposed canon are to permit priests to marry divorced persons regardless of grounds on which the divorce was granted and recognition of ecclesiastical courts to pass upon petitions of divorced persons to be married again in the church.

The report must be adopted by both the House of Bishops and deputies before it becomes a church law. The House of Bishops adopted a resolution to meet in council Saturday to consider "certain matters growing out of the Lambeth conference." Rules will be suspended to allow the Right Rev. Michael Furse, Lord Bishop of St. Albans, England, to attend. It is believed that the questions of birth control, marriage and divorce will be considered.

Three Important Problems.

Three problems of international import—world peace, industrial stabilization and lawlessness—will be considered by a committee of 21. Seven bishops, the Right Revs. James H. Freeman, Washington; Benjamin Brewster, Maine; Charles Fiske, Central New York; Edward L. Parsons, California; G. Ashton Oldham, Albany; William Scarlett, Missouri, and Henry K. Sherrill, Massachusetts, will cooperate with seven laymen and seven priests from the House of Deputies, yet to be appointed.

A resolution calling upon the Government to do all in its power toward a drastic reduction of armaments at the coming international disarmament conference was introduced in the House of Bishops by Bishop Oldham. The resolution, which was referred to the committee of 21, further requests the Government to make the "Kellogg pact a reality."

A petition for reinstatement, received by the House of Bishops from William Montgomery Brown, one-time Bishop of Arkansas, who was expelled in 1925 for denying the divinity of Christ in certain of his writings, was withheld and is to be considered by the bishops in secret session.

Medals for Heroism Presented Two Officers

(Associated Press.)

Two more Army officers who helped avert an explosion at Fort Bragg, N. C., on June 4, yesterday were awarded the soldiers' medal for heroism.

They were Lieut. Donald O. Harris, of Chicago, and Sergt. Ralph P. Runyon, Chapel Hill, N. C. Several similar awards have been announced previously. The explosion was threatened by howitzer-ignited grass and brush. A number of shells were removed from the midst of the flames.

PORTUGAL MENACED BY SERIOUS REVOLT

Government Takes Steps to Meet Early Outbreak; Plans Discovered.

Lisbon, Portugal, Sept. 17 (U.P.).—The government took extensive precautions against what appeared to be the most serious revolutionary threat yet made against the regime of President Gen. Antonio Carmona.

With troops confined to barracks in the capital and in Oporto, it was disclosed that the unsuccessful insurgent outbreak on August 26, when there was severe fighting in the streets of Lisbon, was merely the prelude to a plan for concerted action on a larger scale.

The first uprising was begun by a revolutionary group which refused to accept the orders of the actual "supreme revolutionary council," and as a result only a small faction of the rebel forces in Portugal participated in the ill-timed outbreak. The failure of the August revolt did not discourage the major part of the rebel organization, however, and active plans have been made since then for a coordinated uprising against the dictatorship.

Just when the revolt will start was uncertain, reliable rebel sources said, but the precautionz taken by the government last night and today indicated that there was fear of fresh trouble immediately.

The government discovered during the August revolt that many persons who had not participated in the fighting had arms and ammunition hidden in their homes for the uprising now expected. The failure of the recognized rebel leaders to take part in the August outbreak was said to have caused a large percentage of the insurgents to remain aloof.

The government has been closely informed of the rebel plans, but the wide scope of the movement has made it difficult to combat.

$700,000,000 Spent By States on Roads

(Associated Press.)

Expending more than $700,000,000 on construction, the States surfaced 24,464 miles of highway in 1930, to link more closely rural and urban America and add to the joys of motoring.

In addition, the Bureau of Public Roads said yesterday, 7,813 miles of road were improved to a point ready for surfacing, which will be completed in this year's road building program.

The total expenditures by State highway departments last year amounted to $980,000,000, an increase of 22 per cent over 1929. The road surfaced was 2,393 miles greater than in the previous year. The State systems include 324,496 miles, of which 226,221 are now surfaced.

South Carolinian Sees Roosevelt for 1932

Cheraw, S. C., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York was acclaimed "the next President of the United States" by R. M. Jeffries, chairman of the South Carolina Senate's committee on roads, at a celebration here today of the opening of United States Highway No. 1.

U. S. Gold Mounts To $5,015,000,000

Increase of $508,000,000 Brings Nation Nearer Half of Supply.

(Associated Press.)

Gold holdings of the United States continued to mount during the last week, and the gain of $15,000,000 in that time caused the country to hold a total of $5,015,000,000 in gold at the close of business Tuesday.

The week's increase brought the gain for the year to $508,000,000, and the United States closer to holding half of the world's supply of monetary gold. The total supply of gold in the world is estimated by the Federal Reserve Board at approximately $11,260,000,000.

Next to the United States, France holds the largest amount of gold, with a total of $2,290,000,000 on July 31. The remainder is divided among approximately 43 countries.

BEACH WILL INSURE COMFORT NEXT YEAR

Solution of Future Summer Problems Offered at Post Property.

When you are perspiring over your work in the office next summer wouldn't it be nice to know that the family was out in a nice cool spot, being very comfortable and that same spot was awaiting you just an hour after the office closes?

That is impossible, you may say, but it is possible. And the place that should be waiting for you is Woodland Beach, on the South River in Maryland. The Washington Post is offering every resident of Washington an opportunity to insure future summer comforts through the purchase of lots at this delightful garden spot.

Because The Post wants everyone to have a chance to spend summer in fun and play, in ideal surroundings, its offering lots at a very reasonable rate. The cost of property at the Beach is only $93 per lot and terms have been arranged for those who want them. A down payment of $9, with a subscription to The Post, will enable you to make selection and then the balance may be paid at the rate of $3.50 per month.

Woodland Beach will appeal to you for many reasons. It offers boating, bathing and fishing. It will be a place where week-end and overnight outings will be possible most of the year, as well as during the summer season. It has a community clubhouse for the use of all lot owners. It has playground equipment for the children and sheltered coves where they may splash and wade in safety.

It is easy to reach and compares favorably with other resorts much higher in price. It is the place to buy now.

"SQUEALER" VOLPE SLAIN IN REVENGE

Federal Informer Is Killed; New York Gangster Is Felled by Rivals.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Bullets of revenge which for several years had been destined for Harry "Squealer" Volpe found him today.

Crumpled on the floor of a stolen automobile, this former bootlegger and Federal informer was all but delivered at the home of his brother, Louis, during the night. One bullet in the head ended the career of a man who had broken the prohibition law for years and who had also obtained information which led to the indictment of 112 men in one of the largest liquor ring exposes since prohibition became effective.

Volpe came to Providence from the West soon after prohibition became effective. He started business in a small barroom on Page street and for several years he operated effectively. Then the law caught up with him and Volpe turned from bootlegging to the work of an informer for those who had driven him out of business. He served Federal agents in Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Washington, Boston and Pittsburgh.

112 Men Indicted.

It was in and about Cleveland he gave his greatest services to the Government. Through information which he supplied 112 men were indicted on March 15, 1926. The Government spent $200,000 to unearth an alcohol ring whose ramifications extended into all parts of the country. Volpe himself was indicted along with the others, and although he pleaded guilty to the charge against him, he was never sentenced.

New York, Sept. 17 (U.P.).—Meyer Shapiro, who at the age of 24 was one of New York smoothest and most-feared gangsters, was "rubbed out" today in the same manner that his older brother, Irving, was slain two months ago.

A newsboy stumbled upon his body in the hallway of a lower east side tenement house this morning. The racketeer, known to police as the "slot machine king of Brooklyn," had been shot through the head.

For two months, detectives said, Meyer had "laid low" because he knew he was a marked man. The bullets which killed his brother, Irving, they said, were intended for Meyer, and he knew it.

Had Survived Attacks.

Little Jack Diamond, he had survived many vicious attacks by rival gangsters. He had been stabbed fourteen times and shot four times. Police said he dabbled in all of the rackets except bootlegging. His principal interest, however, was in slot machines which, it is said, yielded him a large income.

A few hours after the body had been found police arrested Abe Reles, former lieutenant of Shapiro, and four of Reles' henchmen.

Reles seceded from the Shapiro gang about a year ago, detectives said, formed his own mob and attempted to encroach on his former chief's territory.

At least three men had been slain in the resulting war before Meyer met death, it is said. Seven men were in the "execution" squad which waylaid Irving Shapiro in the hallway of his home and riddled his body.

Bank of England to Pay Semiannual Dividend

London, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The Bank of England declared a semiannual dividend of 6 per cent today.

Sir Ernest Musgrave Harvey, the deputy governor, speaking at the semiannual meeting of the directors, said: "In spite of the difficulties through which we are passing, we hope that when we meet again we will be in as good a position as we are today."

Allegheny Steel Cuts Dividend on Common

New York, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The common stock dividend of the Allegheny Steel Co. was reduced from $1.20 to 60 cents annually when directors declared three monthly dividends of 5 cents each today.

The dividends are payable October 19, Novemhber 18 and December 18, to stockholders of record September 30, October 31 and November 30, respectively.

Smith Co. Election Results Expected Soon

Wilmington, Del., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Counting on the ballots cast at a stockholders' meeting Tuesday for directors for the F. H. Smith Co., of Washington and New York, dealers in mortgage securities, was not expected to be completed before late tonight.

German Film Company Earns Net $750,000

Berlin, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—U. F. A., the big German motion picture company, earned 3,000,000 marks net (about $750,000) in the fiscal year 1930-31, it was announced toda, at a directors' meeting.

The board recommended a 6 per cent dividend.

It has been proven many times that Business opportunities, or merchandise for sale in the Classified Columns of The Post are worth investigating.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

WITH the inauguration today of a week's observance of the fourth anniversary of the opening of the Fox Theater, it seems pertinent to examine the record of the house since that September night in 1927 when, under the guiding hand of Samuel L. Rothafel, "Roxy" himself, it first threw open its capacious portals to wide-eyed throngs of Washington amusement seekers.

Apart from any consideration of the screen and stage fare which it has offered—except to note that after a considerable amount of experimentation a program policy has finally been hit upon which bears every evidence of meeting with enthusiastic public approval—the Fox Theater has certain definite achievements to its credit.

To begin with, for the past two years the Fox management has made it possible for the National Capital to enjoy a brief spring season of Metropolitan Grand Opera, purveyed on a scale of pretentious magnificence that need not shrink from comparison with the longer seasons at the Metropolitan in New York. It is the only edifice in the city in which the most exacting and most impressive form of lyric art can be presented in an atmosphere commensurate with its traditions and its just deserts.

As an enterprise distinct from any immediate concern over the nature or the quality of the entertainment which it supplies from week to week, the Fox has organized and maintained a Fanchon and Marco Free Dancing School, which, under the competent direction and expert tutelage of Miss Helene Kearney has amassed a total enrollment in excess of 6,000, according to latest compilations. Many of the graduate pupils bid fair to win recognition on the stage and rather more than any merely local fame.

A more recent undertaking is the organization of the Fox Theater Military Band for both boys and girls between the ages of 7 and 18, which already has attained a membership of some 300. This mammoth enrollment is divided into senior and junior groups, both under the direction of Capt. J. B. McKenzie, who wings his way to Washington by airplane to hold rehearsals every Saturday morning on the Fox stage, all-less commodious quarters having been outgrown.

Still another innovation will be marked by the establishment today of a free coffee and cigarette service in the women's lounge, thus providing two, if not all, of "the comforts of home."

Realizing the urge "to go on the stage" that asserts itself at one time or another in every human breast, General Manager Harry W. Crull recently assembled a mass of local talent and staged an "All-Washington Revue," which has already resulted in two of those who participated having been offered engagements by the Fanchon & Marco Corporation, the largest individual producers known to the American theater.

All of these accomplishments reflect an eagerness to participate and be of useful service in the community life that lends a note of added significance to the celebration of the Fox Theater's four-candle birthday.

Congratulations!

Having remarked in a recent column, devoted in part to the renaissance of color photography in the preparation of screen entertainment planned for release during the oncoming season, that "United Artists is uncertain, as may also be said of Columbia, Tiffany and Educational," I am taken lightly to task, through the medium of Postmaster General Brown's contract mail planes plying between here and New York, by Mr. Gordon S. White, director of advertising and publicity for Educational, who says in part:

"I have just been reading with interest your article on the use of color photography in motion pictures this season, which appeared in your issue of September 11. * * * We have already announced, and, in fact, have started releasing, two series of short subjects made entirely in color. These are the 'Romantic Journeys,' from Brown-Nagel Productions, which are made in Multicolor, and Mack Sennett's 'Brevities,'' in Sennett color. In addition to these we occasionally have a color subject in the series of two-reel Mack Sennett comedies, such as the picture, 'Speed,' which we are releasing late this month. * * * This, like the 'Brevities,' is in Sennett color. * * * Thought you might like to have this information."

Yes, sir. But when I first red your letter I felt a little blue, but everything's rose-tinted now, Mr. White. And, as you notice, whenever I get items like this for the column, indigo!

And Mr. Alvin Webb, 2321 H street northwest, an employe of the Treasury Department, responding to our recent cries for help, calls up to say that Farina's real name is Allen Hoskins, that he is now in his early 'teens, and at just this moment is appearing with his little sister, Mango—and there's a fruity name for you!—in an act at the LaFayette Theater, up in New York's Harlem, which will be seen in Washington next week at the Lincoln Theater, out U street way.

And a hearty "thank you" to you, sir, too.

Having been misled by the early-week trailer, we hasten to correct yesterday's announcement of the incoming attraction at RKO-Keith's. The feature that gets under way today is "Traveling Husbands," "Not Smart Woman."

"Smart Woman," which comes along next week, by the way, is Myron C. Fagan's own picturization of one of his stage plays of an earlier vintage than "Peter Flies High," current at the National. During the course of a long conversation last Saturday afternoon, Mr. Fagan confided that "Smart Woman" is a pretty smart piece of celluloid!

CHICAGO APATHETIC ON RACKET 'SQUEAL'

Vice Baron's Letter, Telling Inside of Capone Set-Up, Fails to Cause Furor.

Chicago, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Mike "De Pike" Heitler, loquacious vice-monger, may have signed his death warrant with the tell-tale letters he wrote in prémonition of violence.

But the sensational legacy he left, a dictated chronicle of gangland "splits" on the profits of the underworld traffic and a tip on his own possible assassins, drew indifferent response today from official Chicago.

State's Attorney, "Secret Six," police and the aces of the gangland detective force shunned further investigation or let the revelations go unchallenged as "ancient history." One officer, supposed to have seen the Heitler farewell letter long since, reiterated his denial and tersely remarked, "We haven't even proof Heitler is dead."

It is generally believed, however, that the charred, unrecognizable body found in the ruins of a cabin five months ago was that of Mike "De Pike."

"Leak in Swanson's Office."

State's Attorney John A. Swanson kept his own counsel at Atlantic City but one Chicago newspaper said he would start vigorous investigation on his return—not so much into the rambling accusations of the veteran vice monger as into the obvious "leak" that let a similar missive from Heitler to Swanson himself reach Alphonse Capone, gangster No. 1 in Chicago, and one of the eight Heitler named as his potential killers.

That "leak," which may have cost Heitler his life, was related to a newspaper reporter by the amanuensis credited with taking down the illiterate vice boss' letters.

"The first letter," he said, "was written to State's Attorney Swanson. I addressed the letter, marked it personal and put it in the mail box about 5 o'clock one evening.

"Two days later Heitler came into my home. He was so nervous and excited he could not stand still. He walked up and down the room, muttering to himself. Finally he told me what had happened.

Warned of "The Spot."

"A gang of Capone's hoodlums had dragged him out of Emily Mulcher's home in Berwyn that morning, telling him that 'the big guy wants to see you.' He was taken down to the Lexington Hotel. Capone had in his hands the very letter that Mike had dictated to me. He accused Mike of writing it. This Mike denied, but Capone pointed out that it named everybody in the West Side rackets but Heitler, that it gave names and telephone numbers and code words that were known only to Mike and five other men—all of them mentioned in the letter except Mike.

"Capone wound up by telling Mike that he'd have him killed if he pulled any more stool pigeon stuff."

The letter published here yesterday was a later message to his daughter, Mollie.

Mayor Anton Cermak's reaction to the general to-do over the letter was an assertion that "I don't care what's happened—I care what's happening."

"I gave the police five months to clean up vice and gambling, and still reports from individuals are coming in, telling of vice and gambling houses operating as openly as a loop restaurant," said Cermak. "In the next ten days the blow-off will come."

This was taken as notice that his long-rumored general shakeup of the police department was imminent.

BANKING INSTITUTE AWARDS 60 PRIZES

Dr. George Farnham Speaks at Annual Meeting; Praises Educational Aims.

Dr. George Farnham, lecturer on public speaking, addressing the Washington chapter of the American Institute of Banking at its annual autumn open meeting last night at the Willard, declared that the institute takes a rightful place among the great universities of America by virtue of the high quality of its work and because of the number of students enrolled.

"The institute," he said, "deserves to be known even more widely than it now is. All true education must have a purpose back of it. Knowledge must have a goal. This is peculiarly true of all the work the institute does.

"I understand that this institute was founded by bankers for bankers that they might improve themselves for their work. The banker is a public servant whose responsibility is to other people and to other community interests as well as to himself and to his own bank.

Aim of Institute.

"The A. I. B. attempts to prepare young men and women to play this more important role of careful and conscientious executive on the one hand and wise and responsive servant of societies on the other."

Dr. Farnham is at present instructor of public speaking for the local chapter of the institute. He was formerly instructor at George Washington University. Certificates and cash prizes were awarded more than 60 graduates of the last semester's work. A complete list of the names and awards will appear in the financial section of The Sunday Post.

The Bond Club of Washington will inaugurate the winter season of 1931-32 on Wednesday, September 23, with a luncheon to be tendered all active members in the assembly room of the National Press Club.

Plans to Be Discussed.

Club plans for the coming season will be discussed. The luncheon will be purely informal and there will be no guests or speakers.

The board of directors of the National Metropolitan Bank have declared a 5 per cent dividend on capital stock, payable October 15, it was announced yesterday. In accordance with the by-laws of the bank the books will be closed from October 5 to October 14, inclusive, for transfer of stock.

Also meeting this week, the board of directors of the Security Savings and Commercial Bank declared the regular quarterly dividend of 4 per cent payable September 30 to stockholders of record September 25.

Orchards Are Inspected By New Jersey Growers

Berryville, Va., Sept. 17.—The New Jersey Horticultural Society has been making a three-day tour of the great Shenandoah apple belt, inspecting the orchards, packing plants, by-products plants and the large cold storages in this section which this year will produce about one-fifth of the United States apple crop, the guests today of the apple growers of Clarke County.

The party left for New Jersey this evening after having spent Tuesday in the Pennsylvania, Maryland and Martinsburg apple belt and Wednesday inspecting orchards and packing plants at Inwood and along Apple Pie Ridge in Frederick County, which included the Green Orchard, owned by Harry F. and Tom Byrd.

YANKS WIN 2, TIE FOR SECOND, AS NATS BOW TO TIGERS; SHUTE BEATS ARMOUR, FACES BURKE IN PRO SEMIFINAL

This Morning with Shirley L. Povich

Mr. Charles E. Street,
Sportsman's Park,
St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Gabby:

I see by the papers that your Cardinals are going to play the Athletics again in the world series and I wonder if you are as confident as you would have the good folk of St. Louis believe you are.

You know, Gabby, the National League hasn't been very successful in the world series since 1926 when the Cardinals under Rogers Hornsby beat the Yankees in seven games. Since then your league has been outclassed so consistently in the play-offs that it is quite galling to my National League friends.

Of course, you remember how the Yankees mowed down the Pirates in 1927 in four straight games and how the next year against the Cardinals they won again in four straight. The National League found the going rough again in 1929 when the Athletics polished off the Cubs in five games which was a welcome relief from the four-straight business. Your club last year did manage to string the series out to six games and reestablished the prestige of your league quite a bit but that doesn't alter the fact that the American League has won the last four world series and sixteen out of the last nineteen games played between the champions of the two leagues.

Now, Gabby, I know that it only took your club one day longer to win the league pennant than it did the Athletics and that the Cardinals responded nobly when the Giants threatened to make a race out of it two weeks ago but what are you going to do about Grove and Earnshaw?

You know, Gabby, that the National League doesn't have any pitchers with the swift of either Grove and Earnshaw. Yes, I have heard of Dazzy Vance, but he has slowed up considerably in the last two years and never did have a great curve on the end of his fast ball. It will be something new that your batters will be facing in the world series. I grant that they did get a look at Grove and Earnshaw last year in the series, but there is no reason for you to feel elated about that.

Just to refresh your memory, Gabby, remember how Grove held your gang to five hits in the first game last year? And how Earnshaw held them to six hits in the second? You knocked Walberg out in the third game and beat Grove in the fourth, but even so he allowed only five hits. Then when the series was tied at two games to two, both Earnshaw and Grove worked the fifth game and set your boys down with three hits and no runs. And Earnshaw came back in the sixth game with a day's rest and won the series, giving only five hits and shutting your fellows out until the ninth.

Yeah, Gabby, I know that you got some great pitching last year, too, from Grimes and Hallahan and Haines and that as a matter of fact your club outbatted the Athletics in the series, .200 to .197, which is pretty poor hitting for a couple of pennant winners. But don't let these figures mislead you. You know that there were six home runs mixed up in the Athletics' hitting which covered a lot of other weaknesses, while your boys hit only two homers.

Your man Bottomley may be a terror in the National League, but he's not much help in a world series. Of course you weren't managing the team in 1928, but you doubtless know that Bottomley was a great help to the Yankees with his batting average of .241, leading both clubs at bat in strikeouts. Last year, Gabby, when you were a witness, he clouted the Philadelphia pitching for a magnificent average of .045 with 1 hit in 22 times at bat. You know, Gabby, that kind of slugging by a man in the clean-up position isn't much help, especially when he strikes out nine times in the series and threatens the record of George Kelly, of the Giants, who fanned ten times in 1921. Of course, though, it was the first time he looked at the curves of Grove and Earnshaw, and that may be an excuse, but they're still throwing 'em the same as ever.

And, Gabby, what are you going to do about Simmons? That guy ain't human up there at the plate. He looks like a sucker on one pitch and the next one he slams out of the lot. I wouldn't walk him if I were you, 'cause there's Jimmy Foxx, next up, and Cochrane is also liable to be on base at the time. You know Foxx. He hit three homers in the series last year, remember? You've got to keep 'em low for Simmons and high for Foxx. And then you could also pray. Yours truly.

Sarazen Wins, Will Play Creavey

Play Uphill Game to Beat Horton Smith by Five Up.

By BILL KING.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 17 (A. P.).—It rained today and Tommy Armour, the year's British open champion and defending titlist in the Professional Golfers Association tournament, lost his 36-hole quarter-final match to young Denny Shute, of Hudson, Ohio.

Shute wants plenty of dampness when he is competing and the Wannamoisett course must have been just soggy enough to suit him, for he blazed along in such spectacular fashion that the "Black Scot" had to drop out at the thirty-fifth hole, where Denny had him topped by three holes.

Denny performed a similar feat two years ago when he won the muddy Los Angeles open and moved South to capture the even sloppier Texas open from another higher-ranked opponent.

Shute Shows Ability As Mudder.

Denny's ability as a "mudder" put him into a semifinal match with his Ryder teammate, Billy Burke, this year's open champion, who handed Abe Espinosa, of Chicago, a 5 and 3 setback.

Gene Sarazen, twice A. P. G. A. champion and runner-up to Armour last year, had to wage a stubborn uphill fight against Horton Smith, of Detroit, before he overcame the latter's early lead with a brilliant afternoon display of shot-making. Horton was two up when they quit for lunch, but Gene, with two wild streaks that gave him a total of eight second-round holes, was 5 up when the match ended on the thirty-second hole.

Sarazen will clash with the other successful youngster, Tom Creavy, of Albany, N. Y., who put out Cyril Walker of Ridgewood, N. J., the 1924 open champion, by a 3 and 1 margin for a place in the semifinal bracket.

Shute's morning performance against Armour was the best round of golf played here this week. Denny clipped two off the outward nine's par of 35 and was four up on Tommy at the turn. The latter then spurted and played five of the next six holes in three's, getting birdies on the tenth, thirteenth and fourteenth, but all this streak gave him was two holes, the thirteenth and fourteenth, where Denny was forced to use two putts for par fours.

Armour 2 Down Despite Par 70.

Denny galloped in for lunch with a 68, the lowest round of the week. Armour, with a par 70, was two down. Shute needed only a pair of par fours for a 66 but he three-putted the seventeenth for a six before getting a regulation four on the eighteenth, Tommy taking a five.

The course outward was much drier when Shute drove off to start the afternoon round. He used up 38 blows going to the twenty-seventh but managed to hold his lead. There must have been a wet stretch coming back for Denny started back with a three on the twenty-eighth, another on the thirtieth, where Armour snared a birdie deuce, and a third on the next hole. Shute was two up when they drove from the thirty-fifth tee and he gained another hole with a par four, Armour taking an extra stroke.

Burke picked up an early two-hole lead, held it all through the opening round with Espinosa and padded it considerably during the afternoon. Abe was always too far back in the ruck to make a threatening gesture.

Don Calls Gar Wood Incident 'Unfortunate'

New York, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Kaye Don, speedboat racer who turned over in the Detroit River while competing for the Harmsworth Trophy and who followed Gar Wood across the starting line before the gun, today declared the incident "a bit unfortunate."

Don spoke briefly at a luncheon given in his honor by the governors of the Downtown Athletic Club. He said he hoped Lord Wakefield, his backer, would issue a new challenge for the Harmsworth Trophy and that he would be given new opportunity to capture it. He didn't refer to Wood.

He will sail for England tomorrow aboard the Olympic.

EARL WEBB,
Boston Red Sox outfielder, who yesterday knocked his 64th and 65th doubles of the season, breaking the major league record of 64 set by George Burns, of Cleveland, in 1926.

Webb Hits 65th Double, Setting League Record

Boston, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Earl Webb, Boston right fielder, set a new major league record for two-base hits as the Red Sox divided a double-header with Cleveland today. The Sox took the opener, 9 to 2, but lost the nightcap, 2 to 1.

Webb tied George Burns' old doubles record in the first inning of the first game when he hit his sixty-fourth two bagger of the season. Burns set the mark while with Cleveland in 1926. In the second game Webb made his sixty-fifth off Jablonowski.

Johnny Hodapp's single with the bases full drove in the winning run in the ninth inning of the second game. The Sox filled the sacks in their half with one out but could not score.

Power Boats In Regatta Today

Eight Races Listed as President's Cup Event Starts.

First Heat of Feature Scheduled on Eastern Branch.

By RICHARD S. TENNYSON.

AT 12 o'clock today the starting cannon will send off stock runabout Class A boats in the first race of the fifth annual President's Cup regatta on the Eastern Branch of the Potomac River. Ten races will be run today and a similar number tomorrow to decide titles that more than 200 boats will compete for.

In the race for the coveted President's Cup, nine boats have entered, including the defending Hotsy Totsy. At a late hour last night it was not known whether Dick Hoyt would drive the champion boat or not. The first heat of the President's Cup race is listed as the eighth event today, which will make the time of the race about 4 o'clock. The two final heats will be run tomorrow.

Delphine May Be "Dark Horse."

A recent entry in the main event is causing considerable speculation among powerboat followers. It is the Delphine 4, owned by Bill Horne, of Detroit. Some have picked it as the dark horse of the race.

An outstanding contender for the Hotsy Totsy's laurels is The Californian, which will be driven by Dick Loynes. A series of misfortunes has followed The Californian, including a fire, but Loynes has reconditioned it and expects to shake his hard luck.

Should C. Roy Keys' Carenaught win the race for the Secretary of Navy cup, he will have permanent possession, as he has captured the event in two preceding races. Several unusually good boats have entered the race and Keys is expected to have to show all of his recognized skill to win.

Other boats that will strive for the President's Cup are: Miss Philadelphia, owned by John Shibe, president of the champion Athletics; Red Banker and Red Bender, entered by G. C. Holbrook and J. E. Bandfield, of Red Bank, N. J.; Miss Columbia, from Red Bank, also, and several entries of Felix Adams, of Wyandotte, Mich.

Washington Sweepstakes Attracts.

Of considerable interest to District fans is the Washington Sweepstakes, the last event today. In this race any D. C. boat in any class is eligible to compete and expectations are that both comedy and thrills will be furnished the fans.

After the last motor boat race today, the Washington Sea Scouts will stage a rowing race. Local followers of water sports have had but few opportunities to view the shells skimming through the water lately and the added event undoubtedly will furnish much entertainment.

NATS TO USE WEAVER ON SUNDAY

Baltimore Star Will Face Chisox in Double Bill.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

BUCKY HARRIS plans to use Earl Whitehill, whose left-handed shoots invariably have been a puzzle to the Nationals, against the natives this afternoon in the second game of the current set with the Tigers, which will be the last "Ladies' Day" game of the season.

Skipper Walter Johnson was undecided last night as to his probable moundman, intimating that it would be either Fred Marberry or Irving (Bump) Hadley. The latter has not started a game for some time, having been acting as No. 1 relief flinger, while Marberry's pitching hand, injured in the series with the Indians, is not yet completely healed.

As little help may be looked for from the Browns, who are playing the Yankees, if the Nats want to hold their tie for second place with the New Yorkers, it is up to them to turn in a victory today and every day, for that matter. "Babe Ruth and Company" will be met in four games in New York next week and the Nats can not afford to enter this series trailing.

Pitcher Monte Weaver, bought some time ago from the Baltimore Orioles for a bundle of cash and three players, will report here today and will pitch for the Nationals in one of the games in Sunday's doubleheader which opens the series with the Chicago White Sox.

Weaver has been outstanding in the International League this season, but has been overworked and has not been at his best recently. By the Sabbath, however, he will have had time to recuperate and should be able to give a good account of himself.

Sam West pulled up with his ailing left elbow bothering him again and so watched yesterday's game from the bench. Rice was shifted to the middle garden and Johnny Gill, newcomer from Baltimore, drew the right field assignment.

The club physician started to work on Infielder-outfielder Bill Andrus' throwing arm yesterday. A thorough examination will be made of the wing today, following some X-ray photographs which will be taken this morning.

Catcher Muddy Ruel made his appearance in a Tiger uniform yesterday. The last time he was here he sported Red Sox livery. The popular former National was given a big hand by the small crowd.

Manush attempted to sacrifice in the first and a pop-foul which Ruel caught in his extended mitt resulted.

Pitcher Ad Liska will face a test in pregame batting practice today when he will try to convince Owner Clark Griffith that his salary wing is in condition and that he is entitled to remain with the Nationals on a salary basis until the season ends. The club owner thinks otherwise and insists he must be shown that he is wrong.

Fischer must have had a man on his back when running out his single to right. Johnson took the ball on first bounce and his throw to first came within a whisper of beating the pitcher, who almost set a record for slowness, to the first sack.

Gehringer went to short center to rob Kuhel of a hit and the Nats of a run in the third.

Cronin raced to short left to rob Stone of a hit in the eighth.

Mrs. Lake Winner Of Western Crown

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake, Long Island and Southern champion, won the third annual Women's Western Golf Association 72-hole medal play "derby" here today, defeating Marion Morgan, of Buffalo, by one stroke.

Miss Morgan lost the play-off on the eighteenth hole when she needed four to get on after getting in the rough, while Mrs. Lake placed her third shot on the green and was down in two putts for a par five.

The play-off resulted after four days of ding-dong golf in which the lead jockeyed back and forth between the five contenders in the championship flight. Mrs. Lake took the lead the first day only to lose it to Miss Helen MacMorran, of Winnetka, Ill. Miss MacMorran in turn relinquished it to Miss Morgan.

Rain and a high wind gave the contenders considerable difficulty during most of the tournament and high scores were generally recorded.

Houston Wins, 3 to 0, To Even Dixie Series

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Dick McKabe, right-hander borrowed from Fort Worth, pitched the Houston Buffaloes to a 3 to 0 victory over the Birmingham Barons to square the Dixie series at one all here today.

The Buffs scored two runs in the fourth on a single by Rock, a double by Selph and a walk issued to Peel, who Walkup tried to traj off first, allowing Selph to score.

They added another in the ninth on a single by Sturdy and a triple by Carey.

Player Deal Blocked By Association Head

Chicago, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—President Thomas Hickey, of the American Association, today ruled the sale of Ernie Wingard, star first baseman and pitcher, by the Toledo Club to Indianapolis as "illegal" and refused to allow the deal.

"Under the constitution of the American Association, no player can be sold to another club between September 1 and the close of the season," explained President Hickey. "Therefore, I have disapproved the recent sale as illegal. The waiver route is the only transfer route by which a player can be sent to a rival club between those dates.

Jack Dempsey Toys With Another Quartet

RUTH HITS 2 AS YANKEES WIN PAIR

Babe Now Only Two Behind Gehrig But Loses $250 Bet.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The Yankees climbed into a tie with Washington for second place in the American League today when they defeated the St. Louis Browns twice, 17 to 0 and 6 to 1, while the Nats were losing to Detroit.

Charlie Ruffing and Vernon Gomez took turns hypnotizing the visitors, Ruffing allowing them nine widely scattered hits in the first game and Gomez yielding only three in the nightcap to register his twentieth victory of the year. The rookie southpaw also won $250 from his teammate, Babe Ruth, by nicking Kimsey for a scratch single in the sixth inning, his tenth hit of the year. The Babe had wagered he would not make that many his first year in the majors.

The day was not a total loss for Ruth, however, as he belted his forty-first and forty-second home runs of the year, both in the second game.

Stone Clouts Homer in 3-1 Victory

Herring Checks Nats After Given 2-Run Lead in First.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

FOR the first time since May 27 the Nationals this morning are not enjoying undisputed position in second place in the American League race, the New York Yankees having pulled up on even terms with them by winning twice from the St. Louis Browns yesterday, while Bucky Harris' Tigers were turning in a 3-to-1 victory over the Capital Cityans.

It simply was not "on the books" for the Nationals to win. After the visitors jumped into a two-run lead at the very start, Johnson's men "blew" opportunity after opportunity, while Pitcher Carl Fischer presented the aliens with another marker in the fourth.

In the ninth, however, it looked as though the Nats finally had gotten to Art (Kippered) Herring, who went the route for the visitors, and that they were really going places. "Lady Luck" twice smiled on the Nats, once when she caused Herring to fall down while fielding Joe Kuhel's topped roller starting this final frame, and again when she let Pinch-Hitter Cliff Bolton's Texas leaguer fall safely back of short while almost surrounded with Tiger players.

Phelps Singles in Pinch.

Johnson then sent Gordon Phelps to the tee in Spencer's place and he singled cleanly to left, filling the bases with the tying runs. Dave Harris went to bat in the place of Bobby Burke, who entered the game starting the eighth, and he struck out, watching a third strike almost cut the plate in two.

RACE BET VOLUME IS STEADY AS ATTENDANCE DECLINES

Wagers Away From Tracks Normal

Reliable Bookmakers Have No Complaint With Betting.

Wagering by Bookies Among Selves Cut "Take" at Track.

By THOMAS H. NOONE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (U.P.).—The volume of betting on horse races has remained virtually firm throughout the current depression, according to a survey made today by the United Press. In fact, decided prosperity has been enjoyed in some sections of the country, with nothing but optimism forecast by those who make a living backing the horses both ways.

While attendance figures at all race tracks on the North American Continent have shown a conspicuous falling off in the past year, betting away from the track has been normal and in many cases even flourishing.

Those bookmakers who have been proven financially sound in former times of depression, are thoroughly satisfied with present conditions and have all the business they can handle.

Bookies Wagering Among Selves.

One of the biggest operators in the country, located in the East, reports a decided upswing in activity during summer months, while a rather large Eastern commissioner at the tracks in the New York area complains of a 40 per cent decline in wagering for the same period. Such a condition is easily explained by the fact that layers, who formerly attended the races in order to accommodate their clientele, are betting among themselves over the commission wires, because their small customers are in temporary retirement and the only "real" business is being done between bookmakers themselves.

A Midwestern commission house reported a slight increase over last year in transactions handled, most of which has been distributed among members with telegraphic connections, rather than being sent back to the tracks as in former years. This naturally has cut into the "take" at mutuel courses and subsequently has enlivened the exchange of business to and from coast to coast points.

Telegraph Losses Are Few.

The large wire houses serving bookmakers with communication facilities have lost few important clients. It is true that many of the small fellows in various parts of the country were forced to curtail forces and in many cases abandon their "offices" because of the present hard times. None of the reliable bookmakers in the country have been forced to quit.

The secondary feature, the South Bend Purse, an allowance number, is fashioned for juveniles over the 6-furlong sprint distance. The card will be contested over a muddy track.

PITTSBURGHER, gallant son of Memoriam, sporting the silks of the Shady Brook Farm, with an impost of 108 pounds, appears well treated under the conditions and figures to splash his way to victory. CHIEF JOHN, top weight of the eight starters, burdened with 118 pounds, may falter at the route, but should last to gain the place. SATIN SPAR has shown speed in sprints and may carry his speed to account for a part of the purse.

A. A. Baroni's clever juvenile, LEJOY, which led home a smart field last start, has demonstrated his ability to negotiate mud and is given the call over his thirteen rivals in the supporting event, third on the card. I SAY and the Leiter entry of PRINCESS A. O. and PRINCESS NANCY will battle for the remainder of the money.

FIRST RACE—A cheap band of juvenile nonwinners will face the barrier in this event, with LAZY MARY, from the Lone Star Stable, on her recent second to Precede, favored to graduate. FRENCH WENCH has tried well and should finish in the runner-up position, with PEAL, another brisk worker, as the short end selection.

SECOND RACE—Of the 20 platers named to match strides over the six-furlong distance, the Knebelkamp color-bearer, DICK MORRIS, has the speed of this field and should score. Chief opposition will be furnished by BARON KING, a superior mudder. THE OKAH has shown improvement and figures to hold the others safe.

FOURTH RACE—Ten evenly matched high class claimers will perform at the one-mile route. GUIDE RIGHT has shown consistent form in recent efforts and over the muddy going will be hard to beat. PANCHIO displayed a return to his winning form last out and will prove a dangerous contender. IN HASTE has two clever performances which recommend him as the show possibility.

SIXTH RACE—DURVA, from the Nevada Stock Farm, scored impressively the other day and is at the top of her form. The Durba filly should experience little difficulty from her ten opponents. JAY WALKER won his last four starts and is on edge. SAN PRESTO always improves in mud and must be conceded a chance in this tilt.

SEVENTH RACE—SETH'S BALLOT is favored to annex the honors in the mile and a quarter of this race. WINNIE JO holds a decision over the top selection, but has fallen off in recent efforts. However, the Smith racer figures to force the pace. TIGER FLOWERS has turned in several smart moves and under the conditions should battle it out.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SHAKER LADY, $16.38, $3.34, $3.26; MARLENE, $2.34, $2.30; ZINA, $5.24.

SHAKER LADY, improved and away fast, displayed good speed in the going, was taken under steady restraint after drawing into command and, mildly shaken up in stretch, continued well, winning with something left. MARLENE began well, was under strong ursing after reaching last three-eighths, but weakened after offering a weak bid nearing final eighth. ZINA came through on inside in stretch and stood mild driving gamely. ELEANOR'S CHOICE had no mishap. MEMORANDUM raced wide and quit in final drive.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:45. Off at 2:48½. Winner, E. Haughton's br. h. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SUITOR, $7.42, $3.78, $2.86; DON ALVARO, $3.32, $2.90; THOMAS SETH, $4.92.

SUITOR, a forward factor from the start and strongly ridden, swerved behind leader in stretch, but came to outside in final eighth and, closing fast, wore down DON ALVARO to win driving. DON ALVARO had speed, saved ground and held on well to final fifty yards, where he stopped badly. THOMAS SETH saved ground at the turn, moved up with a rush and closed resolutely. HIGH POCKETS raced wide and made up some ground in last eighth. PHANTASIME had no mishap. HIDDEN THOUGHTS had early speed. ST. JIM began slowly, failed to respond to hard urging and was always far back.

THIRD RACE (Second division). Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. Cherry Hill Purse. For 2-year-old fillies. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:15½. Off at 3:17½. Winner, Four Oaks Stock Farm's ch. f. (2), by Grand Daddy—Dolly Varden. Trained by C. Howard. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:25, 0:50 4-5, 1:18. Two-dollar mutuels paid—DOLLY'S BABY, $10.70, $5.58, $3.54; ANITA'S PAL, $5.80, $3.78; PRECEDE, $2.58.

DOLLY'S BABY lost little time in getting to the front and, opening up a good lead, held away to the end and won easily. PUPPET was never far from the pace and bested the others. ANITA'S PAL could not keep up in the early running, but made up some ground in stretch. PRECEDE tired in the run home. COUSIN JUDY was never dangerous. RARA AVIS broke well, but soon dropped back.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,400; allowances. Sunflower Purse. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:44½. Off at 3:47½. Winner, P. A. Carreau's b. f. by Cudgel—Buckwheat. Trained by Jack Howard. Value to winner, $1,050; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 3-5, 0:50, 1:16 1-5.

MOPECO	103	1	5	5	5	5	5	Tilden	24.89

Two-dollar mutuels paid—KINCSEN, $5.08, $3.46, $2.16; SISTER MARY, $3.82, $2.18; SEGURO, $2.14.

KINCSEN moved up strongly after leaving the back stretch and, saving ground rounding the final bend, got to the front when straightened out for home and was all easy winner. SISTER MARY headed the field after going an eighth, but raced wide at the stretch turn, carrying SEGURO with her. SEGURO made up some ground, but lost his chance by going wide on the bend. MORSUN had early speed, but tired badly. MOPECO appeared outclassed.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:14½. Off at 4:18. Winner, J. L. and V. K. Dodge's b. c. (3), by Cherokee—Flying Ida. Trained by W. Ward. Value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:25 2-5, 0:51, 1:18 1-5, 1:45, 1:52.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FLYING CHEROKEE, $7.58, $4.84, $4.54; STOP GAP, $11.34, $6.24; ROY, $4.76.

FLYING CHEROKEE, held under steady restraint in the early running, came strongly after entering stretch and taking command an eighth out, won easily. STOP GAP raced well from the start and, while not capable of giving the winner a battle, was best of the others. ROY went fairly well. PLAY BALL and GRIFFIN weakened. The others never threatened seriously.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:47. Off at 4:47. Winner, J. Dyer's b. g. (7), by Allumeur—Rhajes. Trained by C. F. Cherry. Value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:25 2-5, 0:50 4-5, 1:18, 1:46, 2:01 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—AREGAL, $5.26, $3.28, $2.28; BOBBY POWERS, $5.04, $2.88; DELMONICO, $2.32.

AREGAL, apparently easily best, went to the front when ready on the back stretch and, taken under slight restraint, led for the remainder of the journey to win easily. BOBBY POWERS went wide on the final turn and tired in the stretch run, but managed to hold second place safe from DELMONICO. Latter made up some ground in the last quarter and was going fairly well at the finish. SANTANDER was eased up when badly beaten.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:15. Off at 5:18. Winner, C. S. Stubb's ch. g. (6), by Malamont—Wilhmet. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $950, second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:25 1-5, 0:50 2-5, 1:18, 1:46, 2:00 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—OPEN GO SHUT, $8.04, $4.68, $3.00; TOMMY TICKLE, $10.10, $6.58; SKY HAWK, $3.68.

OPEN GO SHUT, held under restraint in the early running, came samely when called upon in the last quarter and, passing TOMMY TICKLE at midstretch, scored as his rider pleased. TOMMY TICKLE opened up a long lead during the back stretch, but could not hold winner. SKY HAWK finished well to best THEORIST JANE. Latter, weakly ridden, was taken back around the first turn and weakened in the final run. THE TIDE broke slowly.

Jockey Hurt as Mount Falls Dead During Race

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Aniselc F. Perdomo, Havana, Cuba, a jockey astride Henry Nayarit in the third race at Beulah Park track, received a fractured skull and possible internal injuries today when the horse stumbled and fell. Perdomo was trampled by other horses.

BAKER GOLF WINNER.

Rivals Clash In Tourney Semifinal

Mangan and Jacobs Also Survive at Wardman.

Veteran Upsets Roll to Win by Scores of 6-2, 4-6, 6-3.

THE long-awaited match between Dooly Mitchell, Washington champion, and Eddie Yeomans, District champion, will be played this afternoon at 4 o'clock as the semi-final round of the Wardman Park invitation men's singles swings into action. As a counter attraction, Eddie Jacobs, of Baltimore, seeded No. 1 player, tackles Tom Mangan.

Upon the Mitchell-Yeomans encounter hinges the No. 1 ranking for the District. Of the four big tournaments held in Washington every year, Mitchell has won two, the City of Washington and the public parks. Yeomans has won the only one he entered, the District of Columbia. The Wardman meeting is the fourth and final big joust of the year.

Mitchell is Hard Hitter.

Two of the greatest youngsters produced in local tennis in 20 years will battle today in the Yeomans vs. Mitchell match. Mitchell is the harder hitter and can combine his tremendous forehand drives with adroit drop shots and soft chops. Yeomans depends on his abject steadiness to win matches, and, if Mitchell is the least bit wild, probably will win decisively.

Jacobs and Mangan renew a battle today which held front rank in Middle Atlantic net circles in 1926 and 1927. Jacobs has improved mightily since the day in 1926 when Mangan won, 6—2, 6—2, in a Hotchkiss Cup match—improved so greatly in fact that he now holds twelfth place in the national rankings. Mangan, now a veteran of 36 years, has not slipped noticeably and his vicious forehand drives can be counted upon to harry his hard-hitting opponent no end.

Mangan Turns in Mild Upset.

Mangan turned in a mild upset yesterday when he defeated Fred Roll, seeded No. 3 star from Philadelphia, in a bitter three-set match, 6—2, 4—6, 6—3. Mangan's persistent backcourt game finally broke up the brilliantly conceived attack of the younger man.

Yeomans appeared to turn in his first sincere performance of the week against Elmer Rudy and trimmed the big Baltimorean in a quick span of time as he could, 6—4, 6—3.

MEN'S SINGLES.

Quarter-final round—Tom Mangan defeated Fred Roll, 6—2, 4—6, 6—3; Eddie Yeomans defeated Elmer Rudy, 6—4, 6—3.

MEN'S DOUBLES.

Jacobs and Alexander defeated Deck and Seidel, 6—2, 6—2; Trigg and Haney defeated Hill and Doyle, 6—1, 2—6, 6—1; Mitchell and Buchanan defeated Hunt and Mason, 6—4, 6—1; Sendel and Staubly defeated Ladd and Attwood, 6—2, 9—11, 7—5; Mangan and Considine defeated Shoemaker and Phillips, 6—4, 6—3; Johnsen and Martinez won over Yeomans and Roll by default; O'Neill and Hermann defeated Trigg and Haney, 12—10, 6—4; Rutley and Walker defeated Fellows and Thurtell, 2—6, 6—2, 6—4.

WOMEN'S SINGLES.

Second round—Doris Ferry defeated Betty Kohner, 6—1, 6—0; Betty Kronman defeated Alice Ross, 9—11, 6—2, 6—4.

Third round—Doris Ferry defeated Helen Philpitt, 2—6, 6—4, 6—4; Marion Butler defeated Hilda Levy, 6—1, 6—2.

SCRIMMAGE TODAY FOR EASTERN

Kelley Sends Squad Against Emerson; Tech Works.

THE first sign of high school football will be seen today on local gridirons, featuring four of the strongest teams in this section. Emerson Institute, with its coterie of former high school stars, will scrimmage with Eastern High at Eastern, while Episcopal High, from Alexandria, will tangle with the National Training School eleven at Bladensburg in a practice game.

The Eastern-Emerson tussle will start at 3:45 o'clock, and while both teams are supposed to go lightly, it promises to develop into real football since it is the first real grid warfare either team has faced this year.

Coach Mike Kelley, of Eastern, will commence his long quest of a backfield starting today and has made no selections to date. In the line, though, will be three veterans from last year, Capt. Mades, Maurice Wolf and George Campbell, upon whom the brunt of Eastern's chances lay.

Emerson Boasts Stars.

Emerson will send a small but reasonably select bunch of huskies over to Eastern. While only two boys from the 1930 team are back, Dick Kelso, tackle, and Joe Butscher, back, the Emersonians are made up of thoroughly seasoned gridmen. In center will be George Shorb, formerly of Eastern, who made the second All-High team last year; while Whalen and Gorman, an end and a back, are products of the sandlots. Cornel, a new boy, played in China, while Raum must be watched by Eastern if they are to prevent scoring.

Drilling will be the program for the day among the other high schools. Tech, back on its old stamping grounds after a fortnight at Maryland, will attempt to get in some scrimmaging, as will Gonzaga at Terminal and Business and St. John's on the Monument Grounds.

HAVANA RACING SCHEDULE.

New York, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Officials of the Havana-American Jockey Club today announced that the race meeting at Oriental Park will open December 19 and run for 80 days or more.

CALL GRID PRACTICE.

Rip Mills requests all members of the National Pale Dry Club and new candidates to report at Twenty-sixth street and Benning road northeast tonight at 7:30 o'clock for football practice. The club will play in the 125-pound class this season under the name of Eastern A. C.

BYRD EASES MARYLAND WORKOUT

Reserves Scrimmage; Faber May Miss Opening Game.

CLASSROOM registrations interfered with football training at the University of Maryland yesterday, the result being a light workout for the regulars and a short scrimmage session for the reserves, on whom Head Coach Byrd is concentrating his time and energies.

While the veterans, who at present seem likely of remaining intact against the assault of the ambitious second and third stringers, were running through signal practice, the reserves put in a strenuous hour of real football on both offense and defense.

By working his reserves overtime, Coach Byrd hopes to develop strength for the second-string and the "B" squad, a new unit at Maryland this year.

Coach Guards Against Injuries.

The veterans are not worrying the mentor, but he realizes full well that they can not go unscathed through the hard schedule ahead unless strong replacements stand ready to aid.

The "B" squad is to be composed of players with rating beneath "second string" and is to play a regular schedule. However, any player who shows unusual ability while performing on the "B" team will quickly be promoted.

"Skippy" Faber, last year's regular center, still is showing the effects of a knee injury, which was aggravated in scrimmage a few days ago. Unless he rapidly recovers his job probably will be occupied by John Mitchell in the opening game on September 26 against Washington College.

Walker Hurls Giants To Victory Over Cards

St. Louis, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Today was "Bill Walker Day" at Sportsman's Park here, and the New York Giants' star southpaw celebrated the occasion by holding the newly crowned National League champions to six hits and beating them 7 to 2.

Hundreds of Walker's admirers from East St. Louis were on hand to watch him pitch the Giants to one game nearer a clinch on second place. They still need another victory to make sure of second money.

The game was decided in the fifth inning when, with Paul Derringer pitching for the Cards, Mel Ott cracked his twenty-ninth home run of the year with two on base. Thereafter Gabby Street pulled most of his regulars and the shock troops finished, with Tony Kaufman on the mound.

TERRY BEATS FIELDS.

occasions when a bingle would have meant a run. In the fifth, he hit into a force play and then was picked off of first by Catcher Ruel, to end one of several rounds which had started off mighty promising.

Fischer walked Gehringer with one out in the first, and then Stone lifted a homer over the right-field wall. The Nat southpaw handed the Tigers their other run in the fourth. After G. Walker had doubled, he was trapped when he made a break for third with Fischer still holding the ball. The latter, however, hurried his throw to Bluege and it went through the third-sacker's glove above his head, letting the runner carry on to the plate. A double play in the sixth and a man caught at home in the ninth ruined the only other scoring chance the Tigers had.

Meanwhile, the Nats could get 99, but they couldn't quite get 100. Myer and Rice walked successively opening the home first, and were left; Kuhel and Fischer each singled in the second, to no avail, while singles by Gill and Cronin were put to no good use in the third, making six Nats left at this stage of the proceedings.

Except in the ninth, Washington's only other opportunity came in the fifth. Myer opened this round with a walk and Rice singled him to third. Again Manush and Gill failed. The former popped to Richardson, while Myer was caught at the plate on Gill's bounder to Alexander. It was here that the newest Nat leader took a nap on first and was picked off for the third out.

Of Detroit's eight hits, Alexander, with a single and a double, and Rogell, with a brace of two-baggers, showed the way, although Stone's homer, of course, was the big blow of the game. Nine hits fell to the lot of the natives, with Cronin and Kuhel getting two apiece.

Cronin added a great catch to the two contributed by Stone and Gehringer in the Nats' ninth to share fielding honors, the Nat short-fielder hustling to short left in the eighth, to grab Stone's near Texas Leaguer just as it appeared to be falling safe.

Braves Beat Pirates, 1-0, Lose Second, 4-2

Pittsburgh, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Bill "Hard Luck" Harris, new Pittsburgh pitcher from Fort Worth who previously had allowed only one run in eighteen innings, was handed his first defeat since joining the Pirates when Boston triumphed 1 to 0 over the Buccaneers in the first game of a double-header today.

Bob Brown, Boston recruit from Binghamton, lost the second game 4 to 2, the contest being called at the end of the eighth because of rain.

VA. DEPENDS ON THOMAS' PUNTING

Triple Threat Being Groomed for Busy Grid Season.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Sept. 17. Bill Thomas, Virginia captain of football, will again carry the burden of the Cavalier attack through the ten-game season which starts Saturday afternoon against Roanoke College.

The punting of Thomas is going to be almost as important to the Cavaliers as his passing and his ball carrying. Fred Dawson, Virginia's new head coach, has been spending much time in punting practice with Thomas working to lengthen out his kinks and to drive the ball out of bounds in the corners.

Last fall Bill Thomas and Frank Sippley both averaged gains of a few inches more than five yards each time they tried to advance the ball from scrimmage. They were running mates whose presence in the back field together kept the defensive team bothered.

Sippley on Injured List.

Sippley will spend the rest of September and much of October on the sidelines nursing a cracked shin bone. Thomas will have to carry on with the help of the other Cavalier back field candidates. And it happens that Virginia has several rather promising youngsters who are trying for back field posts in addition to a few veterans who have already earned the "V" as ball carriers.

Thomas is a few pounds heavier than last fall and will probably weigh 178 pounds when the season gets under way. He is a back who runs with high charging knees and with shifting hips that have a knack of slipping through a tackler's arms.

At defensive play, Thomas is just as good as on offense. In fact his skill at bringing down runners won him much applause in more than one game last fall when opposing runners were in the open and seemingly clear for a touchdown when they were brought down by the Virginia safety man.

25 Freshmen Report To Catholic U. Coach

Prominent in the enrollment were three lads with District schoolboy reputations. They were: Noble Cook, formerly of Devitt Prep; Eugene Augusterfer, St. John's High School, and "Horse" Holbrook, Gonzaga.

Hogan Is Fined $200 For Affray on Train

St. Louis, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Frank Hogan, catcher of the New York Giants, was suspended for ten days and fined $200 by Manager John J. McGraw here today when the team arrived for a series with the Cardinals.

Hogan created a disturbance on the train en route to St. Louis last night and when McGraw, who had preceded the club here, learned of it today, he immediately ordered the suspension and fine.

A'S-PHILS IN CHARITY GAME

Philadelphia, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Mayor Harry A. Mackey announced today the Athletics and Phillies would play a benefit game for the unemployed on September 28, at Shibe Park. The entire proceeds will be turned over to the city bureau of unemployment relief.

FOX HUNTERS PLAN FOR TRIALS

Special to The Washington Post.

LEESBURG, Va., Sept. 17.—The committee on arrangements for the tenth annual fox hound trials of the Virginia Fox Hunters Association, which will be held in Leesburg the week of October 12, has secured the stables of Belmont, historic estate, situated five miles from Leesburg, and owned by E. B. McLean, publisher and sportsman, for the housing of the horses and hounds during the trials.

The stables were recently made vacant by the large dispersal sale of breeding stock and yearlings last June when 100 stallions, mares, colts and yearlings were sold and the committee feel that they can house the majority of horses and hounds at these famous stables.

James deZirega, chairman of the horse committee, states that he is receiving a large number of requests for stabling quarters for mounts during the trials.

Howard E. Cole, chairman of the housing committee, is also receiving applications for rooms during the trials and it looks now as if the event will bring a large crowd of hunting enthusiasts to this famed fox hunting region.

The program will open Monday morning with the registration of members and distribution of official badges, at the Leesburg Inn, headquarters for the trials. At 1 o'clock a horse show will be given complimentary to the Virginia Fox Hunters' Association.

Derby Stake on Tuesday.

On Tuesday morning at 6 o'clock the running of the derby stakes will begin. A horn blowing contest will be held from the Court House steps on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. This will be followed by dancing.

The derby stake will be concluded on Wednesday and the annual business meeting will be held Wednesday evening at the Leesburg High School auditorium.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday the all-age stake will be run.

Friday at 4 p. m., a bench show will be held on the courthouse green. The following classes will be judged: Best derby dog, best derby bitch, best all-age dog, best all-age bitch, best dog, any age; best bitch, any age; best hound in show, best opposite sex, best couple, best two couples.

Two cups or trophies for best hound in show and best opposite sex will be awarded.

The judges will include Jack Carpenter, of Albemarle; Dr. F. A. Sinclair, Newport News, Va.; Jefferson Phillips, Hampton, Va.; Samuel P. Goodloe, Afton, Va.; Clagett C. Dorsey, Glenarm, Md.; R. V. Martindale, Amherst, Va., and J. E. Keyser, Flint Hill, Va.

Judges of the bench show will be William du Pont, jr., M. F. H., the Foxcatcher Hounds, Wilmington, Del., and D. C. Sands, M. F. H., the Middleburg Hunt.

Football Work Opens At St. John's College

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 17.—Football practice at St. John's College got under way today when a squad of nearly 40 candidates reported to Athletic Director M. Talbot Riggs, former University of Maryland all-around athlete who is also head coach. Riggs will be assisted by Valentine Lentz, of Baltimore, and William F. Stromeyer, both former St. John's stars.

Although the Johnnies suffered a number of losses by graduation last June, Riggs expects to round out a strong team from remaining veterans and development of new talent. St. John's will open its season with LaSalle, here, but the main objectives will be Johns Hopkins in Baltimore, October 24, and Yale at New Haven, November 7. Gallaudet College is included in the eight-game schedule. The mutes will be met here November 14. Western Maryland is booked for the Baltimore Stadium October 10, Lafayette at Easton, Pa., October 17; Hampden-Sydney at Roanoke, October 3, and Lynchburg College here November 21.

Ludlow With Celtics In Dixie Pig Game

Special to The Washington Post.

Alexandria, Va., Sept. 17.—Saint Mary's Celtics versus Dixie Pigs, runners-up in the Capital City League, will be the menu served up to the fans Sunday at 3 o'clock in Baggett's Stadium. Art Ludlow, heavy slugger and coach of the Celtic team, will return to the line-up after a long lay-off due to injuries. This should greatly bolster the offense of the locals. The Pigs are bringing a strong line-up to town for this engagement and a great game should be the result.

Coach Dick Allen, of the Del Ray A. C. football squad, has called a special practice session for Sunday morning on Edward Duncan Field. All members of the squad are requested to be present at this time.

Manager "Shorty" Scrivener of the Fraters eleven, expects to announce a coach for his club before the end of the week.

Pojello Beats Ledoux In Wrestling Feature

Carl Pojello kept his local wrestling record clean last night at Griffith Stadium when he tossed tough Jean Ledoux, French-Canadian, with a series of back body slams after 22 minutes of rough wrestling. A constant drizzle held the crowd down to 3,800.

Other results: Doc Wilson defeated Nazarino Poggi in 23½ minutes; Pat O'Shocker defeated John Maxos, in 25 minutes, and George Romonoff defeated George Kiatti in 13 minutes.

VA. EPISCOPAL SCHEDULE.

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., Sept. 17.—Football squad at Virginia Episcopal School includes 45 boys, five lettermen returning from last year's squad. The schedule opens next week. It is as follows:

September 26, Charlottesville High, here; October 3, McGuire's University School, here; 10, Woodberry Forest, Orange; 15, Shenandoah Valley Academy, Charlottesville; 24, Fishburne Military Academy, here; 31, Danville Military Academy, there; November 7, Episcopal High School, here; 14, Randolph-Macon Academy, Bedford; 21, St. Christopher's School, here.

Few Jobs on Navy Eleven Are Clinched, Says Coach

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 17.—Despite the lingering wave of heat and humidity, Head Coach Rip Miller carried the Navy gridders through another protracted scrimmage session today, although he did not allow them to speed up the play under the circumstances. Miller and his assistants are centering their attention largely on offensive work just now, and all of the big group of candidates for the back field who have any ability as ball toters, coupled with blocking, are being given ample opportunity to show their best.

Four different teams have been tentatively organized, this being in line with the Notre Dame system, though positions are by no means certain. As far as what is called the present varsity combination, Miller asserted that the only sure bet for a back field berth is the veteran "Bullet Lou" Kirn, around whom much of the offensive strength of the team will probably be built. Miller went a bit further by saying that perhaps three men of the forward wall look like fixtures. They are Capt. Tuttle, at center; Lou Bryan, at right tackle, and Underwood, right guard. A three-cornered fight is on for the other tackle post, the candidates being McCrea, Chambers, James and Kane, the latter of whom is the best punter of the squad and that asset may go a long way in the final choice. Thompson, a stocky lad of 180 pounds, worked out as the other guard, and Smith and Elliott were on the ends, with Pray being a change player as flankman. Bert Davis was at quarter, and Kirn, Campbell and Konrad made up the rest of the back field.

This combination was taken entirely from last year's squad, and is indeed a formidable looking group with plenty of speed and football sense. Davis is said to be the type of player in most respects that Miller desires for a signal barker, but others who are in the running are Denny, Moncure and Becht and Chung Soon, the latter two sophomores.

$314,853 Lost in 3 Months; Garden May Abandon Bouts

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Vague reports that Madison Square Garden, which reported a financial loss of $314,853 for the three months ended August 31, would attempt to retrieve some of its losses with a Max Schmeling-Mickey Walker bout in Los Angeles, were ridiculed today by Garden officials.

"It is too silly to bother to deny," Tom McArdle, matchmaker, said. "Joe Jacobs, the heavyweight champion's manager won't be back from Germany until late in October. He will decide nothing for Schmeling until he returns here."

Reports that Walker and Schmeling would box twelve round to no decision in the Los Angeles Coliseum February 25 accompanied stories that a drastic shake-up impended in the management of the Garden boxing affairs. It was reported that at a recent meeting, when the severe loss for the past three months was definitely made known to the board of directors, deep consideration was given the suggestion to abandon boxing at the Garden.

During the same period last year the Garden lost only $74,468. Part of the additional losses this quarter were caused by an $80,000 loss in promotion of the Schmeling-Stribling match in Cleveland in July.

HITTING the HEAD PIN

BOWLING, that sport which nightly lures men and women, boys and girls from comfortable homes and firesides during the winter, only to lapse into almost nothingness during the summer, is beginning to look up. The period of hibernation draws rapidly to an end and a bigger and presumably better season is about to dawn.

It seems to Hitting the Head Pin, which starts its season today, that 1931-32 should be given over to getting acquainted with the local bowling aces. More people know that Jack Whalen's total for the season last year was one hundred and sumteen, than that he has one of the greatest deliveries of all time. It seems to Hitting the Head Pin that more people are interested in the way Whalen or Espey or Harrison grip the ball, what they wear and think, than in the blunt recording of fine-type scores.

The I. O. O. F. Band provided a pleasing note at the opening of the Odd Fellows League. As the Mount Pleasant Team rolled its first new ball down the drives it marked the start of the nineteenth year of the loop's existence.

Mount Pleasant stole a march on the rest by reporting for the initial night's event in midseason form and trouncing Eastern three to none. Winners last year by a fairly decisive margin, the Mounts, led by the Groff brothers and Steele, went out in front once more. Two 570 games helped them amass a total of 1,651 for the set. Chalmers Groff's 146 was high game for the night, but he yielded all-around individual honors to Dobbins, of the losers, who rolled games of 129, 110 and 126.

Langdon salvaged but one game out of three from Amity No. 2, whose Donaldson brothers accounted for their team's margin of victory. McCrory and Hutchinson looked good for the losers.

Amity No. 1 whitewashed the lowly Mount Nebo, Central subjected Columbia to the same treatment and Washington took two from Phoenix. All scores were beneath par.

Gregory's consistent 337 set was the motif of Fred D. Stuart's victory over Friendship.

Those promising Lucky Strike Midgets will hold an important meeting Monday at 7:30 o'clock, at which Martin Drain, Dick Harvey, Bobbie Fuchs, Charlie Lancey, Charlie Mintzell, Johnnie Frank, Carl Frank and Capt. Nick Rinaldi are expected to report.

The Ahepa Bowling League, one of the most enthusiastic, will begin its season at Convention Hall Monday night with eight teams attempting to locate that spot on the side of the headpin.

The Recreation Duckpin League could use two more teams in its circuit, pending the start of its season next Thursday night. Any teams desiring to learn further particulars are invited to get in touch with D. I. Cox at the Recreation Alleys.

Washington Cricketers To Play Here Sunday

Capt. Bennett wil lead his strongest possible team of Washington Cricket Club players against the strong British West Indies Team from Philadelphia Sunday, when the two meetin at Taft Park, Twentieth and Otis streets, beginning at noon and lasting until 6 o'clock, under the auspices of the Burroughs citizens' committee.

The local eleven will be chosen from Castle, Eyre, Smith, Carleton, McLane, Wynn, Cheng, Warren, Mulligan, Croshart, Dougherty, Byron, Holman, Evans, Branch and Skull. The Philadelphia Team, better known as the Middlesex C. C., will use, besides Capt. Chase, the four Barrow brothers, Brome, Welsh, Robinson, Johnson, Taylor, Pollard, Sealy, McMorine and Warriner.

The umpires will be Brathiate and Gibson.

NEWARK AGAIN TRAILS.

New York, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The Newark Bears, who have made a valiant fight for the International League flag, found themselves tonight a game and a half back of the leading Rochester Red Wings and had only three more games to play. The Wings, idle today, still had four games to go and needed to win only two of them to clinch a tie for the championship. The Bears lost today to Reading, 9 to 4.

The standing of the two leaders tonight was:

Fort Washington May Extend Boxing Shows

Providing good weather continues, Fort Washington will continue its outdoor boxing shows and the fans will get a chance to see Midget Wolgast, recognized as world's flyweight champion by the New York Boxing Commission, during the first week in October.

The probable opponent for Wolgast will be the winner of the Sailor Landers-Frankie De Angelo bout, scheduled as the feature attraction of eight rounds for next Monday night. Earlier plans would have brought Wolgast and Landers together, but this was sidetracked in order to rematch the Sailor and De Angelo, who clashed a month ago.

Landers, winner of the first bout on a referee's decision, is highly confident of winning this time on a knockout. The popular Norfolk bantamweight claims his right hand was hurt when he last engaged the Southeast Italian, thus preventing him from "shooting the works."

PADDOCK A FATHER.

Pasadena, Calif., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Charles Paddock, noted sprinter, has become a father. A son was born to his wife, Neva, at a hospital here last night. Mr. and Mrs. Paddock were married last December.

JONES WINS BY K. O.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Gorilla Jones, Negro middleweight, of Akron, Ohio, scored a technical knockout over Clyde Chastian, Dallas, Tex., in the sixth round of the first bout on tonight's N. B. A. elimination tournament.

A Nat double play called for plenty of action in the sixth. After Alexander had led off with a single G. Walker rolled to Bluege. He trapped Alexander between third and second and then Walker was caught midway between first and second and run down. Kuhel and Bluege were credited with outs while the pair of them and Cronin drew assists.

FRONT LINE IS WORRYING COLONIALS

Coaches Shift Center and Tackles in Experiments.

Special to The Washington Post.

CAMP LETTS, Md., Sept. 17.—Not entirely satisfied with the center of the line, Coach Pixlee and his assistants made several switches in the line-up of the George Washington Colonials in today's double session to bolster that situation.

Frank Blackistone, husky District boy, and Rudy Usnik, heretofore a back field candidate, were tried out as guards and showed up well. "Blackie" hits the scale around 195 pounds, while Usnik is ten pounds lighter.

The tackle positions are causing no little worry to Assistant Coach Raskowski, too. Walter Slaird, Barney Hale, Bert Bagranoff and Charlie Chestnut, letter men, have failed to convince their boss yet they should be regulars. As a result three new men, Nielsen, Asher and Edmonds, are being given every chance to earn themselves a regular position.

Nelson Most Impressive Of Trio.

Of the trio of youngsters, Nielsen seems to be the most impressive right now. However, Edmonds, a 200-pounder who is the fastest lineman on the squad, is coming along fast, while Asher, who also hits 200, needs only to polish his offensive play, for he is a bear on defense, to assure himself lots of playing time once the season starts.

With Blackistone switched from center, another pivot candidate who comes from a famous football family looms up as a possible snapper-back. His name is Jay Payne and he hails from Iowa. An uncle of his, Mark Payne, who played with Dakota Wesleyan, is coholder of one of the longest drop kicks on record with George Gipp, 83 yards. Jay doesn't do any kicking, but looks capable of pushing Conn and Dikes hard for the job as regular center.

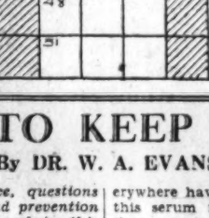
YESTERDAY'S ANSWER.



(Copyright, 1931.)

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

SYMPTOMS SUGGEST INFANTILE PARALYIS.

THERE is very little danger of infantile paralysis after October 1, and the danger has been decreasing for a week or more. In the great New York epidemic of 1916, conditions were at their worst in July.

In that of 1931, August was the worst month. Bad epidemics have been known in September, but they were not as bad as those in New York earlier in the season. However, there will be a moderate degree of danger until somewhere about Thanksgiving and parents, as well as health officers, should not put this disease out of mind until that date.

The New York State department of health recently published the following statement of symptoms which are present before paralysis, and which should cause infantile paralysis to be suspected:

Fine trembling of lips and hand. There may be coarse trembling during sleep.

There is some sweating, but it is seldom profuse.

These are the symptoms which should cause parents to search for the best diagnostic service available. It is hoped that laboratories will try out the new K culture media, about which we have recently read in the newspapers.

The New York State health department recommends the convalescent serum as a cure. It must be given early. Good health departments everywhere have been stocking up with this serum for several months, and they are ready to supply it in small quantities to proper cases on request. In many places the supply is keeping ahead of the demand; while in others, there is a shortage. The New York State health department invited the hospitals of the State to cooperate in curing those afflicted, with the result that by the middle of August more than 60 institutions located in the State, but outside New York City, were working together and with the department.

This health department advises that schools should open on schedule and continue in regular operation. It has not been found that closing schools served to control epidemics of infantile paralysis.

PHLEBITIS AND CURE.

Mrs. M. A. writes:

1. What is phlebitis?
2. What causes it?
3. Is there a cure or remedy?

REPLY.

1. Inflammation of a vein.
2. Infection is the most frequent cause. It follows labor, pregnancy, and other contributing causes.
3. As a rule it can be expected to pass if rest and moderately good care are given.

STOCK PRICES GAIN IN TECHNICAL RALLY

New York, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Stocks sold themselves into a technical rally today, but not until an unusually large number had recorded new lows.

Repurchases by a cumbersome short interest gave the share market its only noticeable gain so far this month. Coming in the last hour, the rise achieved considerable momentum and then slowed down, so that final prices were a point or so under the top in many cases. Nevertheless, the average net improvement was 1.7 points, the best showing since late August.

Sales totaled 2,392,950 shares.

Before the turn, which got no support from the news, scores of favorite issues, including American Telephone, Atchison, Union Pacific, American Can, General Electric, Consolidated Gas and North American had made new minimums and U. S. Steel had duplicated its previous bottom. The general run of losses, however, was moderate, and the stiffer resistance that was soon offered by important leaders enabled the market to work toward the eventual turn.

Steel Closes Higher.

At the close U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Can, General Electric, Westinghouse, General Motors, National Biscuit, Consolidated Gas, Case, Baltimore & Ohio and Union Carbide, among others, were up 1 to 2 points or slightly more. Union Pacific exchanged a 5-point loss for a net gain of 1½ and New York Central, which acted fairly well, was up 3¼. Norfolk & Western's break of 5¾ was cut to 2¾. American Woolen preferred, Western Union, American Telephone and Allied Chamical made better than average advances.

Relieved from adverse dividend actions by prominent domestic corporations, the market nevertheless had to encounter a somber foreign trade report for August and the fact that copper metal sold at 7 cents, a record low. Changes in the foreign bank statements included a drop in the Reichsbank's foreign exchange holdings and a gain in its gold, as well as a better Bank of England ratio which reflected a smaller circulation. The report of the Federal Reserve Banks showed fluctuations incident to the quarterly Treasury financing.

For the first time in more than two years the United States last month had an unfavorable trade balance. August exports of $165,000,000, the smallest since September, 1914, were 10 per cent under July and compared with imports of $186,000,000, which represented a loss of 6 per cent as compared with the previous month.

One Optimist's View.

One optimist's view of the statement was that the excess of imports over exports reflected a better purchasing power in this country, although the more obvious reflection was the disjointed condition of world commerce as a result of the depression and successive "crises" in European and Latin American nations.

Brokers' loans were deflated to the extent of $54,000,000, bringing the total to another new low not far above the billion-dollar mark. Brokerage houses, of course, would prefer to see borrowings moving in the opposite direction.

Wheat's easiness, appearing in all months but September which gained slightly, seemed largely due to the weather news. Losses were small. September corn receded nearly 2 cents, although declines in other months amounted to minor fractions. Increased country offerings and predictions of larger Argentine exports were factors. Cotton futures made new seasonal lows, rallied and then eased again, off 3 to 5 points net.

Foreign exchanges were more or less steady, with sterling cables easing to $4.85 15-16. The discount on the Canadian dollar was extended to more than a cent as the quotations dipped under .99 cents.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—Disturbed anew by an oscillating stock market, and faced by fresh low-record prices for cotton, grain sagged lower today, especially corn. Relative steadiness at times was imparted to wheat owing to an active export demand for wheat from North American and Europe was estimated to have bought more than 1,000,000 bushels this side of the Atlantic. Black Sea shipments of wheat, however, including Russian exports of 3,645,000 bushels were heavy for the week, more than double those of a year ago.

Wheat closed irregular at ½ cent decline to ¼ cent advance, corn ⅛@1¼ down, oats unchanged to ¼ higher and provisions showing 2 cents to 12 cents setback.

The downward trend of grain prices began early, with bears putting stress on stock market breaks and directing attention to weakness of Argentina exchange, as well as to Argentina reports that cold weather was causing danger to winter crops. Only transient headway later for bulls resulted from Canadian reports of freezing temperatures and of harvest operations hampered by rains. Late instability of wheat quotations both at Winnipeg and Liverpool had an unsettling effect here, and the Chicago market displayed a heavy tone at the close, although the September wheat delivery acted independently firm as a result of spread traders buying against simultaneous sales of December.

Corn ran into speculative selling after a steady start. A sharp increase of country offerings was coincident with the largest deliveries yet witnessed on September contracts, 65,000 bushels. Besides, bookings of corn to arrive were materially augmented, and new receipts in Chicago, 55 cars, were a little larger than at this time last week, though still far below the number a year ago, 130 cars. Particular notice was taken of announcements that 85 per cent of the Iowa corn crop was now safe from frost.

A good shipping demand here for corn helped to rally prices somewhat in the late dealings. Oats values were stiffened by vessel charters for 300,000 bushels to go to Buffalo.

Provisions sympathized with lower quotations on hogs.

BONDS REPEAT DROP TO NEW LOW LEVELS

New York, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The bond market declined irregularly again today, and a diversified group of issues touched new minimum levels.

The average prices of 60 leading issues consisting of twenty bonds each of railroads, public utilities and industrials and of the railroad and utility groups individually reached new lows.

Trading was somewhat less active. Many of the larger losses occurred among foreign loans, such as the issues of Antioquia, Finland, Australia and some of those of Brazil and Germany. The 5½s and 7s of the latter country showed fractional strength, however.

United States Treasury and Liberty loans declined irregularly. Some of these issues were active, but several of them turned dull.

Although sizable losses were scattered over the list of domestic corporate bonds, a large number of them closed higher. They included such diversified issues as Allegheny 5s of 1944, American & Foreign Power 5s, Brooklyn Edison series A 5s, Boston & Maine 5s of 1967, Baltimore & Ohio 5s of 1995 and 4½s of 1933, Rock Island refunding 4s and St. Paul 5s of 1975 and of 2000, Great Northern 7s, International Paper series A 5s, Goodrich 6s and McKesson & Robbins 5½s.

Issues of several of the companies associated with the Van Sweringen interests staged an afternoon rally and closed with sizable gains after being lower.

However, a numerous and equally diversified list of bonds were consistently lower, which accounts for the decline in average prices.

HEARING THEN REVERTS TO PRESSURE TESTIMONY

Peck, Called Again, Refuses to Qualify as an Expert; Allen Also on Stand.

Fourteen letters seized in the files of George A. G. Wood, president of the Washington Gas Light Co., showing that plant additions and main extensions of the local company had first to be approved by the Central Public Service Corporation, nationally powerful utilities concern, were identified by Mr. Wood yesterday in the course of the gas hearing before the Public Utilities Commission.

Mr. Wood was not asked to do more than to identify the letters as having been taken from his files under a subpena issued by the commission. Their identification was preparatory to the consideration of the ownership phase of the hearing when testimony on gas pressure has been completed. Col. Albert E. Peirce, of the Central Public Service Corporation, already is under subpena to appear at the hearing and subpenas are expected to be issued for the appearance of W. H. Wildes, executive vice president, and R. A. Gallagher, comptroller of the corporation. These men are not expected to appear before next week.

Identification of the letters by Mr. Wood yesterday interrupted the testimony of David B. Allen, distribution engineer of the gas company. Mr. Allen had taken the witness chair after Bert H. Peck, engineering assistant to the gas company president, had been excused, to the evident disappointment of counsel who wished to cross-examine him.

Peck Denies He Is an "Expert."

Mr. Peck had been placed on the witness stand late Wednesday afternoon, to discuss gas pressures. He was presented as a company witness but fell into difficulties immediately which were brought to a climax when Richmond B. Keech, people's counsel, called his attention to a report he had made when he was employed as engineer of the utilities commission, before he was employed by the gas company. In that report, made in October, 1930, Mr. Peck declared that four or five inches of pressure were undoubtedly the most efficient from the consumer's standpoint. On the witness stand he had begun to justify the higher pressures now asked by the company when his old report was brought up.

Mr. Peck resumed the witness stand yesterday morning but Wilton J. Lambert, counsel for the gas company, back-tracked so quickly that it was a moment or two before his action was understood.

"No, sir, I do not," replied Mr. Peck.

Philadelphia Observer Heard.

There was some confusion and Mr. Keech did begin cross examination but Mr. Peck's testimony had been so brief that there was little to cross-examine about and in a few minutes Mr. Lambert asked if Mr. Keech wanted to make Mr. Peck his own witness and be bound by his testimony. Mr. Keech stopped and Mr. Peck left the stand, to be followed by Mr. Allen, who was in turn followed by John B. Klumpp, consulting engineer, who is employed by the Philadelphia Gas Commission to watch the operations of the municipally owned gas plant which is operated under contract by the United Gas Improvement Co.

Lengthy questioning by Mr. Keech, William A. Roberts, assistant corporation counsel, and George E. Sullivan failed to shake either Mr. Allen or Mr. Klumpp in their insistence that Washington consumers would not be injured by higher [illegible] gas pressures. The consumer's difficulties, Mr. Klumpp said, were [illegible] more with too low than with high pressures.

McQueen Next Witness.

Gas appliances were so made, he said, that a variation of 100 per cent in pressure meant no loss in efficiency in operation, provided the pressure did not fall too low. The ordinary consumer always regulates the flow of gas at burners by the pressure, turning the control cock to meet conditions, he said.

Both Mr. Roberts and Mr. Keech hammered away at Mr. Allen on the subject of meters, seeking to develop lack of adequate supervision, testing and regulation of meters. Mr. Allen said there was a wide range of adjustments of gas appliances and, like Mr. Klumpp, insisted that an exact adjustment of an ordinary gas burner to an exact pressure was impracticable.

The hearing will be resumed at 10 o'clock this morning when J. R. McQueen, superintendent of the service department of the gas company, is expected to be presented as the next company witness. The company is expected to complete its case on gas pressure today and an adjournment probably will be had until Monday.

Excavation Bids Asked For Postal Department

Bids for excavating the site for the new Postoffice Department building on Pennsylvania avenue between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets will be opened by the Treasury Department today.

The new Postoffice Department Building is to be one of the most unusual in shape of structures in the Government program, because of the fact that it lies between the Grand Plaza on the west and the Great Circle on the east. It will be concave on both the east and west and will have a front along Pennsylvania avenue.

WARDMAN JUGGLING CHARGED AGAINST 15

In a 27-page recital of the financial manipulations of the Wardman Mortgage & Discount Corporation and its allied interests, Harry A. L. Barker and Gardner L. Boothe, receivers for the mortgage company, yesterday carried to the District Supreme Court their fight to restore to the company and its stockholders money allegedly diverted, either with improper security or no security at all.

The suit claims that $900,000 in stock sales was diverted and that "the defendants, through an elaborate stock selling campaign, although misrepresenting the true facts and conditions," led prospective stock purchasers to believe that they would and could share in the control and management of Wardman companies.

Fifteen Defendants Named.

Fifteen defendants, among them being three men who are now acting as the receivers for the Wardman Real Estate Properties, Inc., were named. They were Halsey, Stuart & Co., Hambleton & Co., James C. Stephens, New York City; Charles B. Stuart, and H. L. Stuart, New York City; Emory L. Coblentz, Frederick, Md.; Wardman Corporation, Wardman Realty & Construction Co., Wardman Real Estate Properties, Inc., Thomas P. Bones, Shoreham Hotel, Harry Wardman, 1826 Twenty-fourth street northwest, and the receivers of the Properties Company, Joseph P. Tumulty, Julius I. Peyser, and Thomas D. Carson.

The intricate maze of dealings, going back to the early part of April, 1928, of the Wardman concerns was traced and sensational charges were voiced. The request is made to have "a commission or commissions" appointed to take testimony of witnesses.

If it is necessary, the petition asks, the cause be referred to an auditor or special master. A true accounting of all assets from all the defendants, in so far as they relate to the "financing mentioned in the bill," is sought and a decree is requested against the defendants for money found to be due by reason of the complaints.

Receivers Are Asked For.

Receivers for the Wardman Realty & Construction Co. and the Wardman Corporation are asked for. These receivers are to act in conjunction with the receivers, or substituted receivers, for the Wardman real estate properties, to conserve and protect all the assets of the companies pending a final adjudication of the complaints in the bill.

A specific ruling against Wardman, Bones and Hobbs is asked. They would be required to restore to the plaintiffs the purchase price of 25,000 shares of common stock of the Wardman Mortgage & Discount Corporation plus interest. Attorneys Harry F. Kennedy and Norman Fischer appeared for the complainants.

Exchange Delegates to Leave.

Lieut. Walter Hinton and I. W. Elenberger will leave Washington today to attend the national convention of Exchange Clubs of the United States which will open in Memphis, Tenn., Sunday, and last until next Wednesday. Aviation topics will feature the meeting.

130 Conventions Here Next Year

Bicentennial Given Credit as Attracting Groups to Capital.

More than 130 organizations have selected Washington as meeting place for 1932 conventions, it was announced yesterday in "World Convention Dates," a New York publication listing gatherings all over the world.

The Bicentennial celebration has made it peculiarly attractive as a convention city. The publication announced that 18,851 conventions were recorded throughout the world this year, an increase of 2,839 over last year.

Ward H. Marsh, director of the Greater National Capital Committee of the Washington Board of Trade, announced that Washington has been selected by a number of organizations "because of facilities offered here to study trade methods and business conditions." He said the trend is away from the "resort" type of convention.

RITES FOR MRS. CLAPHAM.

Funeral Will Be Held Today for Long-Time Resident of Capital.

Funeral services for Mrs. Maude B. Clapham, who died after a prolonged illness at her late residence, 1848 Ontario place northwest, yesterday, will be held tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock at the Church of the Pilgrims, Twenty-second and P streets northwest. Interment will be in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mrs. Clapham was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., and was a resident of Washington for 13 years. She was a member of the Woman's Auxiliary Craftsmen of the Veteran's Bureau and also a member of the P. E. O. Sisterhood.

She is survived by two daughters, Isabelle Clapham, of this city, and Mrs. Lewis N. Errickson, of Des Moines, Iowa; a son, Wentworth B. Clapham, and a sister, Lillian M. Beggs, Washington; a brother, Harry N. Beggs, of Goshen, N. Y.

ROBERT BURNSIDE RITES.

Services Will Be Held This Afternoon; Burial in Prospect Hill.

Funeral services for Robert W. Burnside, who died Wednesday at his home, 3636 Warder street northwest, after an illness of nearly three years will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at his late residence. Interment will be in Prospect Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Burnside, a native of Washington, worked for Judd & Detweiler as a printer for 40 years. He was a member of the Benjamin B. French Lodge, No. 15, F. A. A. M.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Rice, of Burke, Va., and a daughter, Mrs. Louise W. Wood, of this city.

MAJ. C. V. HART RITES.

Funeral services for Maj. Charles V. Hart, Medical Corps of the Army, who was killed in an airplane crash at Brooks Field, July 16, will be held tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock at Arlington National Cemetery. Rites will be at the grave.

Maj. Hart was one of the few flying physicians in the United States service.

Funeral services were delayed, because of Mrs. Hart's ill health, until she was able to travel.

2 STORES PICKETED IN FUR UNION STRIKE

Workers' Officials Charge Concerns With Efforts to Destroy Standards.

A strike affecting workers engaged in two Washington fur shops has been called by the Fur Workers Union, Local No. 72. The two concerns, Francke, Inc., 1328 G street, and the Model Fur Shop, 923 G street, are being picketed by members of the union.

Both concerns refused to renew their contracts with the local union in the early part of the month, it was said. Union officials have charged that the companies involved have been attempting to destroy standards the workers have been trying to maintain during the depression. They declare that other employers are adhering to the union demands, proving that they are not unreasonable.

Owners of the shops contend they have had unsatisfactory dealings with the union and were unwilling to renew their agreements on expiration September 1. They point out that the general depression has curtailed their business to such an extent that it is impossible for them to continue with the same number of employes.

They maintain that they are paying their present employes a slightly higher rate of wage than that demanded by the union. The owner of Francke, Inc., states that when the strike was called no employes left his company, and that he is carrying on business with his same personnel.

It is understood that the men picketing the shops were not employes of the concerns against whom the strike has been called, but members of the local union, engaged by other companies. It is not believed that more than three employes in all are affected by the strike.

Woman Incurs Injuries As Taxi and Car Collide

Mrs. Lucille Beall, 32, 319 Thirteenth street northeast, suffered a possible fracture of the shoulder yesterday when two autos collided at Twelfth and D streets northeast. She was taken to Casualty Hospital in the taxicab of Frank R. Hopkins, 3270 M street northwest, in which she was a passenger when the crash occurred.

S. E. Vermillion, of Bowie, Md., was driving the second car, according to Ninth Precinct police. There were no arrests.

Package of Pants Stolen.

A package containing 43 pairs of pants was stolen from in front of the clothing store of George & Co., at 910 Seventh street northwest, yesterday afternoon. The pants were valued at $100.

Staff Sergeant Is Promoted.

Staff Sergt. Edgar S. McDonald, of Company D, 121st Engineers, has been promoted to the rank of first sergeant, Capt. Charles E. Smithson announced yesterday.

TRANSCRIPT IN TRIAL OF STAPLES SOUGHT

Investigative Group Plans to Study Record; Blair Is Made Chairman.

The investigative committee appointed by the District Commissioners to review the alleged "framing" of Patrolman Orville Staples will begin a study today of a transcript of the testimony heard at the trial of Staples before a police board, which resulted in his dismissal from the force in 1926.

Henry P. Blair was elected chairman of the committee at an organization meeting held yesterday. Directly after its organization, the committee sent a request for five transcripts of the testimony. Only one is available, however, and this will be placed at its disposal today.

To Hear Witnesses.

It is the intention of members of the group to first review the police board trial, before hearing any further testimony. In all likelihood, they will attempt to have witnesses who corroborated the "framing" charge before the grand jury, tell their stories to them.

In addition to Mr. Blair, members are Col. Walter C. Clephane, Col. J. Miller Kenyon, Daniel W. O'Donoghue and Stanton C. Peelle. They have not indicated to the Commissioners what form of procedure they will follow in their inquiry.

The Commissioners yesterday replied to Senator Smith W. Brookart's letter in which the senator requested to know why Patrolman Joseph H. Hunt, who is accused of "framing" Staples, has not been suspended.

Commission Cites Plan.

Albert W. Jacobson, attorney for Patrolman Hunt, went to the District Building yesterday with the intention of requesting that his client be suspended. However, it was explained to him that the Commissioners have a definite plan in execution to consider the grand jury's recommendations and intend to carry it through.

The function of the investigation committee will be to determine whether the grand jury's recommendations have sufficient basis for further actions. If the committee believes they have, then the matter will be referred to a special civilian trial board now in the process of formation.

Committee Urges Plan for Channel

Development of District Waterfront Advised in Report.

Development of Washington' channel waterfront along well-thought-out and definite plans was urged in the annual report of the District wharf committee submitted to the District Commissioners yesterday by Roland M. Brennan, chairman.

Many repairs will be needed in the near future, the committee said, but before these are undertaken there should be adopted a well-planned improvement program similar to that submitted to the rivers and harbors committee of the House last session.

Decrease in cost of construction work, the committee reported, had resulted in bids from 20 to 30 per cent lower than had been expected for such repair and maintenance work as had been done and left an unexpended balance of $3,500 out of the $15,000 appropriated for the last fiscal year.

Man Accused in Theft Held for Grand Jury

Because he broke into the barber shop of Frank H. Lloyd, 2113 Rhode Island avenue northeast, and took many of the razors, scissors and other paraphernalia he found there, Moses Brown, colored, was held under a $500 bond for the action of the grand jury.

Lloyd appeared in Police Court at Brown's preliminary hearing and identified most of the stuff which Twelfth Precinct police recovered.

POLICE TRIAL BOARD ABSOLVES SINCLAIR

In a quickly voted "not guilty" finding, the Police Trial Board, composed of Inspector O. T. Davis and Capts. Maurice Collins and James Beckett, yesterday acquitted Raymond Sinclair, motorcycle policeman attached to the Traffic Bureau, of charges that would, if sustained, have led to his dismissal.

Thus Washington's champion arresting officer has escaped the first blot on his police record, for he testified that he had never before been called upon to face a trial board charge, nor had he ever been reprimanded. Sinclair has been on the force since January 7, 1920.

Party Leads to Charges.

A party at the Sinclair home at 5218 Illinois avenue northwest, last Friday, led to the charges against the officer. In the small hours of the morning, it was testified, Sinclair called the Thirteenth Precinct to ask that the officer on the beat drop around to his home in the belief that his appearance would have the effect of breaking up an argument that had been going on for almost two hours.

A party of police, led by Acting Lieut. R. B. Carroll, responded, and it was on charges made out by Carroll that Sinclair was tried. Carroll testified that he would not have permitted Sinclair to go on motorcycle duty in his condition at that time, although he would have permitted him to go on foot duty. Other policemen testified that Sinclair's eyes were red.

An argument between Mrs. Sinclair and a woman guest at the party, Mrs. Amelia Patterson, of 1728 Connecticut avenue northwest, which lasted almost two hours, was blamed for the trouble. Both Sinclair and Mr. Patterson testified they had been unable to quiet their wives.

Rid Husband's Uniform.

Mrs. Sinclair said she had taken her husband's cap, coat and revolver and had hidden them so that he could not leave the house. Her deafness, causing her to raise her voice, was apparent when she was testifying.

Another policeman, tried yesterday, was recommended for dismissal. He was Charles B. Kimball, of the Twelfth Precinct, who was suspended for his connection with a shooting at Fifteenth street and Rhode Island avenue northeast, several months ago. Kimball's service weapon was used by a woman to shoot Leonard Hoffman. The gun, it was shown, had been accidentally discharged.

Contractor Bound Over On Criminal Libel Count

Arraigned in Police Court on a warrant charging him with criminal libel, William H. Pierce, Negro building contractor, was yesterday ordered held in $500 bond for the grand jury.

Pierce is said to have written a letter to Col. John W. Oehman, building inspector, charging that Frederick A. Humm, a building inspector, had accepted $10 from him to overlook the fact that Pierce had no permit for a building then under construction. A later demand for $5 more from the contractor by Humm led, the letter said, to the latter's statement that he would make "all the trouble he could" for Pierce.

Lido Civic Club Plans Reception for Sabatini

At a special meeting of the Lido Civic Club last night in the club headquarters at the Mayflower Hotel, arrangements for a banquet reception to Rafael Sabatini, noted author, on the evening of November 3, were put under way, it was said by the club's president, John J. Sirica, assistant district attorney.

The Lido Club, whose purpose is to greet and honor outstanding Italian visitors, received a hearty letter of acceptance from Mr. Sabatini to the banquet invitation extended by Dr. Raphael Manganaro, club secretary. The banquet will follow Mr. Sabatini's local lecture engagement.

Commerce Building Insulation Bids Asked

The Treasury Department yesterday called for bids for insulation to be installed under the roof of the new Commerce Department Building, closing a year's controversy with the architectural firm handling construction.

Specifications calling for a 1-inch material of cane or fiber board, to be attached underneath the concrete roof slab, were finally drawn up by the supervising architect's office. Efforts had been made to have York & Sawyer, New York architects, make recommendations and draft specifications.

Homecoming Held By Kiwanis Group

Activities of Local Club Since Organization Are Reviewed.

The homecoming meeting of the Washington Kiwanis Club was held yesterday at the Washington Hotel with 32 former Kiwanians now living in Washington present as guests. Roe Fulkerson, first president of the club welcomed the guests.

George Winslow, for many years secretary-treasurer, gave a synopsis of the work done by Kiwanis in Washington. Among its accomplishments were selling $1,300,000 worth of Liberty bonds; work for the Boy Scouts; erection of two buildings at Camp Good Will; presenting an automobile and salary of one nurse annually for the Instructive Visiting Nurse Society; erection of a bandstand for entertainment of patients at the Tuberculosis Hospital and orthopedic work for crippled and underprivileged children.

Fred East and William F. Raymond sang and John J. Boobar, a former president, closed the meeting with "Reminiscences," an original poem. Claude W. Owen, a former president, acted as master of ceremonies, while Merritt O. Chance, the present president, presided.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE NEW GOLF BALL PASSES.

THE new golf ball is through. Using a short grip, but a long back swing, the United States Golf Association has smacked it into the Creek of Oblivion. This is the first time the new ball ever got any real distance.

• • • •

This decision that the new ball is no good proves that even duffers can be right at times, and ends one of the greatest major disturbances since the World War. It will do much to put America back on a peace basis.

• • • •

BUT EVEN AT ITS WORST THE LIGHT BALL WASN'T AS BAD AS IT WAS REPAINTED.

• • • •

The good players continued to get good scores with it, but the rank and file never got beyond treating it as an alibi rather than a golf ball. Nothing except prohibition, the former kaiser and the European corn borer have been blamed for so much distress.

• • • •

Homes were wrecked, golf clubs disorganized, locker room harmony ruined and business "conference" thrown into chaos by the 1.68 ball. They had a reason for calling it the 1.68—one hole in 68 strokes.

• • • •

But even at that the U. S. G. A. by abolishing the ball misinterpreted the real needs of the golfing world. What the average golfer needs more than anything else for his personal happiness is something on which to blame his bad golf. In the new ball he had it.

• • • •

IT WAS really the answer to a duffer's prayer. He didn't have to watch his form in front of a mirror, read the newspaper golf lessons or talk to the club professional to find why his golf score always looked like a ticket in the Calcutta Sweepstakes. When he went into the woods on his drive, plopped his second shot into the creek and took seven putts on the green, he could always resort to one alibi—that new ball.

IN the past season this spared millions the ordeal of trying to discover what was wrong with their game. And now the U. S. G. A. has stepped in and snatched away the reed that comforted them in the storm.

This means that next season golf players will have to go back to blaming a bad shot on the condition of the fairway, the course architect or the greens committee.

The next ball to be tried by the golfing solons will be the same size as the present ball, but heavier. One of the most common complaints against the light ball was that it wouldn't carry through the foursome ahead with sufficient force to hurt anybody seriously.

SEA SILLINESS.

There once was a frolicsome porpoise
Whose weight in the hundreds was four plus;
Once he dove down so low
That his friends had to go
And release him by habeas corpus.

There once lived a bibulous clam
Whose personal life was a sham;
"I'm not wet," proclaimed he,
Cuz I'm anxious to be—
It's just that I don't give a damn!"

There once was a frivolous oyster,
His reception was such
That he liked it not much—
So he fled with a cry, "Ship a hoyster!"
